Dear Honorable Elected and Public Officials:

My name is Miriam Snyder. I write this letter on behalf of human life free from documented Executive Branch Serial Killer Boyden Gray and his retinue of satanists in high places, attached and below outlined, deadly regional infestations, harmonizations, master deception disguised killing operations, criminally defined as scientific obstructions that are designed to kill, have killed massively, and kill.

Foremost, to further affirm the reality of deadly Serial Killer Boyden Gray documented noxious scientific obstruction programs being criminally and deceptively inflicted in New York City, I respectfully request that each official browse the Bronx region, White plains Road Pelham Bay to 238th Street area, specifically paying attention to the manifestations of over 16 pharmaceutical companies and the closure of community based medical health centers.

For example, note the White plains Road Delaney Sisters Community Medical Center closure while two additional new pharmacies are being opened across the street from the closed medical center. While this makes no sense, the people are in an uproar, and is not healthy city planning, it is happening at the expense of the health and life of the people. This is called Executive Branch Serial Killer lawless usurpations and third party pitting against the people. This is Serial Killer Boyden Gray's deadly trend and his satanic retinue in high places doing and must be exposed and removed as such. There is no healthy, rational or Godly reason for the above.

The closing of the above mentioned one and only community medical center forces the community people to hospitals for basic care. Under Serial Killer Boyden Gray's lawless leadership, hospitals are used as his third party playground for inflicted nosocomial disguised killings. At minimum, this plan induces hospital visitations.

In fact, under Serial Killer Boyden Gray's name and keyword nosocomial search engine results the below bioengineered food agenda for NYC comes up. Bioengineered food is imitation dead food directly linked to induced ailments. Please see the attached documentation.

The regional harmonization pharmaceutical take overs, while closing community health centers and supermarkets must be rescinded on behalf of human life. There is no reason for 2 and 3 pharmacies on one block in targeted areas unless there is a premeditated induced ailment agenda for such, that needs to be exposed. The NYC regional pharmaceutical take over in effect, is ruthless, under estimates the intelligence of the people, is deadly, exemplifies the criminal use of money as defraud authority to subterfuge and advance the disguised regional killings of innocent people.

The regional pharmaceutical community take overs need to be investigated, rescinded, and publicized before innocent people are assaulted via deadly, regional, replicated, induced, human experimentation scientific obstruction inflictions, Serial Killer Boyden Gray's documented defraud inoculation programs, and Serial Killer Boyden Grays documented, inflicted, premeditated, pharmaceutical color coded medicinal errors. Please see the attached documentation of such.

Deadly harmonization inflicted induced ailments, disguised killing preparations and pharmaceutical takeovers are all deadly operations manifested and posted under Serial Killer Boyden Gray's name and use of money as authority to develop programs that effectuate the disguise mass killings of innocent people. See the attachments.

Above and beyond the above, I am submitting this comprehensive Serial Killer Boyden Gray criminal report to NYC Police Chief Kelly. I ask that copies be sought from the original I am sending his office, as the attachments are extensive. I am separating the direct, deliberate, and premeditated Serial Killer Boyden Gray third party injunction disguised killing of me via documented and ongoing inflicted fraud, organized crime, hate crime administration and financial instability. This will be discussed later.

The attached documents show that Serial Killer Boyden Gray has progressed from a hit man, to a serial killer and now a Mass Murderer Serial Killer Psychotic Specialist, because his killings, scientific obstructions, and other crimes have not been regulated and have been subterfuged under the disguise of money.

The induced disguised killings and death rates are exemplified in the programs and pharmacies, affiliated with his name, money, NIH and or legal representation, and executive branch grant monies. Serial Killer Boyden Gray sponsored third party deadly programs have left over 35 million people dead. Please see the attached documentation.

Serial Killer Boyden Gray is The Executive Branch Defraud Ambassador to Europe. His office is located in Washington D.C and he has several deadly NYC government infiltrations. He is President's Bush's former Defraud legal advisor. He is the mastermind sponsor for the obstruction of civil and human rights in the US Department of Justice. He is the former defraud Attorney for the CIA and FBI. Serial Killer Boyden Gray has easy access to the US Treasury and the machines that make the money. Please see the attached documentation.

Serial Killer Boyden Gray has a deadly conflict of interest dual life embedded in Scientific Obstructions. He is a satanist that comes from a satanist family. His father Gordon Gray was a MJ12 Majesty satanist who was a former defraud presidential advisor. His father, Gordon Gray formed and inflicted in government a deadly and satanic program called the Psychological Strategy Board. This program was formed, specifically, to inflict satanism, reversal of the norm, in government, under the disguise of psychological warfare.

Gordon Gray, Serial Killer Boyden Gray's father, while working as a presidential advisor, formed the Psychological Strategy Board which was an occult group utilizing the Satanic MJ 12 Majesty governance system. This satanic governance system was inflicted in the United States government and is premised off of hierarchal ordering.

The satanic MJ12 Majesty governance system is an inflicted master deception satanic governance system which mandates all to advance the retardation of law and order via hierarchal ordering. This satanic governance system is in existence today. It is inflicted in government today under the lawless executive branch affiliation of Serial Killer Boyden Gray and an unidentified satanic governance council with easy access to money and the money creation machines.

These satanists have used government to inflict satanism on Americans as a system of governance via satanic, hierarchal, ordering, mandating and instructing in exchange for income. This inflicted satanic governance system is the exact reason why many public protection offices have not and are not working yet. The satanists want the people in awe, not understanding what is going on. Satanism is a reversal of what is right and when it is inflicted from one of the highest levels of government, you have the mass killings, induced atrocities, and crimes attached.

Above all, they want the people to not understand that the authority was already won on the cross and is in the people via exposure and removal of the criminals from high places.

The Serial Killer Boyden Gray resurrected and imposed Psychological Operation programs are criminal and have manifested in every program Serial Killer Boyden Gray has worked in and with. Executive Branch Serial Killer Boyden Gray controls today's Psychological Operation, which are disguised satanic operations. The targeted areas are: The Military and Human Experimentation/Scientific Obstructions. Both program goals and results are to kill, devour and destroy.

Today's governmental psychological operations are nothing other than disguised satanic administrations that effectuate the killing of innocent people under master deception programming and manifestations of the programs. New York City is the targeted area for implementation, if the people do not use the lawful authority we have to stop this.

Defraud inoculation and Scientific Obstructions under the disguise of human research and or experimentation is pure inflicted sorcery and witchcraft in government by satanists in high places, specifically Serial Killer Boyden Gray and his unregulated monies. Please read about satanic ritual abuse. You will find that the below crimes that millions of Americans are defending themselves from are nothing other than satanic ritual abuse administration. Electronic shock/Electromagnetic weaponry, defraud neuroscience/ lethal mind control, acoustic weaponry, induced trauma, defraud sleep laboratory research/induced sleep deprivation, and organized stalking are each and all characteristics of satanic ritual abuse administration inflicted under the disguise of Serial Killer Boyden Gray Dad resurrected psychological warfare operations.

These are criminal, psychotic, satanic, hate crime administrations that kill people under multifaceted disguises. These crimes induce emergency room placements and hospitalizations under multifaceted disguises. These crimes are inflicted disguised killing operations on innocent Americans and no public protection government office has stopped this yet. Please note satan has no authority on earth unless he criminally usurps such from man. The satanists recognize this and have and are using money to usurp man's authority, so they can kill, devour and destroy under multifaceted disguises. The ultimate goal is for pure anarchy so satan can rule. This is an appeal for every instrument created by almighty God, to utilize the authority to remove this criminal from government before it is too late. Serial Killer Boyden Gray has done more killings and damage universally than any other demon in history. It is time that his crimes are executed off of this earth.

Despite the above Serial Killer Boyden Gray sponsored criminal induced ailment programs, his criminal obsession is defraud inoculation. The above induced crimes are inflicted to get victims in the hospital, particularly emergency room set up hospitals, for a defraud inoculation because this practiced inflicted atrocity has produced excellent disguised killing results, as exemplified in Boyden Gray's Africa Harmonization programs.

The University of Rochester Medical Center was Serial Killer Boyden Gray's training zone. In 1994, Serial Killer and Sponsor Boyden Gray's above criminal programs were inflicted on me, but God rescued me right before the induced emergency room hospitalization. I am probably the only survivor because the above induced ailment criminal programs are criminally expert, well financed, and deadly.

Only God can rescue one from such. Boyden Gray is and has been outraged at God's rescue and has resurrected some of the above crimes in my life and has continued the disguised attempted killing of me via continuous, relentless stalkings, inflicted, and multiple lawless income executions, inflicted fraud in every financial transaction I have and had, gross aggravated harassment, inflicted financial ruin and oppression, repeated and ongoing money bought third party enjoinders and hate crime administrations.

These crimes continue up to today. My right to earn an income has been criminally obstructed, despite post graduate work, licenses in education administration and bilingual education. I have exemplary work commendations and accomplishments. Yet, I have been made unable to eat, to feed myself because this psychotic disguised killing has been prioritized. This satanic hate administration must be eradicated as it has no lawful purpose.

I have appealed to every authority imaginable for protection, intervention and an end to these deadly organized crimes that have left millions of people dead under multifaceted disguises. I have documented and reported these crimes primarily since 2003, since discovering the attached name aligning above mentioned scientific obstructions.

I am under a disguised killing operation and entitled lawful protections have not been enforced yet. There is no Godly, lawful and or rational reason why anyone should be forced to live daily knowing a documented, psychopath, satanist, and his retinue with unregulated monies is trying to kill her, has killed, and hires third party entities to kill for them.

Please note the crimes inflicted directly on me were submitted as a criminal complaint to the NYS Crime Victim's Board in Albany New York certified receipt number 70071490 0003 6671 3055. and to NYC Police Chief Kelly's office certified mail December 14, 2007 certified number 7007 1490 0003 6671 3918. Please read the bounded criminal complaint with the evidence attached.

However, the purpose of this additional complaint against Serial Killer Boyden Gray and his retinue is to provide the NYC Police Chief Kelly's office with the needed public record hard copies verifying Serial Killer Boyden Gray regional harmonization, infestations, induced cancer, and other deadly pathogen infiltrations, affiliations and programs on behalf of stopping the above mentioned easily visible regional harmonization initiation via regional closing community health centers, closing supermarkets, and opening pharmacies on every corner of selective neighborhoods.

This deadly plan is no coincidence there is a criminal and psychotic agenda to kill and induce sickness regionally in NYC. Serial Killer and Boyden Gray are counting we the people not noticing this and consequently acquiescing to these induced disguised killings by default, negligence and not using the authority we have over these satanic forces by unifying.

Foremost, the pharmaceutical contracts must be reviewed and rescinded. Upon unraveling the pharmaceutical contracts, these contracts will show Serial Killer Boyden Gray stem via law departments and bank takeovers. Legal fraud, intimidation, and unregulated banking/money is being used to shut down medical centers, grocery stores, health food stores and supermarkets in exchange for pharmaceutical placements. This is a bonafide disguised induced killing operation that roots from Serial Killer Boyden Gray and others using human experimentation defraud authority to induce sickness. The pharmaceutical multitude regional developments are aligned with the above operation.

This is why House Resolution 1585, before finalized, was listed as Federal Legislation on Human Research Protections and section 1622, unidentified governance council were submitted and passed in congress. They are counting on the American people and particularly our leaders to be sleep. HR 1585 defraud legislation and US Code 1520 are readily available to be used as defraud authority to activate the need for the multitudes of pharmacies in targeted regions via the use of human research obstructions as experiments. Human Research Defraud legislation creates defraud authority to inflict human obstructions as experiments that activates the need for the manifested readily awaiting multitudes of pharmacies.

Please see the attached letters addressing this disguised killing plausible deniability plan via HR 1622 the unidentified council of governors.

The regional pharmaceutical targeted multitude placements are in place for deadly satanically masterminded induced sickness and atrocity reasons. I urge all leadership to please take the eyeball evidence serious, as Serial Killer Boyden Gray has successfully disguised the killing of over 35 million people via third party enjoins and NYC is his next region.

I respectfully request all leaders to investigate the attached Serial Killer Boyden Gray's NYS Induced Seizure programs, defraud inoculation senior citizen program, NYC Radiation Oxidation programs and the attached Serial Killer Boyden Gray Africa and Europe, to NYC Bioengineered food programs.

Additionally, please investigate the deadly pathogen rates in targeted communities, inflicted on teenagers, just like the attached documented information verifies such happening in Africa. This article is listed under Jonathan Lippman's name as Force For Change. As stated, this deadly operation changed the whole continent, targeting young people via defraud inoculation.

Serial killer Boyden Gray's defraud inoculation and unregulated money is evidenced in the selected community deadly pathogen rates. The defraud inoculation rates are all disguised under the definition of plausible deniability. However, the sponsor of the operation is Serial Killer Boyden Gray. Please see the attached documentation.

The evidence shows that the deadly viruses created under Serial Killer Boyden Gray's lawless money in the University of Rochester Medical Center, left the medical center, reached Africa and is now epidemic in NYC. See the attached Serial Killer Boyden Gray attached deadly pathogen creation, infiltration, and replication fetish program out of the University of Rochester Medical Center.

How did this university's created deadly viruses leave the university and end up in the bodies of people living in harmonized regions while Serial Killer Boyden Gray has a documented obsession with defraud inoculations. See the attached recent White house Pandemic Mass Defraud Inoculation agenda attachments.

Serial Killer Boyden Gray harmonized the African Region via defraud inoculation vaccinations. Thereafter, via media silencing and killing off several scientists and other whistleblowers, the public was duped into believing that over 13 million innocent people were killed via a virus that was deliberately created in the Serial Killer Boyden Gray's documented home of scientific obstruction, the University of Rochester Medical Center.

Consequently, since this public duping worked so well, Serial Killer Boyden Gray has expanded his disguised killing operations and death traps. He has brought a multitude of satanic disguised killing operations here to the United States because his disguised killings were never regulated. This is exemplified in the deadly pathogen rates in targeted communities advertised everywhere. Consistent to what serial killers do, he posts his disguised killing projects in the media and on the internet as grand projects. He has no conscience because his crimes were never executed.

Based on researching Serial Killer Boyden Gray's disguised killing operations, the NYC inflicted deadly pathogen young people epidemic occurred simply. Foremost, in my web site you will see that Boyden Gray has a multitude of professional, mainly medical consultant recruitment groups. A targeted school or region is selected for defraud mandatory vaccinations.

A grant erupts for the targeted vaccination program. New people are hired with this masterminded grant. To keep the conspiracy going, medical consultants are hired to vaccinate. Better yet, no one knows what is in the vaccine because they came from a laboratory good Americans believe in, while the above web site documentation shows Serial Killer Boyden Gray newly erupted deadly viral laboratory creations across the nation.

Serial Killer Boyden Gray hires a couple of money hungry one shot deal, $100,000 deal doctorial consultants. Their specific job is to defraud inoculate 50, 100, etc targeted teenagers, immediately thereafter, you have the results you have in NYC, just like Serial Killer Boyden Gray did in Africa. Vaccinations were escalated and mandated in schools and so has the deadly viral infection. Serial Killer Boyden Gray uses substitute doctors, consultant doctors, and other frauds as his third party disguised killing enjoinments, just like he used money and political corruption, in every aspect of my life to try to destroy me under disguise.

Human Protection laws should be drafted and enforced regarding substitute doctor and consultant inoculations. The multitude of pharmaceutical developments in targeted communities works compatibly and is aligned with defraud inoculation ramifications, as well as inflicted scientific obstructions disguised as human experimentation. Serial Killer Boyden Gray has multifaceted disguised killing programs that work because money is used as authority, when it is not.

The multitudes of pharmacies have their place in Serial Killer Boyden Gray money bought deadly manifestations. One substitute pharmacist can inflict color coding errors and a whole region can be killed via medical error medicine. See the attached Serial Killer Boyden Gray 27,000 Vioxx disguised killings via medical errors. Please note Boyden Gray affiliation via pharmaceutical law departments. This affiliation is planted there to deny each victim entitled rights via using the courts as a legal circus, just like he did in the attached world bank case and like he has done to me in every court case I have had to file because of Serial Killer Boyden Gray's revenge for God's grace and mercy rescue.

Finally, for all those that are God blessed with leadership positions, but believe their status, ethnicity, or whatever exempts them from these documented diabolical manifested operations, Serial Killer Boyden Gray has a lovely personal injury induced hospitalization defraud inoculation waiting for you. Please do not fool yourself. Please see the Serial Killer Boyden Gray killing of an innocent Connecticut police officer because he wanted to create a vacancy for the NYS Chief Justice Second Circuit Court of Appeals.

The police officer was hit by old man Chief Justice Walker. Serial Killer Boyden Gray and others wanted him to resign so a presidential appointment could be made. The accident report says the Chief Justice was driving slow and hit the police officer. Yet, the police officer was killed in the hospital, despite a slow driving hit. Serial Killer Boyden Gray's personal injury hits, landing victims in the hospital via emergency room contacts, kills effectively under disguise. See the attached induced vacancy and police killing report.

The disguised killings, regional African harmonizations were simply human experimentations to see just how much God loving people care about one another. Since, Americans did not make an uproar and the disguised regional harmonizations were never regulated, the demon has diversified and expanded his disguised killing operations. Currently, Serial Killer Boyden Gray is still allowed to disguise kill via third party enjoiments via his computer because everything is set in place, the stolen unregulated budget he still has access to and he has not been arrested.

THIS EXHIBIT IS MY LETTER TO CONGRESS ADDRESSING THE BELOW SERIAL KILLER BOYDEN GRAY PLAUSIBLE DENIABILITY UNIDENTIFIED COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS RESPONSE TO MY LETTER RELATED TO DEFRAUD LEGISLATION HR 1585 AND SECTION 1622. PLEASE NOTE THE SAME WAY A MS. GREY FICTION WAS INCORPORATED IN THE NYS HEALTH DEPARTMENT IS THE SAME WAY A FICTION IS BEING USED AS LEGAL COUNSEL IN CONGRESS SO SERIAL KILLER MULTIPLE PERSONALITY BOYDEN GRAY CAN CONTROL CONGRESS. NO ONE WROTE THE BELOW IN THE LEGISLATION OTHER THAN BOYDEN GRAY. I HAVE STUDIED HIS FRAUD AND FICTIONS FOR TOO LONG. THE QUESTION IS WHO IS THE CONGRESSIONAL LAWYER WHO ADDED THE BELOW COMMENT INTO CONGRESSIONAL LEGISLATION. IT IS BOYDEN GRAY. HE IS AN INSANE CONTROL DEMON. SERIAL KILLER BOYDEN GRAY IS CONTROLLING CONGRESS IN THE SAME MANNER HE ATTEMPTED TO CONTROL THE NYS HEALTH DEPARTMENT. IT IS CALLED FICTIONAL ADMINISTRATION. IT WORKS BECAUSE NO ONE IS CHECKING FINGER PRINTS. BOYDEN GRAY IS ACTING AS THE CHIEF COUNSELIR FOR CONGRESS AND WROTE THE BELOW.:

The bill does not include a provision relating to hate crimes, which could have prevented its passage. The bill does incorporate the Wounded Warrior Act, which provides for improved care for wounded soldiers.

ANOTHER MASTER DECPTION BOYDEN GRAY DOES IN HIS FICTIONAL CONTROL POSITIONS, IS TAKE THE ABOVE WOUNDED SOLDIER UNDERLINED SENTENCE/LEGISLATION. WHEN THE LEGISLATION IS WRITTEN IN THE BOOKS, HE SLIPS IN THE WORD NOT AFTER DOES. THEREAFTER, THE DEADLY GAME OF CAN YOU PROVE THAT LEGISLATION WAS EVER PASSED FOR IMPROVED CARE FOR WOUNDED SOLDIERS IS ENFORCED. THIS IS WHAT DEFRAUD AUTHORITY DOES. THIS IS CALLED ANOTHER BOYDEN GRAY MASTER DECEPTION. THIS IS WHAT SATANISTS SPECIALIZE IN AND IT IS NOT THEIR FAULT THAT AMERICANS, PARTICLARLY LEADERSHIP, IS NOT AWARE OF TRICKS OF THE DEVIL! TAKE BIBLE

CLASSES, DEVELOP AN UNDERSTANDING OF SPIRITUAL WARFARE OR THESE SATANIST WILL CONTINUE TO RAP ROPES AROUND GOVERNMENT AND OUR LEADERS. SERIAL KILLER BOYDEN GRAY'S KILLING SPREES, CRIMES, INFLICTED ATROCITIES, FICTIONAL ADMINISTRATIONS, ARE EMBEDDED ON SOME BASIC SATANIC PRINCIPLES THAT WORK. THEY ARE: MASTER DECEPTIONS, DEFRAUD AUTHORITY, MAN'S GREED , LAWLESS USURPATIONS, AND ILLUSIONS. THAT IS IT. WITH THESE SATANIC STRATEGEMS ANY ONE COULD BE FOOLED INTO BELIEVING THAT THEY COULD TAKE OVER THE WORLD. BUT, REMEMBER THESE ARE MASTER DECEPTIONS, SO THE SATANISTS WERE DECEIVED TOO, BY THEIR VERY OWN BOSS SATAN! BECAUSE SERIAL KILLER BOYDEN GRAY AND EVERY ONE OF HIS RETINUE OF DEMONS ARE COMING DOWN! POLICE CHIEF KELLY'S OFFICE CAN ADVANCE THIS REALITY WITH PRAYER,, BIBLE STUDY, AND DOING THE JOB GOD PUT HIM/THEM IN THE POSITION TO DO. THEY ARE NATIONAL PUBLIC SAFETY OBSTRUCTIONS, NOT THREATS, OBSTRUCTIONS. EACH ONE INVOLVED NEEDS TO DEVELOP A CONSCIOUS IN JAIL AND THERAFTER BE DEALT WITH.

I AM BEING HARASSED. MY PHONE, FAX, AND INTERNET HAS BEEN MALICIOUSLY, HARRASSINGLY, VINDICTIVELY SHUT OFF BY CABLEVISION. THEREAFTER VERIZON REFUSED TO PROVIDE SERVICE. SEE THE FAXED IN ATTACHED LETTERS. I AM BEING CRIMINALLY SET UP TO NOT COMMUNICATE THESE DOCUMENTED AND DEADLY CRIMES. IF SERIAL KILLER BOYDEN GRAY IS SO AFRAID OF THE EXPOSURE OF THE CRIMES WHY DID HE COMMIT THEM AND CONTINUE TO COMMIT THEM. WHY NOT BE PROUD OF HIS ACCOMPLISHMENTS. THIS POWER CONTROL INSANE KILLER IS SICK AND DEMON POSSESSED.

HOWEVER, I WILL DO WHAT IS RIGHT AND PRAY FOR HIM BECAUSE HE KNOWS HIS DECEPTIVE FIESTA IS OVER! THERE IS NO OTHER REASON TO CONTINUOUSLY INFLICT AND ESCALATE THESE CRIMES, ENJOINMENTS, AND ISOLATIONS. WHY COULD HE JUST NOT LEAVE ME ALONE AND LET ME WORK, EARN MY INCOME, AND LEAVE ME ALONE. MAYBE HE NEEDED SOMONE TO PRAY FOR HIM. HIS FAMILY DID NOT. THAT IS EXACTLY WHAT I AM GOING TO DO BECAUSE OBVIOUSLY HE AND THE WORLD HAVE BEEN FOOLED. THEY FOLLOW HIM.

I PRAY THAT ALMIGHTY GOD GIVES HIM A HEART AND A CONSCIENCE, BECAUSE WHAT HE HAS DONE EXEMPLIFIES SOME MISSING PARTS. MONEY CAN NOT BUY PEACE. HE HAS NONE. HE IS PROBABLY, PLOTTING AND PLANNING AGAIN HOW TO DECEPTIVELY FINISH ME OFF, BUT I AM GOING TO CONTINUE PRAYING FOR HIM BECAUSE IN ALMIGHTY GOD'S TIME, HE WILL SEE THAT SATAN DECEIVED HIM, JUST LIKE HE USED MONEY TO DECEIVE THE WORLD.

WHILE HE TRIES TO HURT ME, I AM PUTTING HIM IN PRAYER WHERE HE BELONGS. I THANK GOD FOR GOD'S GRACE AND MERCY. I KNOW NO OTHER WAY TO DEAL WITH THIS. I NEED AN INCOME, PHONE, FAX AND INTERNET, BUT BECAUSE THIS DEMON IS PETRIFIED OF ME, WHAT I KNOW, MY WRITING, HE WANTS ME SILENCED. WHY DOES HE NOT CONFESS AND STOP THE CRIMES?

HISTORY

The Sterilization League of America and Boyden Gray's Grandfather

http://www.democraticunderground.com/discuss/duboard.php?az=show_mesg&forum=104&topic_id=3312956&mesg_id=3314455

These activities might be expected to cause serious objections from the victimized nationalities, or from U.S. taxpayers, especially if the program is somehow given widespread publicity. Quite aside from moral considerations, legal questions would naturally arise, which could be summed up: How does George Bush think he can get away with this? In this matter the President has expert advice. Mr. (Clayland) Boyden Gray has been counsel to George Bush since the 1980 election. As chief legal officer in the White House, Boyden Gray can walk the President through the dangers and complexities of waging such unusual warfare against Third World populations. Gray knows how these things are done.

When Boyden Gray was four and five years old, his father organized the pilot project for the present worldwide sterilization program, from the Gray family household in North Carolina. It started in 1946. The eugenics movement was looking for a way to begin again in America. Nazi death camps such as Auschwitz had just then seared the conscience of the world. The Sterilization League of America, which had changed its name during the war to “ Birthright, Inc., ” wanted to start up again. First they had to overcome public nervousness about crackpots proposing to eliminate “ inferior ” and “ defective ”

people. The League tried to surface in Iowa, but had to back off because of negative publicity: A little boy had recently been sterilized there and had died from the operation.

They decided on North Carolina, where the Gray family could play the perfect host. Through British imperial contacts, Boyden Gray's grandfather, Bowman Gray, had become principal owner of the R.J.

Reynolds Tobacco Co. Boyden's father, Gordon Gray, had recently founded the Bowman Gray (memorial) Medical School in Winston-Salem, using his inherited cigarette stock shares. The medical school was already a eugenics center.

As the experiment began, Gordon Gray's great aunt, Alice Shelton Gray, who had raised him from childhood, was living in his household. Aunt Alice had founded the “ Human Betterment League, ” the North Carolina branch of the national eugenical sterilization movement. Aunt Alice was the official supervisor of the 1946-47 experiment.

Working under Miss Gray was Dr. Claude Nash Herndon, whom Gordon Gray had made assistant professor of “ medical genetics ” at Bowman Gray Medical School. Dr. Clarence Gamble, heir to the Proctor and Gamble soap fortune, was the sterilizers' national field operations chief. The experiment worked as follows. All children enrolled in the school district of Winston-Salem, N.C., were given a special “ intelligence test. ” Those children who scored below a certain arbitrary low mark were then cut open and surgically sterilized.

In Winston-Salem and in Orange County, North Carolina, the field committee had participated in testing projects to identify school age children who should be considered for sterilization. The project in Orange County was conducted by the University of North Carolina and was financed by a 'Mr. Hanes,' a friend of Clarence Gamble and supporter of the field work project in North Carolina. The Winston-Salem project was also financed by Hanes.

Hanes " was underwear mogul James Gordon Hanes, a trustee of Bowman Gray Medical School and treasurer of Alice Gray's group...

The first step after giving the mental tests to grade school children was to interpret and make public the results. In Orange County the results indicated that three percent of the school age children were either insane or feebleminded.... the field committee hired a social worker to review each case ... and to present any cases in which sterilization was indicated to the State Eugenics

Board, which under North Carolina law had the authority to order sterilization....

SNYDER NOTES:

ANYONE WHO KNOWS AND OR READS ABOUT THIS SATANIC OPERATION EMBEDDED ON MASTER DECEPTIONS, OVERSTANDS THAT THE TARGETED CHILDREN FOR STERILIZATION WERE THE MOST BRILLIANT CHILDREN.

THIS IS WHY ADAM URBANSKI, WORKS AS A DEFRAUD NYS ROCHESTER TEACHER UNION PRESIDENT. HE IS THERE SPECIFICALLY TO MONITOR THE CHILDREN'S TEST SCORES AND TO THEREAFTER ORDER THE DEFRAUD INOCULATIONS TO INFECT AND OBSTRUCT THE GOD GIVEN INTELLIGENCE. IN ADDITION, THE CHILDREN'S INNOCENT BLOOD IS NEEDED FOR THEIR SATANIC RITUAL ABUSE SERVICES! SHAME THE DEVIL AND TEL THE TRUTH!

THIS IS WHY THEY KILLED SANDRA FELDMAN, FORMER PRESIDENT OF THE AMERICAN FEDERATION OF TEACHERS ASSOCIATION. ADAM URBANSKI NEEDED HER POSITION TO ACCESS ALL OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE'S CHILDREN'S TEST SCORES.

THIS IS BONAFIDE AND DOCUMENTED SATANIC ADMINISTRATION AND THE DEMONS HAVE BEEN DECEIVED BECAUSE THEY BARGAINED WITH THE MASTER DECEIVER FOR POWER AND CONTROL! SATAN! THEY HAVE BEEN DECEIVED.

GOD IS A GOD WHO CAN NOT LIE! THEIR DEMONIC RULERSHIP IS OVER!

Merck shares sink after data show increased AIDS infection in patients who took vaccine

updated 5:28 p.m. ET, Wed., Nov. 7, 2007

WASHINGTON - Shares of Merck & Co. Inc. sank Wednesday after the drug maker revealed patients treated with its experimental AIDS vaccine were actually more likely to become infected with the virus.

The Whitehouse Station, N.J.-based company abandoned work on the vaccine in September, but new data from the company raised concerns in the medical community over higher rates of infection among volunteers who received the vaccine.

Company researchers said it could be years before they have enough data to explain the higher infection rates among vaccine patients.

A researcher from the National Institutes of Health said Wednesday the alarming results could have been due to coincidence or an unknown factor among study volunteers.

Merck's prospective treatment was widely considered the most promising AIDS vaccine, before it failed in a large-scale study in the fall.

Shares of Merck & Co. Inc. fell $1.79, or 3.2 percent, to close at $54.20 Wednesday in late trading.

Risk of recurrent seizures after a primary human herpesvirus 6-

THEY INDUCE SEIZURE IN THE CHILDREN, TO GET A RECURRENT EFFECT!

Original Studies

Pediatric Infectious Disease Journal. 17(1):43-48, January 1998.

JEE, SANDRA H. BA; LONG, CHRISTINE E. MPH; SCHNABEL, KENNETH C. MBA; SEHGAL, NEERU MD; EPSTEIN, LEON G. MD; HALL, CAROLINE BREESE MD

Abstract:

Objective. To test the hypothesis that children experiencing first febrile seizures caused by human herpesvirus 6 (HHV-6) have an increased risk for recurrent seizures when compared with children experiencing first febrile seizures attributed to other illnesses.

Design and participants. Descriptive prospective study of 36 HHV-6 culture-positive children and a matched subgroup of 86 HHV-6 culture-negative children, all of whom had their first febrile seizures evaluated in a tertiary care emergency department and were followed for at least 12 months, with an average follow-up of 35.7 months.

Primary outcome measure. The recurrence of seizures among HHV-6 culture-positive and HHV-6 culture-negative children with no known previous neurologic deficits.

Results. A decreased incidence of recurrent seizures occurred in children whose first febrile seizures were caused by HHV-6. Twenty percent of HHV-6 culture-positive children and 40% of HHV-6 culture-negative children ($P < 0.038$) experienced a recurrent seizure within 1 year of their first febrile seizure. The mean time to recurrence within 12 months was 8.6 months for children with HHV-6 infection and 3.8 months ($P < 0.001$) for children without HHV-6 infection. Most recurrent seizures occurred within 12 months of a first febrile seizure for both HHV-6-positive and HHV-6-negative children (88 and 91%).

Conclusions. Children who had their first febrile seizures caused by primary HHV-6 infection did not demonstrate an increased risk for recurrent seizures when compared with children whose first febrile seizures were from other etiologies.

ALLIANCE FOR HUMAN RESEARCH PROTECTION

Promoting Openness, Full Disclosure, and Accountability

<http://www.ahrp.org> <<http://www.ahrp.org/>> and <http://ahrp.blogspot.com>

FYI

An ongoing investigation by the Vera Institute of Justice, has uncovered 59 additional New York City foster care children--between July and September--who may have been used in AIDS drug / vaccine trials in violation of federal regulations. This brings the tentative total number of mostly minority children involved, to 773.

These children were enrolled in the risky experimental trials in violation of federal regulations. They were used as experimental subjects without legal informed consent and without an independent advocate authorized to serve the children's best interest. The Vera Institute investigation is charged with finding out not only how many children were involved in the experiments and to ascertain what happened to those children.

The investigation by the Vera Institute follows an investigation by the federal Office of Human Research Protections which was initiated by a complaint filed by The Alliance for Human Research Protection March 10, 2004: <http://www.ahrp.org/cms/content/view/255/142/>

The investigation, however, is being hampered by administrators of Columbia Presbyterian hospital, which had a major involvement in the experimental drug and vaccine trials. Despite repeated requests by the Vera Institute, Columbia administrators have thus far refused to provide access to the medical records of the foster care children who were enrolled in the trials. This is a demonstration of abuse of power by medical institutions that hugely benefit from taxpayer support.

In February, 2006, OHRP found Columbia University Medical Center (CUMC) New York /Presbyterian Hospital in non-compliance with federal research protection regulations. See OHRP letter at: http://www.hhs.gov/ohrp/detrm_lettrs/YR06/feb06a.pdf

NEW YORK POST
MORE HIV 'GUINEA PIG' KIDS
By DAVID SEIFMAN
December 29, 2007 --

The number of HIV-infected foster kids under the city's care who may have been steered into experimental drug trials in the 1990s has grown to 773, a report says.

The Vera Institute of Justice, which is probing the clinical trials, says 59 potential cases were added between July and September in response to data found in old case files. When the review began in 2005, the caseload was estimated at 465.

The Administration for Children's Services hired Vera in response to 2004 Post articles exposing the practice in 2004. Public Advocate Betsy Gotbaum, who's called for independent oversight over ACS, says the new numbers prove her point.

Vera is preparing a report on whether proper enrolling and monitoring procedures were followed.

C. Boyden Gray, U.S. Ambassador to the EU

Clayland Boyden Gray, born February 6, 1943, is the United States Ambassador to the European Union. He took that post on January 17, 2006, when President George W. Bush granted him a recess appointment to the post.^[1] Prior to that, he was a partner with the law firm Wilmer Cutler Pickering Hale and Dorr. He served as White House Counsel to President George H. W. Bush. He is also a member of the Federalist Society.^[2]

Clayland Boyden Gray was the third of four sons born to Gordon Gray and Jane Boyden Craige. His cousin, Lyons Gray, is the chief financial officer of the Environmental Protection Agency. He has one daughter named Eliza and a pig named Penelope.

Gene delivery successfully used to induce intestinal cells in mice to produce insulin

What's remarkable about the work is that the production of insulin occurs at precisely the moment it's needed to manage blood sugar levels

Timothy Kieffer (Medicine and Physiology), right, and co-researcher Anthony Cheung

A team of University of Alberta researchers has successfully engineered gastrointestinal cells of mice to produce insulin—in effect, imitating the role of the pancreas.

What's remarkable about the work is that the production of insulin occurs at precisely the moment it's needed to manage blood sugar levels—a hurdle that gene-therapy researchers around the world have been trying to solve for many years.

"We've identified a suitable beta cell surrogate that stores and releases a hormone immediately following a meal," principal researcher Timothy Kieffer (Medicine and Physiology) says. "These cells are located in the stomach and upper intestine and secrete the hormone GIP. The amount of GIP released depends primarily on the quantity of glucose in the meal."

Insulin is normally released by pancreatic beta cells immediately following a meal to move sugar from the blood into the tissues where it is needed. The absence of sufficient insulin production results in diabetes and often the requirement for frequent insulin injections and blood sugar testing.

The researchers have been able to induce these gastrointestinal cells of mice to produce human insulin in such a fashion that they maintain normal blood sugar levels, in the absence of most of their pancreatic beta cells. "Other researchers have targeted different tissues in the body for insulin replacement with varying degrees of success," explains co-researcher Anthony Cheung. "Insulin-producing pancreatic beta cells, missing in diabetics, are remarkably complex and difficult to duplicate. These cells store large quantities of insulin and release it almost immediately after a meal. Engineering other cells to behave like these beta cells is proving to be extremely difficult."

To address this problem, the University of Alberta team has induced a specific population of meal-responsive cells in the gut to automatically produce insulin upon eating.

"Our experiments have proven that GIP cells already have the necessary machinery to make insulin and store it, ready to be released upon consumption of a meal," explains Dr. Kieffer. "Essentially, we are inducing another cell in the body to take over production of insulin—the key is that we have selected a cell that nature has already designed to be meal responsive. In humans, the circulating profiles of GIP and insulin can be virtually superimposed—both increasing immediately following a meal."

Therefore, if we can induce these gastrointestinal cells to produce insulin, as we have in mice, it may be able to compensate for the absence of pancreatic beta cells in patients with diabetes and thereby eliminate the need for insulin injections."

The researchers however, are cautious about touting the technology as an eventual cure for diabetes in people. "There's still a lot of work to do," says Dr. Kieffer, but we think we're definitely on the right track with the use of meal-responsive endocrine cells. With this exciting proof-of-concept study, we are encouraged to develop a suitable delivery system to target this population of cells in humans".

The University of Alberta team is funded by the Alberta Heritage Foundation for Medical Research, the Canadian Institutes of Health Research, the Canadian Diabetes Association, and the Juvenile Diabetes Foundation.

The researchers' work is published in the December 8 edition of Science, one of the world's top research journals. Along with Drs. Cheung and Kieffer, two members of the U of A's now famous islet cell transplantation team, Drs. Gregory Korbitt and Raymond Rajotte, are co-authors. Other co-authors include Rama Dayanandan, Jamie Lewis (both at the University of Alberta), Dr. Michael Bryer-Ash (University of Tennessee), and Drs. Michael Boylan and Michael Wolfe (Boston Medical Center).

with state-of-the-art equipment

CFI, AHFMR and U of A combine forces to

40 percent of the money will come from Canada Foundation for Innovation

Viruses are sneaky, says Dr. Michele Barry, an assistant professor in the Department of Medical Microbiology and Immunology. Consider, for example, that some viruses actually produce "decoy" proteins that fool the immune system into believing that everything's just fine. No need to respond, sit back, relax. Meantime, the virus is busy infecting cells...and making us sick. Dr. Barry and colleague, Dr. Deborah Burshtyn, also an assistant professor in the Department of Medical Microbiology and Immunology, have been given new tools that will dramatically accelerate their work in understanding how viruses resort to their biological trickery and how they play their nasty games with our immune system. The researchers have been awarded $356,820 to construct a virus production laboratory. Forty percent of the money will come from the Federal Canada Foundation for Innovation, $226,770 from the Alberta Heritage Foundation for Medical Research and $17,000 from the University. (The CFI provides up to 40 percent of the costs of new equipment.) The state-of-the art tools include a giant incubator with a roller apparatus, an ultra centrifuge capable of very high speeds and a plate reader capable of doing non-radioactive analyses of assays, all of which will help researchers generate data more quickly and efficiently. "Both of our fields are extremely competitive, so being able to do things more quickly is a big advantage," explains Dr. Barry. Both say the equipment gives them the ability to focus more heavily on conducting experiments—the nuts and bolts of discovery—than on the perfunctory preparation/lab work. Drs. Barry and Burshtyn are taking two different- yet complementary-approaches to understanding the host-pathogen interaction using the same family of viruses. Dr. Burshtyn is interested in understanding how killer cells function within the immune system. She's focusing on a specific receptor involved in recognizing virus infected cells. Dr. Barry is interested in how viruses manipulate the killing response in order to ensure their own survival- or in other words, understanding how they fight back. The more you can learn about viruses, the more you learn about the immune system, Dr. Barry points out. The new lab, located on the sixth floor of the Heritage Building, is also expected to be used by other researchers: Drs. Chris

relative newcomers to the U of A, say the facility will also help them attract postdoctoral fellows to the U of A. The CFI new opportunities fund is helping Canadian researchers stay in the forefront of their fields with state-of-the art tools. What's particularly advantageous for

Alberta's around the world.researchers is the contributions AFHMR are making to match

CFI funding, explains Dr. Barry. It means relatively young, new researchers can remain competitive with the more established labs

Racial and Ethnic Adult Disparities in Immunization Initiative (READII)

BACKGROUND

About 7,000 African American seniors live in Monroe County, most in the city of Rochester. Despite several community interventions to increase adult immunizations, large disparities persist between blacks and whites. In 2001 71% of whites aged 65 years and over got influenza vaccine compared to 39% of blacks and 75% of whites versus 42% of blacks received pneumococcal vaccine. Racial and Ethnic Adult Disparities in Immunization Initiative (READII) involved office-based strategies to improve immunization rates among blacks, as well as culturally appropriate community education and outreach. The initial READII Rochester project ran from October 2002 through January 2005.

OBJECTIVES

METHOD

A Community Advisory Board (CAB) led the READII project and was responsible for designing and implementing a Community Action Plan. The CAB included representation from community based organizations and health care providers serving the inner city, a coalition of immunization service providers, and insurers, all of whom committed to improving adult vaccinations and eliminating disparities.

Using a 2-tiered approach, the Rochester READII project included:

- ◆ A Primary Care Practice Intervention (PCPI) to translate proven office-based strategies (patient and provider prompts, reminder/recall and outreach) to community practices that serve African American seniors.

A Community Action plan providing education and outreach through community based organizations, the faith community, and a targeted media campaign. Staff from community organizations were trained to provide culturally appropriate adult immunization education and include vaccine information in their usual outreach.

The PCPI, the cornerstone of READII Rochester, was modeled on findings from best practices identified in a randomized, controlled trial to measure the impact of immunization coverage and utilization of other preventive services of 2 interventions designed to improve immunization coverage (Rodewald et al Pediatrics 1999; 103:31-8 and Szilagyi et al: Pediatrics 2002; 110 (5):e58) which eliminated racial and ethnic disparities in childhood immunizations. The key elements were those office-based strategies proven to have the greatest effect in improving immunizations: Tracking immunizations, patient and provider Reminders, and patient Recall and Outreach (TRO). Patients (n=4299) were randomized within each practice to intervention and control groups in order to evaluate the effectiveness of the intervention in adults.

Seven urban health centers and hospital-based clinics in 8 locations participated. Four trained outreach workers, supervised by a senior social worker, were assigned to 2 or more practice settings where they used medical records to determine patients' immunization status, and followed up with reminder letters, phone calls, and transportation assistance for people behind in influenza and pneumococcal vaccinations. Reminders to providers were placed in patient charts. Outreach workers tracked patients' immunizations in a computerized database through which changes in rates were measured along with the amount of effort needed to effect

2005 Excellence in Immunization Award Recipient

Addressing change in vaccine status. Practices received summary results from the project at the end of each influenza season.

RESULTS

Patients receiving the intervention were 10 times more likely to get pneumococcal vaccinations and 5 times more likely to get flu vaccine than those in the control group. By the end of the second year of the project, during which all patients got the TRO intervention, disparities were eliminated between black and white seniors, 79% of whom had pneumococcal vaccine. Analyses of final results for influenza vaccine in 2004-2005 and for cost effectiveness of the project are in progress.

ILL KILLER OF THE CENTURY!

December 31, 2007

Mr. Mike Oleavitt,
Secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.
The U.S. Department of Health and Human Services 200 Independence Avenue, S.W.
Washington, D.C. 20201

Dear Honorable Mr. Oleavitt:

My name is Miriam Snyder. I have learned that you are the 20th secretary of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services. Congratulations! I write you for several alarming reasons. Foremost, I urge your office to investigate a character named Boyden Gray. He is a sick multiple personality demon possessed former hit man and now serial killer. He has several deadly operations and imposture positions. One is as a defraud attorney. At present, he is orchestrating fraud and a circus in the Nigerian courts to deny justice to the parents and family of innocent children that were killed from his patterned medical error and defraud inoculation manifestations.

He also impostures as a scientist. He has opened several defraud medical programs with the deliberate intent, manifestation, and organization to defraud vaccinate and inoculate targeted populations, including judges, lawyers, doctors, vulnerable populations and others. Please see my web site and the attachments.

I have studied his killing patterns for years. He has progressed from a hit man to a serial killer. He is using Blackwater USA to train and develop other serial killers. In 1994 God rescued me from one of his killing operations. Since then he has utilized several deadly stratagems to have me killed under disguised. He specializes in killing under the disguise of defraud inoculation. For the last 15 years, I have been dodging defraud inoculations and fighting to stay a live via maintaining an income. Serial Killer Boyden Gray has inflicted every form of fraud, economic crimes, stalkings, poisonings, harrassment, hate crimes, attempted murder, etc... in my life imaginable.

Due to the disregard of his documented killings and crimes, the killings and crimes have escalated. Now he is a demon possessed serial killer. I urge your office to visit my web site and read the attachments. Boyden Gray is a documented serial killing needing restraint. Please read the attachments and visit my web site particularly the congress and education links.

Also, I respectfully request that you verify whether Valerie Grey, as noted below, is a fictional character, economic credentialed character, or an in and out consultant fraudulently created so Boyden Gray can continue infiltrating the medical system with ongoing premeditated medical errors and defraud inoculations.

This is what Boyden Gray is noted for, this is what his psychotic defraud killing operations are premised off of, and this fiction administration has to be stopped on behalf of human life and public safety. By him putting in a fiction as stated below, he has total control over the health care of New Yorkers. This crackpot gets to kill more people under disguise. These crimes must stop! Please note in my web site I document his multiple defraud consultant recruitment operations, which advance his diabolical fiction administration. My web site is :

<http://www.endorganizedcrimeuniverse.com/><http://www.endorganizedcrimeuniverse.com/>

I can assure all that there is no Valerie Grey and this is what unregulated monies do. It produces non authentic documentation to advance killing fellow humans. I can comfortably state that no finger prints can be produced for this character. I have studied this criminal, deadly well financed operation too long. Boyden Gray has gotten away with killing over 25 million people so far.

The continued disregard of the mass killing of human beings, coupled with satanism/corruption in one of the highest levels of government, has created a regional harmonizing mass serial killer by not executing the crimes. Consequently, this crackpot has masterminded ways to globally defraud the public and get to positions that can disguise kill massively.

As long as corruption/satanic administration is running this country, I urge all God loving people, particularly in law enforcement to verify identities of key positions, particularly in health care. There is a demon on the loose with unregulated monies, and his job is to destroy the human race.

Boyden Gray's phenomena mass killing results in Africa are being replicated. The phenomena no longer exists.

In the below article, as stated, Gaines appointed a consultant. There is no verifiable and or realistic Valerie Grey. She is a figment of Boyden Gray's imagination and manifestation of his money. The only one out of Greenberg Traurig LLP is BOYDEN GRAY! See the below.

There is no authentic information on Valerie Grey because she exists through economic credentialing only! See below. This is what corrupt/satanic government, lawless leadership brings to the table a host of diabolical strategems that serve no other purpose but to master deceive, devour and destroy the human race. Please stop these crimes from the top! Please note Wikipedia's definition of Valerie Gray is a fictional character too. These are not coincidences. These are documented, diabolical plots to psychotically control human subjects without consent and or authority. Please see documentation of Boyden Gray's psychotic, deadly, inhumane, and horrendous crimes against humanity at: <http://www.endorganizedcrimeuniverse.com/><http://www.endorganizedcrimeuniverse.com/>

Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,

Miriam Snyder

St. Luke's-Roosevelt Hospital Center President Nominated For New York State Health Commissioner Position

January 18, 2007—New York, NY--New York State Governor Eliot Spitzer announced today that he is nominating St. Luke's - Roosevelt President Richard F. Daines, MD, to be the State's new Commissioner of Health.

In a statement to the SLRHC and Continuum Health Partners community, Board Chair Mort Hyman and President Stanley Brezenoff said, "While we will be very sorry to see Dr. Daines leave SLRHC and Continuum, we can take solace in the fact that our State's DOH will be in Richard's incredibly capable and responsible hands. He is a man of enormous integrity who is sure to approach this role with his usual thoughtful consideration and respect for patients, physicians and nurses, and the hospital and health care community. The people of the State of New York will be the ultimate beneficiaries of this inspired nomination."

SERIAL KILLER BOYDEN GRAY'S 2008 STERILIZATION DISGUISED KILLINGS:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Ionizing_radiation#Uses_of_ionizing_radiation

Ionizing radiation

From Wikipedia, the free

encyclopedia http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Image:Radiation_warning_symbol.svg http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Image:Radiation_warning_symbol.svg http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Image:New_radiation_symbol_ISO_21482.svg http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Image:New_radiation_symbol_ISO_21482.svg

Ionizing radiation hazard symbol (recently introduced).^[1]

Ionizing radiation is energetic particles or waves that have the potential to ionize an atom or molecule through atomic interactions. It is a function of the energy of the individual particles or waves, and not a function of the number of particles or waves present. A large flood of particles or waves will not cause ionization if the individual particles or waves are not energetic enough. These ionizations, if enough occur, can be destructive to biological organisms, and can cause DNA damage in individual cells. Extensive doses of ionizing radiation have been shown to have a mutating effect to future generations of the individual receiving the dose. Examples of ionizing radiation are energetic Beta particles, neutrons, alpha particles and energetic photons (UV and above). The energy required to ionize an atom or molecule may widely vary. X-rays and gamma rays will ionize almost any molecule or atom; Far ultraviolet, near ultraviolet and visible light are ionizing to very few molecules; microwaves and radio waves are non-ionizing radiation.

Visible light is so ubiquitous that molecules that are ionized by it will often react nearly spontaneously unless protected by materials that block the visible spectrum. Examples include photographic film and some molecules involved in photosynthesis.

Ionizing radiation has many practical uses in medicine, research, construction, etc. It also presents a health hazard to humans if used improperly. Both aspects are discussed below.

[\[edit\]](#) Biological and medical applications of ionizing radiation

In biology, radiation is mainly used for sterilization, and enhancing mutations.

For example, mutations may be induced by radiation to produce new or improved species. A very promising field is the sterile insect technique, where male insects are sterilized and liberated in the chosen field, so that they have no descendants, and the population is reduced.

Radiation is also useful in sterilizing medical hardware or food. The advantage for medical hardware is that the object may be sealed in plastic before sterilization. For food, there are strict regulations to prevent the occurrence of induced radioactivity. The growth of a seedling may be enhanced by radiation, but excessive radiation will hinder growth.

Electrons, x rays, gamma rays or atomic ions may be used in radiation therapy to treat malignant tumors (cancer).

Court Strikes Ban on Gay Ex-Con Partners Contacting Each Other While on Probation September 2007

In what the ACLU hailed as a major gay rights victory recognizing the long-term relations between two gay convicts, U.S. District Judge

Marvin Katz (E.D. Pa.) ruled after a remand from the Third Circuit that same-sex life partners have a constitutionally protected right to their intimate relationship, which outweighs the need for the federal probation office to keep the two felony convicts from communicating or associating with each other. Judge Katz provided two alternate holdings, one declaring the probationary condition unconstitutional as applied to this case, based on due process and equal protection, and the other holding that the condition violated the relevant statutory provisions. U.S. v. Roberts and Mangini, 2007 WL 2221416 (July 31, 2007).

Dear Honorable Public Officials:

I sent an email with 2 attachments on December 28, 2007, titled: Boyden Gray's Deadly Multiple Personality Medical Defraud and Organized Crimes. It has come to my attention that the email was infiltrated with attachments I did not attach. To this end, the relevant attachment titles are: Boyden Gray December 17, 2007 Comprehensive Killings and Boyden Gray 2007 Sterilizations. There are no attachments with this email. The documentation is below.

In addition to those documented crimes, I am forwarding the below Boyden Gray additional third party enjoined deadly Black Operations that are patterned off of his documented deadly history of Serial Killing Harmonizations via defraud inoculation and premeditated medical errors.

The below issues exemplify the emergency need for intervention to stop historically documented Boyden Gray led premeditated defraud killings and targeting of uninfected and untested vulnerable populations, newly created premeditated contaminated blood banks and the creation of hospitals, laboratories, and other medical facilities to create, advance, and infiltrate Boyden Gray documented fetish infectious diseases.

PLEASE NOTE IN THE BELOW DESIGN, A PATTERNED BOYDEN GRAY INNOCENT THIRD PARTY WAS ENJOINED, FOR THE PURPOSE OF PUBLICLY TURNING OVER THE BLOOD BANKS' CERTIFICATE, TO PUBLICLY SUBTERFUGE BOYDEN GRAY'S DOCUMENTED AND PATTERNED PSYCHOTIC PLAUSIBLE DENIABILITY INSANITY PLAN TO CONTAMINATE THE BLOOD AND USE THE CERTIFICATE TO CREATE PREMEDITATED FALSIFIED EVIDENCE FOR A SATANICALLY MASTERMINDED HARMONIZATION AND BOYDEN GRAY INFECTIOUS DISEASE EPIDEMIC.

It s my prayer, that God loving people, particularly entrusted with leadership positions will execute the crimes. I am simply forwarding documented information that has effectuated the defraud killing of over 25 million people listed under Boyden Gray's historical public defraud background and deadly harmonization track records. Opportunities: Capacity and Quality

In the two days I was in Tanzania, I saw several good examples of ways we can expand capacity with investments. ■ The first was a care and treatment center called Mwananyamia Hospital that we opened on Friday in Dar es Salaam, Tanzania. This is a project PEPFAR (President's Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief) paid for in conjunction with Harvard University.

Before the ceremony, we walked through the old center which is still in use. I've now been in enough African hospitals and clinics now to anticipate the model of care. Most of them are similar. People, mostly woman, line up with their children early in the morning, sitting on a wooden bench in a room packed with people. Typically there are two or three intake workers dispatching the patients to small rooms where they are examined by a nurse, or somebody with less training. There may be one doctor or a part timer who comes once a week to see patients who have to return and wait again.

Most of these clinics/hospitals have a pharmacy which is actually a couple of cupboards with a few bulk products.

Medical records often are intake logs, not focused on the individual patient but the flow of patients through a particular process. I've seen a few basic labs with a single piece of equipment.

The new treatment center is bigger, better organized, better equipped, and feels so much more optimistic. It will increase the volume, sustainability and quality of the offerings. There is a sense of hopefulness just in the contrast of old to new.

Another significant investment is a building that will house laboratories and various public health facilities. Several U.S. organizations contributed to its building. It will allow U.S. scientists and doctors to work side by side with their Tanzanian counterparts. I've mentioned this before but it's worth repeating. Having research at the epicenter is a powerful way to leverage our talent

On Saturday, I attended the opening of a Blood Center in Zanzibar. CDC has consulted heavily on these and has an ongoing relationship to assure they are operated properly. This is an interesting and important investment. Until we started working with the Tanzanians, there were no blood banks. So when a person needed blood, they called on their relatives to donate. With so many untested people giving blood, thousands of people each year were given HIV through a transfusion made, with every good intention, from a relative. We have now built blood centers so the blood can come from a tested source. It will protect innocent victims for generations to come.

[9] Before: Guy and Ryan, Circuit Judges; and Contie, Senior Circuit Judge.

[10] The opinion of the court was delivered by: Per Curiam

[11] PER CURIAM. The plaintiffs, one of whom was infected with the HIV virus during a blood transfusion, brought this action against the American Red Cross, alleging that the Red Cross negligently accepted blood from an infected donor.

After the plaintiffs' counsel violated a protective order by investigating and learning the identity of the blood donor, the district court enjoined the plaintiffs from using the identity to bring a separate action against the donor. We reverse the injunction.

[12] I.

[13] Cheryl Coleman received a blood transfusion at the University of Michigan Hospital on August 15, 1984. The blood Mrs. Coleman received had been donated to the American Red Cross six days earlier. That blood apparently contained the Human Immunodeficiency Virus (HIV), the virus that causes Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome (AIDS).

[14] A laboratory test for HIV-infected blood was not developed until March 1985. When the donor of the blood that infected Mrs. Coleman attempted to donate again in April 1985, the test revealed that he was infected. *fn2 After tracing the donor's previous donations, the Red Cross eventually notified Mrs. Coleman. Her blood tested positive for HIV antibodies in September 1988.

[15] Mrs. Coleman and her husband, Gerry, filed this action in a Michigan state court in March 1989. The Red Cross removed the case to the federal district court two months later. *fn3 The complaint alleges that the Red Cross was negligent in failing to screen out the infected donor and in failing to test his blood after collecting it.

[16] During discovery, the Colemans requested the donor's name and address. After the Red Cross refused to comply with the request, the Colemans filed a motion to compel, arguing that they needed to question the donor to establish that the Red Cross was negligent in accepting and using his blood. The Colemans indicated at that time that they did not intend to bring an action against the donor.

[17] While the motion to compel was pending, the parties entered into a stipulation in which they agreed to restrict access to any confidential information that would be disclosed during discovery. The Red Cross then responded to the motion to compel by moving for an order to protect the donor's identity.

[18] In April 1990, the district court denied the Colemans' motion to compel and granted the Red Cross's motion for a protective order. Coleman v. American Red Cross, 130 F.R.D. 360 (E.D. Mich. 1990). The court ordered both parties to refrain from taking any discovery from the donor and ordered the Red Cross to provide the donor's records to the Colemans with all identifying information redacted. Id. at 363.

[19] The Red Cross provided the donor's information cards to the Colemans. Those cards revealed that the donor frequently gave inconsistent information in response to the screening questions. In particular, the cards contain inconsistent information concerning the donor's age, date of birth, and number of previous donations. It also appears from the cards that on some occasions the donor falsely stated that he had not been exposed to hepatitis and that he had not donated or sold blood plasma.

[20] In January 1991, the Red Cross delivered several more donor information cards to the Colemans. On one of the cards, the Red Cross inadvertently failed to redact the donor's social security number. The Colemans' attorney immediately hired a private investigator, who used credit records to determine the donor's name and address.

[21] A few days later, the Colemans' attorney informed counsel for the Red Cross that he knew the identity of the donor. The Red Cross immediately moved for a new protective order to prevent the Colemans and their attorney from using this information.

[22] In March 1991, the district court issued a new protective order. The court found that the Colemans' attorney had violated the original protective order by using the social security number to identify the donor. The court ordered the Colemans and their attorney to turn over any documents containing the donor's name and enjoined them from using the information for any purpose, including using the name to bring an action against the donor.

[23] The Colemans appealed from the March 1991 protective order, arguing that the district court erred by enjoining them from suing the donor. The Red Cross moved to dismiss the interlocutory appeal for lack of jurisdiction. In August 1991, we dismissed the appeal, observing:

[24] Given the information currently before this court, it does not appear that the district court may properly enjoin the defendants from commencing suit against the donor. However, the court also notes that the plaintiffs have not moved the district court for leave to do so.

[26] The Colemans immediately asked the district court to modify the March 1991 protective order to permit them to use the donor's identity to commence suit against him. In September 1991, the court issued a new order which explicitly barred the Colemans from using the name to sue the donor or for any other purpose.

[27] This second appeal followed. The Red Cross again moved to dismiss the appeal for lack of jurisdiction. In December 1991, we held that we have jurisdiction to hear this interlocutory appeal because the injunction against suing the donor was a collateral order. See Cohen v. Beneficial Indus. Loan Corp., 337 U.S. 541, 93 L. Ed. 1528, 69 S. Ct. 1221 (1949).

[28] II.

[29] We must first decide which of the district court's orders are before us on appeal. The Colemans devote much of their argument to attacking the district court's determination that the need to safeguard the nation's blood supply and the privacy of the donor outweighs the Colemans' interest in obtaining discovery from the donor. The Red Cross argues that this determination, which was the basis of the April 1990 protective order, is not properly before us.

[30] The Red Cross correctly points out that the Colemans are appealing the March 1991 order and the September 1991 refusal to modify that order. However, the district court issued the March 1991 and September 1991 orders in response to the Colemans' violation of the April 1990 protective order.

[31] The Red Cross maintains that our review is limited to determining whether the March 1991 and September 1991 orders were appropriate responses to the Colemans' violation of the earlier order. Therefore, the Red Cross argues that we may not review the validity of the April 1990 order.

[32] The Red Cross further contends that the Colemans are foreclosed from challenging the April 1990 order because they failed to appeal from that order when it was issued. The Red Cross argues that allowing the Colemans to challenge that order now would encourage litigants to violate discovery orders.

[34] A litigant faced with an adverse discovery order may obtain review, however, by violating the order and incurring sanctions or a contempt citation. Taylor, 519 F.2d at 355; see also, Butcher v. Bailey, 753 F.2d 465, 471 (6th Cir.), cert. dismissed, 473 U.S. 925, 87 L. Ed. 2d 696, 106 S. Ct. 17 (1985). As we explained in Taylor, "should [a party] refuse to obey the order and sanctions are applied, review of the order may be obtained." 519 F.2d at 355.

[35] The district court found that the Colemans violated the April 1990 order by seeking and learning the donor's name. The Colemans do not deny that they violated the order. As a sanction, the district court barred the Colemans from using the name to sue the donor. By violating the April 1990 order and incurring sanctions, the Colemans have placed that order before us for review.

[37] Having found that the April 1990 protective order is properly before us, we now consider the substantive questions raised in this appeal. We must first determine whether the district court erred by issuing a protective order designed to prevent the Colemans from learning the donor's identity. If that protective order was proper, we must then decide whether the March 1991 and September 1991 orders were appropriate responses to the Colemans' violation of the earlier order.

[38] A.

[39] The district court issued the April 1990 protective order pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c), which permits a court to enter a protective order "which justice requires to protect a party or person from annoyance, embarrassment, oppression, or undue burden or expense. . . ." We review for abuse of discretion a district court's decision to issue a protective order. Lewelling v. Farmers Ins. of Columbus, Inc., 879 F.2d 212, 218 (6th Cir. 1989).

BOYDEN GRAY

LEGAL CIRCUS DOCUMNETATION

[40] The district court found that the disclosure of the donor's identity would threaten the adequacy and safety of the nation's blood supply and that this threat outweighed the Colemans' need to obtain discovery directly from the donor. The Red Cross argues on appeal that disclosure also would violate the donor's right to privacy.

[41] The Colemans attack the finding that disclosure could harm the national blood supply. They insist that their interests in obtaining discovery from the donor and bringing an action against him outweigh any harm that might result from disclosure.

[42] The Red Cross submitted an affidavit to the district court from Dr. A. William Shafer, Executive Director of the Red Cross's Regional Blood Services for Southeast Michigan. Dr. Shafer stated that, in his opinion, donor confidentiality was essential to the maintenance of an adequate blood supply. The Red Cross also cited the testimony of a former commissioner of the Food and Drug Administration for that proposition.

PLEASE NOTE: THE ABOVE CRIMINAL AFFIDAVITS ARE ALL DOCUMENTED BOYDEN GRAY'S CRIMINAL MONEY BOUGHT BUDDIES!

BOYDEN GRAY LEGAL CIRCUS!

[43] The Colemans argue that the national blood supply would be safer if high-risk persons were discouraged from donating by the possibility of disclosure. The Red Cross counters that disclosure would make the blood supply less safe. Dr. Shafer explained that donors would not be candid during pre-donation interviews if they knew their identities could be disclosed. Therefore, Dr. Shafer opined that pre-donation screening would become less effective and more high-risk blood would be donated.

[44] We find that the district court did not commit clear error in concluding that donor disclosure could imperil the safety and adequacy of the national blood supply. We note that the Colemans submitted no affidavits or other evidence to the contrary.

[45] The district court then concluded that the danger to the national blood supply outweighed the Colemans' need to obtain discovery from the donor. The Colemans attack that determination.

[46] At least six other district courts and state courts from at least nine states have published opinions in which they have performed the same balancing test. Most of those courts reached the same conclusion as the district court and refused to order the disclosure of the donors' names. *fn4 Some of those courts allowed the plaintiffs to depose the donors indirectly or through written questions. *fn5

[47] A minority of courts concluded that the plaintiffs' interest in discovering the donors' names outweighed the other interests and allowed the plaintiffs to learn the donors' names. *fn6 Those courts typically imposed protective orders to prevent the plaintiffs from making the names public. *fn7

[48] The disclosure or non-disclosure of a blood donor's identity is obviously an issue of great importance to both the public and to the litigants. Although there are compelling arguments for each side, we cannot conclude that the district court abused its discretion in finding that the interests asserted by the Red Cross outweigh the Colemans' interest in obtaining discovery from the donor. We therefore affirm the validity of the April 1990 protective order.

[50] Having concluded that the order barring the Colemans from obtaining discovery from the donor is proper, we now consider whether the March 1991 and September 1991 orders are appropriate responses to the Colemans' violations of the protective order. Since the district court has broad discretion to enforce its discovery orders, we review sanctions for abuse of discretion. Lewelling, 879 F.2d at 218.

[51] The donor's donation cards and other information supplied to the Colemans during discovery revealed that the donor regularly supplied the Red Cross with inconsistent information when giving blood. He provided several different birthdays, claimed to be a variety of ages, and gave highly inconsistent information concerning the frequency of his previous blood donations. It also appears that on at least some occasions he inaccurately stated that he had not donated or sold blood plasma and that he had not been exposed to hepatitis. *fn8

[52] Initially, the Colemans sought the donor's name so that they could depose him in order to establish that the Red Cross had screened donors negligently. By the time the Colemans obtained the donor's name in January 1991, the inconsistent and inaccurate donor information had led them to conclude that they had a separate cause of action against the donor.

[53] The district court's March 1991 and September 1991 orders have foreclosed that separate cause of action against the donor because the Colemans obtained the donor's name in violation of the April 1990 protective order. The question we must decide, then, is whether the district court properly may enjoin a party from using a name obtained in violation of a discovery order to pursue a separate cause of action.

[54] We begin by stating a proposition that is not in serious dispute. Since we have upheld the validity of the April 1990 protective order, there is no question that the district court could enjoin the Colemans from making any use of the donor's name in their action against the Red Cross. The question we face is whether the district court may enjoin them from making use of the name in a separate action against the donor.

[55] Of the numerous published opinions which have considered the discovery of a blood donor's identity, only Doe v. Puget Sound Blood Center, 117 Wash. 2d 772, 819 P.2d 370 (1991), involved a donor who was a potential defendant as well as a potential witness against the blood collector. In Puget Sound, the Washington Supreme Court upheld a trial court order that required the defendant blood bank to disclose the donor's name to the plaintiff. The order required the plaintiff to keep the donor's identity confidential until and unless the plaintiff joined the donor as a party defendant. Puget Sound, 819 P.2d at 372. However, the plaintiff did not join the donor as a defendant, and the court did not consider the plaintiff's need to learn the name of a potential defendant when balancing the competing interests.

[56] The Red Cross cites Sperry Rand Corp. v. Rothlein, 288 F.2d 245 (2d Cir. 1961), for the proposition that a district court may enforce its protective orders by enjoining a party from using information in other litigation. In Sperry Rand, the plaintiff sued several former employees for misappropriating trade secrets. After deposing the defendants under a protective order, the plaintiff filed a related action against another set of defendants in state court. The district court then enjoined the plaintiff from introducing evidence derived from the deposition in the state proceedings.

[57] The Second Circuit affirmed the injunction, concluding that it was justified because the plaintiff would have an unfair advantage in the state proceedings if it immediately could use information gained during federal discovery. Sperry Rand, 288 F.2d at 248. However, the court declined to decide whether the rules of civil procedure governing protective orders would justify the injunction. Id. at 249.

[58] The injunction issued here goes far beyond that issued in Sperry Rand. It bars not only immediate use of the donor's name in other litigation, but all future use as well. The Red Cross has cited to no authority for the proposition that a district court may permanently bar a party from using information it has to bring an action against another person. Cf. Kramer v. Boeing Co., 134 F.R.D. 256, 258 (D. Minn. 1991) (barring plaintiff's attorney from using documents obtained in violation of discovery order in separate proceeding against same defendant).

[59] We observe that it does not appear that the Colemans want to bring an action against the donor for vexatious reasons. The evidence produced during discovery raises serious questions about his conduct as a blood donor.

[60] The Red Cross concedes that the district court could not enjoin the Colemans from suing the donor if they had not violated the protective order by obtaining the donor's name from the information provided by the Red Cross. However, the Colemans point out that they could not possibly have learned the donor's name without obtaining the information from the Red Cross. The Red Cross does not deny that the district court's injunction effectively forecloses the Colemans from ever filing suit against the donor.

[61] The donor's privacy interests are substantial, as is the public interest in maintaining a safe and adequate blood supply. However, we believe that the Colemans' right to litigate their claims against the donor substantially outweighs the competing interests, especially since there is significant evidence to suggest that the donor's conduct was suspect. Accordingly, we conclude that the district court abused its discretion by enjoining the Colemans from bringing a separate action against the donor.

[62] We reject the Red Cross's argument that our holding will encourage future litigants to violate protective orders to obtain the names of blood donors. When a party violates a protective order, a district court may impose appropriate sanctions to remedy the violation. Thus, a district court may bar a violating party from using the information in the proceeding and may impose other sanctions, such as contempt citations. In some cases, even a default judgment may be appropriate.

[63] In some, perhaps most, circumstances, a district court also may properly enjoin a party from using the fruits of a discovery violation in another proceeding. Our holding that the district court abused its discretion by denying the Colemans the use of the donor's name in a separate proceeding is limited to the unique facts presented here. Specifically, we reach that result because the injunction effectively forecloses the Colemans from ever bringing an action against the donor and because the Colemans have presented evidence to suggest that such an action would not be frivolous.

[64] We AFFIRM the district court's April 1990 protective order. We REVERSE the March 1991 and September 1991 orders insofar as they enjoin the Colemans from using the donor's name to bring a separate cause of action against him. We REMAND to the district court for further proceedings.

Opinion Footnotes

[65] 2 Shortly after testing the blood, a nurse from the Red Cross interviewed the donor. The donor denied being a member of any high-risk category, but the interviewing nurse concluded from his demeanor that he was not being truthful.

Re: Docket No. 01P-0586/CP1

Dear Mr. Gray:

This letter responds to your citizen petition, dated December 26, 2001, submitted on behalf of Bristol-Myers Squibb Company. You request the Commissioner of Food and Drugs to issue new regulations and/or amend existing regulations to implement section 11 of the Best Pharmaceuticals for Children Act (BPCA), Pub. L. 107-109.¹ To the extent you request that the Food and Drug Administration (FDA) issue regulations before implementing section 11, your petition is denied. To the extent you request FDA to issue regulations in the future as part of the continuing implementation process for this statutory provision, your petition is neither granted nor denied; the Agency has yet to make this decision.

Section 11 of the BPCA permits approval of abbreviated new drug applications (ANDAs) for drugs when pediatric labeling for the innovator drug product is protected by patent or exclusivity.² Section 11 also describes labeling FDA may require for the generic drug. Under this provision, FDA will determine what labeling is appropriate for generic drugs when the innovator's pediatric labeling has market protection. FDA will also specifically identify any pediatric contraindications, warnings, or precautions that may be necessary.

Your principal argument is that section 11 is not "self-executing," and, therefore, before FDA implements the statute, it must issue new or amended regulations. In addition, you contend that new or amended regulations are necessary before FDA can adequately protect children's health and protect innovator exclusivity. FDA disagrees with each of these contentions.

¹ A comment in opposition to your petition, dated January 10, 2002, and submitted on behalf of Watson Laboratories, was reviewed by the Agency.

² The exclusivity at issue in section 11 of the BPCA is 3-year exclusivity under section 505(j)(5)(D)(iii) & (iv) of the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act (FFDCA) (3-year exclusivity).

The first project he is currently involved in, Equity and Growth through Economic Research (EAGER), involves a consortium of eight U.S. and some 20 African institutions conducting 20 different studies on issues of economic policy related to growth and equity. The second study concerns reform of the financial sector in Madagascar. The third project he is assisting in is comprised of a resident team of four economists in the Ministry of Planning and Finance in Mozambique. Some of the work on this project also involves research on growth issues.

Drug Companies at the Crossroads

HSPH's Michelle Mello explores the thorny issues at the intersection of public health, law, and ethics

In recent years, pillars of the pharmaceutical industry have fallen from grace. In a series of high-profile lawsuits, several companies have faced legal trouble over unlawful marketing and promotion practices, kickbacks, and the nondisclosure of drug safety data.

Small wonder that, in a November Harris poll, only 7 percent of Americans said they think drug companies are generally honest and trustworthy.

What measures might be taken to better protect the public's health? Should the government impose new regulations? Or can the industry be encouraged to self-regulate--that is, to change and monitor its practices to meet consumer expectations?

Questions like these have such profound implications for public policy that a young researcher trained in public health, law, and ethics could build a career around them. At the Harvard School of Public Health (HSPH), Michelle Mello has plans to do just that--as the C. Boyden Gray Associate Professor of Health Policy and Law. Recently Mello was appointed to the post, a junior professorship endowed earlier this year by Dean's Council member and Harvard College graduate C. Boyden Gray, AB '64, currently the U.S. ambassador to the European Union.

RISING STAR Michelle Mello is the C. Boyden Gray Associate Professor of Public Health Law at HSPH. Her new junior professorship was endowed, and named for, a Harvard College alumnus on the occasion of his class reunion.

Morally complex issues

The annual support provided by endowed chairs like Mello's is highly prized by HSPH faculty members, who typically must raise the better part of their salaries through research grants. Mello, who divides her time between health policy research and teaching at HSPH and Harvard Law School, says the additional funds will allow her to hire a post-doctoral fellow and focus her team's energies on "morally complex" issues important to public health for which research funding is scarce. In one project, she is studying the impact of laws and litigation born of the obesity epidemic on individuals' eating habits and businesses' food-supplying behavior. She has also turned her attention to the pharmaceutical industry, which provides significant benefits to society but may also introduce risks to consumer health in the quest to generate profits.

"As a society, we want to protect companies' for-profit incentive, which spurs innovation," Mello says. "You'd hope for the industry to self-regulate--you'd hope that companies that claim to have a strong corporate conscience would press others to behave better. But when corporate behavior fails to meet public expectations, stronger government regulation may be required."

In the past year, Mello, a Greenwall Foundation Faculty Scholar in Bioethics, has begun plunging into realms where government and drug makers intersect. She has explored the ethical underpinnings of the

HHS Awards Two Contracts to Expand Domestic Vaccine Manufacturing Capacity for a Potential Influenza Pandemic

HHS Secretary Mike Leavitt today announced the award of two contracts to expand the domestic influenza vaccine manufacturing capacity that could be used in the event of a potential influenza pandemic.

The department has awarded two cost-reimbursable contracts totaling $132.5 million to sanofi pasteur and vaccine

manufacturing MedImmune over five years to retrofit existing domestic facilities on a cost-sharing basis and to provide warm-base operations for manufacturing pandemic influenza vaccines. In warm-base operations, the contractor does not shut down the facility.

"We must prepare for a flu pandemic, although it may not be possible to be certain when the next one will come or how severe it will be," Secretary Leavitt said. "These contracts are important advances in the path of preparation because they help the nation build its capacity to respond."

The five-year contracts were awarded to sanofi pasteur, a manufacturer of a U.S.-licensed egg-based inactivated influenza vaccine product, for $77.4 million and to MedImmune, a manufacturer of a U.S.-licensed egg-based live, attenuated vaccine product, for $55.1 million.

The contracts provide funding for renovation of manufacturing facilities and manufacturing warm-base operations for two years with options for an additional three years of warm-base operation.

Upon completion, these facilities will expand domestic pandemic vaccine manufacturing capacity by 16 percent.

Additionally, these facilities will afford year-round production of pre-

pandemic for the national stockpile, which is limited currently to three months each year.

The HHS Pandemic Preparedness Plan, issued in November 2005, outlines public health preparedness and response activities for an influenza pandemic. Major vaccine goals include the establishment of pre-pandemic influenza vaccine stockpiles for 20 million persons in the critical workforce and the expansion of domestic pandemic vaccine manufacturing surge capacity for 300 million persons within six months of the onset of an influenza pandemic.

HHS' Office of the Assistant Secretary for Preparedness and Response, which oversees medical countermeasure development and acquisition efforts through its Office of Biomedical Advanced Research and Development Authority (BARDA), formerly the Office of Public Health Emergency Medical Countermeasures, will manage these contracts. BOYDEN GRAY WILL MANAGE THE CONTRACTS BY DESIGN AND FICTION ADMINISTRATION.

<http://www.wbiw.com/obituaries/archives/2007/12/> AND <http://www.wbiw.com/obituaries/archives/>

Dear Honorable Congressional Members:

I write this letter to send my sincerest sympathy and prayers for former Congresswoman Carson who was viciously and criminally inoculated prior to her murder and induced hospitalizations. Her anti war actions and humanitarian will be greatly missed and are documented in history.

Please note her induced and inflicted ailment atrocities and death exemplify the exact public defraud inoculations, defraud human research experimentations, and scientific obstructions documented in my web site at <http://endorganizedcrimeuniverse.com/page6.html> and my letter to Congress dated November, 2007.

I wish someone had listened and executed the documented third party plausible deniability masterminded killings and crimes. She might be alive today. Again, please send her family, prayers and sympathy on behalf of we the people.

I pray that defraud inoculations, induced pandemic emergencies and disguised killings will stop. These include media watched Boyden Gray led, mass murder defraud inoculated serial killings, defraud deadly human research protection obstructions. Specifically, these disguised killings and attempted killings include, inflicted, documented, deadly, and patterned scientific obstructions, inflicted, deadly, electromagnetic weaponry, inflicted lethal mind control human experimentation, inflicted, deadly defraud sleep laboratory research, inflicted, deadly, serial killer staff development organized stalking, inflicted deadly cancer, inflicted deadly, type 1 and 2 diabetes, induced deadly, high blood pressure, induced deadly seizures, induced deadly autism, induced deadly created and infiltrated H5N1, and other pig to human deadly viruses, induced deadly pathogen administration, and induced emergency room hospital administrations. These are deadly, psychopath, organized, premeditated murder crimes against the human race. These are crimes beyond hate crimes.

I am saddened that another congress person was sacrificed to these documented and patterned serial killer defraud inoculation, infection, medical error and induced hospitalization Boyden Gray killings. To this end, I respectfully request that each congress person visits the above mentioned web site congress and education pages in particular. I urge you to evaluate and analyze the patterned defraud inoculation hospital administration initiation killings documented.

This was a disguised killing operation for public officials previously. The program has expanded to kill and induce criminal hospital placements for all people now because, defraud deadly vaccinations kill under disguise effectively. I pray no more public officials and or any other human being falls prey to these preventable defraud killings that have been disregarded for too long.

This deadly operation is criminally expert and well financed. At minimum, I share this for education awareness, caution purposes, and execution of the crimes.

Please see the below information where a judge was recently killed in a similar Boyden Gray media watch obituary advertisement under Serial Killer Boyden Gray's name. I found the judge's information listed in Boyden Gray's Julia Carson killing advertisements. He has an obituary advertisement web site. Please see the above third party Orbit section in the above noted obituary web site. This is where dead people are listed as advertisement. Please read the information in the noted web site above.

Above all, this is an appeal for people to use their free will on earth, to save a human life, which is a precious gift from God the creator of all.

Boyden Gray has initiated and implemented these criminally insane programs with the executive branch to expand his insane psychotic deadly defraud inoculation killings, because he has effectively killed under disguise for years. The disguised killing results are inhumane. The disguised killing expansion has erupted under induced pandemic emergencies for each state. Please be aware of such and do what you can to stop this mass murder, power and control psychotic in effect agenda. The web sites are listed above where you can see, read and verify the scripted mass murder deadly pathogen, pig virus to human transmission via vaccine inoculation programming and programs.

With respect to the below, I just received the below Congress.org notice regarding HR 1585's passage with a notation that the Bill does not include a provision relating to hate crimes which could have prevented its passage. This ambiguous statement says nothing about the role and or impact of HR 1585 Human Research Protection and section 1622 unidentified Council of Governors. In a civilized and Godly society clarity is prioritized. This ambiguous statement regarding hate crimes and deliberately not mentioning HR 1585 Human Research Protection leaves one to question who is writing the legal papers for congress?

As noted, Boyden Gray is writing legal papers for all of government via an unidentified phenomenon where statements pop up out of thin air as authority with no direct name, such as the above.

To this end, on behalf of human life pursuant to almighty God the creator's will for mankind to live free from defraud inoculations, induced ailment atrocities, and human research obstructions, please provide in writing answers to the below questions on behalf of public safety. I will gladly post the written responses on congress.org as public safety and the life of fellow human beings is the prioritized concern.

Please answer, explain and clarify the below questions as they relate to HR 1585 Human Research Protections, Section 1622 and the below two HR 1585 advertisements and or authorities:

Again, I send my prayers to the Carlson family, the state of Indiana in particular, and all entities that will suffer the loss of her great and sacrificial work on behalf of the human race. I look forward to hearing from you. May God bless you. This letter will be faxed in to Congressman Waxman's, NYS and other Congressional member offices. The below information and documents clearly exemplify a matter of life and death. Please read the documents carefully. Thank you for your time.

Take the Lead: Working Together to Prepare Now

Preparing for a pandemic influenza outbreak involves everybody. The threat of pandemic influenza is real, and America needs leadership from respected community members to prepare our towns and cities, reduce the impact of pandemic flu on individuals and families, and reduce or even prevent serious damage to the economy.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) and other public health experts agree that it is not a question of IF a pandemic will occur, but WHEN it will occur. If America is not adequately prepared, pandemic flu could seriously affect everyone economically.

Government alone can't prepare the nation for pandemic flu; this challenge requires your help. As a leader in your community, you can play a powerful role in encouraging your employees, patients, and members and others whom you represent to prepare by providing information and guidance and by preparing yourself.

This kit was developed by HHS and CDC along with input from community leaders. It is designed to provide you with key information and tools to help your organization or practice understand the threat of a pandemic and prepare for it now.

This toolkit provides the following:

- Information for you about pandemic flu
- Ready-to-use and ready-to-tailor resources prepared by HHS and CDC
- Ideas and materials to encourage your organization to prepare and to encourage other leaders to get involved

Pandemic preparedness efforts are an important part of community leadership. We thank you for joining community leaders across the Nation in taking steps to ensure America's health and prosperity in the 21st century.

Pandemic Flu

President George W. Bush delivers his remarks regarding his National Strategy for Pandemic Influenza Preparedness and Response Tuesday, Nov. 1, 2005.

"Today, I am announcing key elements of that strategy. Our strategy is designed to meet three critical goals: First, we must detect outbreaks that occur anywhere in the world; second, we must protect the American people by stockpiling vaccines and antiviral drugs, and improve our ability to rapidly produce new vaccines against a pandemic strain; and, third, we must be ready to respond at the federal, state and local levels in the event that a pandemic reaches our shores," said President Bush. White House photo

Implementation of the National Strategy for Pandemic Influenza

Full Report

On July 17, 2007 The White House Homeland Security Council Issued A One-Year Report On The Administration's Progress In Implementing The National Strategy For Pandemic Influenza. The United States is better positioned today to detect an outbreak of pandemic flu earlier, to support an international effort to contain the pandemic in its earliest stages, to limit the spread of a pandemic, and to save lives.

- In May 2006, The Administration Issued The National Strategy For Pandemic Influenza Implementation Plan, Which Provides A Roadmap To Achieve The Federal Government's Pandemic Preparedness And Response Goals.
- We Have Made Great Strides Over The Past Year To Complete The Actions Outlined In The Implementation Plan. Eighty-six percent of all actions due within 12 months under the Implementation Plan have been completed. The remaining 14 percent of actions are in progress and are expected to be completed by the 18-month mark.[1]

We Are Confronting The Threat Of An Influenza Pandemic At Its Source

The United States Has Made Pivotal Contributions To Control The International Spread Of H5N1. Through the International Partnership on Avian and Pandemic Influenza, we are working with affected countries and international partners to detect, contain, and prevent animal outbreaks; reduce human exposure to the virus; and enhance planning and preparedness for future outbreaks.

- The United States Is Working On Avian Influenza Issues In More Than 100 Countries To Combat The Spread Of Avian Influenza And Prepare For A Possible Pandemic.
 - Over the past year, the U.S. Government has supported the training of more than 129,000 animal health workers and 17,000 human health workers in H5N1 surveillance and outbreak response.

- We have deployed more than 300,000 personal protective equipment kits to more than 70 countries for use by surveillance workers and outbreak-response teams.
- U.S. experts have provided vital technical expertise to national investigations of actual outbreaks of H5N1 in countries on three continents and provided technical assistance, commodities, and logistical or financial support to 39 of the 60 countries and jurisdictions affected by H5N1.
- The United States is supporting efforts to improve laboratory diagnosis and early warning networks in 75 countries.

- The United States Is Working To Expand On-The-Ground Surveillance Capacity And Improve Knowledge About The Movement And Changes In H5N1 On A Global Scale By:
 - o Creating the Wild Bird Global Avian Influenza Network for Surveillance project;
 - o Enhancing the Global Emerging Infections Surveillance and Response System;
 - o Funding the World Health Organization Global Outbreak Alert and Response Network;
 - o Expanding the network of Global Disease Detection Centers; and
 - o Providing the genome sequences of more than 2,250 human and avian influenza isolates as a result of the Influenza Genome Sequencing Project to track genetic changes in viral strains.

The United States Is Now Better Prepared To Respond To An Outbreak Of Pandemic Influenza

The United States Has Developed Protocols And Trained Personnel To Support An International Effort To Contain The Pandemic In Its Earliest Stages. We have pre-positioned stockpiles of personal protective equipment, decontamination kits, and antiviral medications overseas to complement global efforts to contain pandemic outbreaks.

In February 2007, The U.S. Government Released Federal Guidance For Non-Pharmaceutical Interventions For Mitigating The Impact Of A Pandemic. Recent scientific modeling and historical reviews of the 1918 pandemic suggest that non-pharmaceutical interventions could be very effective at slowing the spread of disease and mitigating an outbreak. With the use of antiviral medications, they could potentially prevent illness and death in millions of Americans, but only if they are implemented early and maintained consistently across communities affected by a pandemic. The Community Mitigation Guidance provides a clear roadmap for communities to accomplish these objectives.

The U.S. Government Has Invested In Health System Preparedness, Has Produced Tools To Assist In Planning For Expansion In Hospital Capacity During A Pandemic, And Is Stockpiling Critical Medical Supplies.

- The Community Planning Guide for Providing Mass Medical Care with Scarce Resources offers specific recommendations for providing the highest possible standard of care where resources are limited.

- The U.S. Government has invested $600 million over the past year for State and local preparedness efforts, including the exercising of community mitigation measures, medical surge plans, and

plans.

- The U.S. Government has developed new guidelines and protocols to enhance the delivery of EMS and 9-1-1 services during a pandemic.

We Have Provided Businesses With Practical, Action-Oriented Information To Identify Essential Functions, Protect The Health Of Employees, Maintain Continuity Of Business Operations, And Sustain Society.

- The U.S. Government has developed the *Pandemic Influenza Preparedness, Response, and Recovery Guide for Critical Infrastructure and Key Resources.

- The Federal Government has conducted more than 150 presentations, workshops, and forums attended by thousands of key stakeholders from critical infrastructure entities.
- Partners from Federal, State, local, territorial, and tribal emergency medical services, fire, emergency management, law enforcement, and public works departments have come together to develop best practices and model protocols, to coordinate pandemic preparedness activities, and to standardize all-hazards training and exercises.

We Have Made Significant Progress Over The Past Year, But Much Important Work Lies Ahead

Strengthening Disease Detection And Biosurveillance: We must redouble efforts to develop "real-time" clinical surveillance in the United States, so that we are able to target and refine our efforts more effectively during a pandemic.

Expanding Medical Capacity To Care For Large Numbers Of Ill Patients: Despite our investments and the development of guidance for communities, much more work is necessary to ensure that communities are prepared to care for the burden of illness that would be presented during a severe pandemic.

Addressing Global Needs: The U.S. Government is committed to working with the pharmaceutical industry, our international partners, and the World Health Organization to address global vaccine development and vaccine access.

Implementing Community Mitigation And Building Community Resilience: We must continue to work with non-Federal stakeholders to address practical implementation considerations, including legal and feasibility concerns.

The Administration Has Made Significant Investments In Vaccines, Antiviral Medications, And Research That Will Help Safeguard Our Nation And Benefit The World. The Administration is investing in the expansion of vaccine manufacturing capacity, the advanced development of new cell-based vaccines, vaccine-stretching technologies known as adjuvants, and the establishment and maintenance of pre-pandemic vaccine stockpiles.

- We have invested more than $1 billion in the development of new vaccine technologies.
- In April 2007, the U.S. Government approved the first pre-pandemic vaccine for humans against the H5N1 virus. We currently have enough of this pre-pandemic H5N1 vaccine for approximately 6 million people.
- The U.S. Government has invested more than $100 million in adjuvants. Initial clinical studies suggest that adjuvants to H5N1 vaccines could stretch our vaccine supply 10- to 20-fold.
- As of June 2007, Federal and State stockpiles contain enough antiviral medications to treat nearly 50 million people.
- The U.S. Government is developing new antiviral medications to further broaden our capabilities.

Limiting the Domestic Spread of a Pandemic and Mitigating Disease, Suffering, and Death

Should an influenza pandemic reach the United States, our primary focus will be to safeguard the health of the U.S. population. Our ability to accomplish this goal will require: (1) effective surveillance for influenza outbreaks, including improved diagnostic tests; (2) the rapid development, production, and distribution of vaccine; (3) the targeted and effective use of antiviral medications; (4) the application of community mitigation measures; (5) the expansion of hospital and medical care capability; and (6) effective communication of risk reduction strategies. Although we still have much to do in these areas, progress has been made on each of these fronts over the past year.

Enhancing Clinical Surveillance and Response

The U.S. Government is working to enhance the Nation's ability to detect and respond early and effectively to a pandemic, particularly through partnerships with State and local governments.

To better detect first cases of pandemic influenza in a community, the U.S. Government has provided resources to State and local health departments to increase the number of sentinel providers, to improve laboratory detection at public health laboratories, to support an influenza coordinator in each jurisdiction, and to educate clinicians to increase testing for and detection of influenza infection. The Sentinel Provider Network includes approximately 2,300 healthcare providers nationwide who report the number of weekly outpatient visits for influenza-like illness and submit specimens to State public health laboratories for influenza virus testing. This information helps identify emerging influenza strains and monitor disease patterns.

Since 2003, the Federal Government had designated $5 million per year for the States bordering Canada and Mexico to create and maintain an Early Warning Infectious Disease Surveillance System. This system is a unique collaboration of State, Federal, and international partners who work together to provide rapid and effective laboratory confirmation of urgent infectious disease case reports in the border regions of the United States, Canada, and Mexico. More recently, the border surveillance system has expanded to include, among other activities, 11 border pandemic influenza tabletop exercises, which included testing response by local personnel to the arrival of inbound flights with ill passengers.

In partnership with the Council of State and Territorial Epidemiologists (CSTE), the Federal

practitioners at local, State, and national levels provide weekly information about specific diseases occurring in the 50 States, 5 territories, New York City, and the District of Columbia. In January 2007, the CSTE adopted an interim position statement that added "novel influenza A virus infections" to its list of reportable diseases. This action will help activate timely and appropriate health responses to human infections that might have pandemic potential and meets WHO's International Health Regulations 2005 revision that member states report human infections with new human influenza viruses.

The U.S. Laboratory Response Network (LRN), which includes State public health laboratories, has the capacity to perform tests using the real-time reverse transcriptase-polymerase chain reaction (RT-PCR) technique. All 50 States are prepared to conduct initial testing of suspected human infection with H5N1 within 24 hours of receipt, using RT-PCR primers and probes developed and validated at the CDC. Reagents and protocols for testing for H5 influenza have been distributed to 99 LRN laboratories throughout the country

BIO TERRORISM HR 1585 AGENDA!

Bioterror Brain Drain

http://www.prospect.org/cs/articles?article=bioterror_brain_drain

Infectious-disease specialists are following the big bucks to Washington's new multibillion-dollar program on bioterrorism research -- but at what human cost? (This article first appeared October 2003 in The American Prospect Magazine)

DR. MARCUS HORWITZ, PROFESSOR OF MEDICINE AT THE University of California, Los Angeles, has devoted most of his career to finding a vaccine for tuberculosis. Though the age-old killer is well controlled in the industrialized world, TB kills more than 2 million people each year among the global poor.

It's not a sexy field: Compared with funding for heart-disease, HIV/AIDS or cancer research, National Institutes of Health money for TB research is a minor blip. Applied research into potential TB cures and vaccines is not a priority for the agency, or for drug companies, which see no profitable market among the poor. Still, after 15 years of research funded mainly by the NIH, Horwitz's lab has finally come up with what could be the first improvement in TB vaccination technology in nearly a century. His vaccine is being tested among a small group of patients, and a nonprofit drug development organization funded by the Bill and Melinda Gates Foundation is committed to sponsoring the full-blown efficacy trials if his early experiment proves successful.

So why, on the cusp of real progress, is Horwitz's lab phasing out its basic science research on TB in favor of studying tularemia, the bacterium spread by ticks and rodents that causes rabbit fever?

Because tularemia is on the government's A-list of potential bioterrorism agents, put there because the United States and the former Soviet Union stockpiled it as a biological warfare agent during the Cold War. Today, Washington is throwing plenty of money at basic research of the pathogen even though it affects only a few hundred Americans a year, is relatively rare around the world and is easily treatable with common antibiotics.

Even if it did fall into the hands of terrorists, the threat would hardly be grave: The disease is difficult to weaponize and, when treated, is fatal in fewer than 2 percent of cases. "Scientists call it money transferase," says Horwitz. In his case, the $ 200,000 he's received annually to study one of the globe's most virulent killers, TB, will now mainly go to study a disease whose significance is primarily symbolic in the war on terrorism.

It's a scenario that's being played out across the country. Since the 2001 attacks, Congress has poured billions into bioterrorism research aimed at developing vaccines and drugs to combat the most likely threat agents. Indeed, the amount of money being directed at bioterrorism defense will soon make it the second-largest (after cancer) results-oriented medical-research program of the post -- Cold War era. And that has led the tiny fraternity of research scientists who've devoted their lives to studying infectious disease to expand or alter their research priorities in order to tap into the huge pot of money the government has set aside for bioterrorism research. Dr. Richard Guerrant, director of the Center for Global Health at the University of Virginia, for example, has tailored a few of his grants to win biodefense funding.

"[You] adopt what you do to attract the resources that are necessary," he said, adding that several of his colleagues at the center have shifted their "whole approach to tularemia and anthrax because of the availability of funding."

The drive to protect the nation against potential bioterrorism agents is having a major impact on the entire medical-research establishment. Direct spending on bioterrorism research and development by the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (the lead NIH agency in bioterrorism defense research) and the Department of Defense soared from an annual $ 250 million pre -- anthrax attacks to well over $ 2 billion this year, turning it almost overnight into a larger program than HIV/AIDS was in its heyday. By comparison, the NIH last year spent less than $ 200 million on tuberculosis and malaria combined.

Meanwhile, the rest of the nation's medical-research budget is facing its first restrictive environment in decades. The NIH's overall research budget will rise only at the rate of inflation next year -- far below the double-digit increases of the Clinton years. The belt-tightening prompted virtually every medical school and patient-advocacy group in the country to sign full-page ads in The Washington Post last summer protesting the situation.

Meanwhile, Congress upped the ante this summer by quietly approving President George W. Bush's Project BioShield, a $ 5.6 billion fund to purchase the fruits of biodefense research.

The bill gives the administration the power to negotiate a fair market price for the new drugs and vaccines once the Department of Health and Human Services secretary has determined that there's no commercial market. The price will presumably be based on what the drug companies invested in order to come up with the as-yet-undiscovered therapeutics, plus the industry's standard rate of return -- which, as Fortune magazine points out every year, ranks No. 1 among U.S. industries.

The idea behind BioShield is to entice for-profit pharmaceutical and biotech firms to invest in anti-terrorism therapeutics, as they've made it plain that they won't ride to the nation's rescue unless they're lured with a guaranteed payoff. Eli Lilly head Sidney Taurel, who recently drew fire from liberals on Capitol Hill for pushing for drug-industry liability exemptions from his perch atop the Homeland Security Advisory Council, indecorously encapsulated the industry's attitude in his public testimony last year.

"Government is not going to get new miracle drugs for cost plus 10 percent," he said. Unlike run-of-the-mill defense contractors, the very profitable drug companies appear to have better uses for their capital.

Even with this pot of gold at the end of the research-and-development rainbow, the path to a payoff will be long and tortuous. The biggest problem is scientific.

Finding antidotes to infectious disease isn't easy. It will take years, in some cases decades, to develop new or more effective vaccines and drugs to combat anthrax, botulism, smallpox, tularemia and the other pathogens on the government's list of agents likely to be weaponized by nations or groups hoping to wreak havoc on the United States.

No wonder major pharmaceutical companies are reluctant to dive in. Why invest in risky biodefense products when there are more lucrative heartburn-, allergy-and pain-relief markets to pursue?

Republicans in Congress seemed to recognize the flaw in relying on the market to protect the public against bioterrorism. During the bill's markup last June, they slipped in an amendment allowing the government to manufacture the drugs and vaccines directly if procuring them from private contractors proves too costly.

THE ABOVE IS BOYDEN GRAY'S WRITTEN PLAN TO WIPE OUT MILLIONS OF PEOPLE UNDER ANOTHER DISGUISE OF A PHENOMENON. WAKE UP AMERICA!

Another problem is that even if these drugs were developed quickly, the effectiveness of the new therapeutics would remain in doubt. Most anti-bioterrorism drugs would never get the extensive clinical trial testing usually demanded by the Food and Drug Administration because there is no naturally occurring patient population on which to test them. Special exemptions have been built into the laws that allow vaccines to gain approval with only limited safety testing.

If the public's reluctance to line up for the smallpox vaccine is any guide, new biodefense vaccines would simply be put on the shelf for the day when a coordinated and large-scale bioterrorist attack makes the public receptive to mass inoculation.

For many anti-bioterrorism agents, their first use would also be their first clinical trial. Furthermore, a lot of the basic research money pouring into biodefense would be wasted on poor quality research. It's an inevitable outcome of the NIH peer-review process. Those familiar with the process say the closed-door panels divide applications into three piles: those that will get funded, those that will get funded if there's enough money and those in the "no way" pile.

The sudden influx of funding inevitably means "you're reaching applications with less scientific merit," says Richard Ebright, who directs the chemistry lab at the Waksman Institute of Microbiology at Rutgers University.

"There will be an enormous increase of people moving into bioterrorism, particularly people who have difficulty getting their grants funded." A similar process is under way in the private sector. Small biotechnology companies running out of venture capital are abandoning other projects to apply to the NIH for the small-business components of the anti-bioterrorism program.

Most disappointing of all, the majority of the applied research supported by the government -- the actual development of candidate drugs and vaccines for potential bioterrorism agents -- would have little effect on the diseases that pose the gravest threat to humankind.

Dr. Anthony Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases (NIAID) and a leading figure in the nation's biodefense effort, claims there will be many "spin-offs" from beefing up bioterrorism defense research. He argues on the agency's Web site that "NIAID research on organisms with bioterror potential will almost certainly lead to an enhanced understanding of other more common and naturally occurring infectious diseases that afflict people here and abroad," like TB and malaria.

But enhanced understanding is not a cure. Vaccine research is almost always pathogen specific, as are most new drugs to combat viral diseases. And the number of people worldwide who suffer from smallpox, botulism, Ebola or anthrax in the absence of deliberate poisonings wouldn't fill up the tuberculosis ward in a small African city.

"It's distracting from global health," said Dr. Carol Nacy, founder of the Sequella Global Tuberculosis Foundation (which will fund Horwitz's large-scale TB trial) and now head of a small biotech firm researching TB drugs. "We'll learn some things [from bioterrorism research] that are relevant, but not much."

So far, she seems to be right. Far from pursuing spinoff, many scientists are shifting their priorities to follow the money. Johnny Peterson, a professor of microbiology and immunology at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston, has been studying cholera since his graduate-student days in the late 1960s.

Periodic outbreaks of dehydrating diarrhoeal diseases like cholera and dysentery kill an estimated 2 million children around the world every year because their bodies are so severely weakened by a lack of fluids and undernourishment, according to the Population Resource Center. (

While those numbers aren't relatively large, cholera is a serious problem because children who survive it almost always suffer long-term damage.) Peterson has spent decades looking for compounds that block the bacterium's toxin, which leads to diarrhea, dehydration and death, and he's come up with at least one.

But last year he saw that the compound might also block the related anthrax toxin, so he applied for a grant to study that. "We're trying to make hay when the sun is out," Peterson said. While he's hiring more scientists and will continue studying the basic science of cholera, his plans to seek a grant to apply his work to potential cholera therapeutics have been put on hold. "Perhaps we can pursue it in the future," he said.

There will be some positive spinoffs from increased biodefense spending, to be sure. Money hopefully will get channeled into rebuilding the nation's network of public-health clinics, which were created to cope with the epidemics that ravaged America's cities over a century ago.

The recent SARS outbreak reminded everyone of the importance of having an infrastructure able to rapidly diagnose and understand newly emerging diseases.

There will also be a major hunt for new "broad spectrum" antibiotics -- drugs that are effective against a range of bacterial diseases including those that actually

people.

There will be new research tools developed that can be deployed in the hunt for cures or vaccines for any infectious disease. This is especially important in an era when older antibiotics are rapidly becoming ineffective due to resistance brought on by over-prescription, improper use and the inevitable mutations of wily microbes.

But who will own these new antibiotics? And who will test them against diseases like multidrug resistant TB, a growing global threat? Unlike their use as anti-bioterrorism agents, these new drugs will have to be tested against each specific disease before regulators here or abroad allow them into widespread use.

And the basic economics of who conducts such tests will not be changed by BioShield's purchasing of biodefense research: Only testing for use against potential terrorism agents will be funded; research into secondary uses will not. For their part, the biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries have not invested in developing drugs for the major infectious disease killers for the same reasons they under invest in rare diseases in the United States: there's no market.

For diseases like malaria, leishmaniasis and cholera, the market's absence isn't defined by the small number of patients but by the fact that the millions of patients have no money. Testing a new antibiotic that is effective against anthrax to see if it is also effective against tuberculosis will require that it be tested against tuberculosis.

And that will require money that no drug company wants to spend. It would be a terrible denouement for the spinoff promise if the new and untested anti-terrorism drugs get stockpiled in military warehouses while scientists who want to test them on sick populations can't because they don't have the rights or the money to conduct the tests.

One way to get around this problem would be for the government to earmark a good portion of the $ 2 billion -- plus for anti -- bioterrorism research -

- say, one-quarter of it -- for targeted research and development toward new therapeutics to combat the great neglected diseases that kill millions each year. This will not detract from the war on bioterrorism; it will enhance it. How?

Spinoff works in both directions. A new antibiotic that cures multidrug resistant TB may be just what we need for the day when a mad scientist-terrorist figures out a way to aerosolize tularemia over one of our cities.

And unlike some new antibiotic developed with that remote

bioterrorism threat in mind, the new antibiotic will have been tested in large clinical trials, so its side effects will be well characterized. And it's not only good science, it's good politics. As one scientist put it, by joining the fight against the infectious diseases ravaging the developing world, the United States can help drain the swamp that breeds terrorists. "[It] is a very clear way to address ideologically the threat of bioterrorism," said Guerrant of the Center for Global Health.

"If we can do something about diarrhea or malaria, that will affect my children's future security better than anything else we can do."

Mark R. Dybul

Thank you very much for joining me for this discussion prior to World AIDS Day. This morning, I joined President Bush and Mrs. Bush at a small church in Maryland, where they met with representatives of faith-based groups that are working to care for people living with HIV and prevent others from getting the virus. This morning, to commemorate World AIDS Day, the President announced the latest results achieved by his Emergency Plan for AIDS Relief, or PEPFAR. In severely affected countries around the world, PEPFAR has supported antiretroviral treatment for approximately 1.45 million people. We've also made exciting progress in the areas of prevention and care, demonstrating the power of partnerships with the people of the world – including governments, non-governmental organizations including faith- and community-based organizations and the private sector. These partnerships are building capacity that will allow communities to sustain their efforts long after the Emergency Plan.

I look forward to answering your questions. Please visit our website, www.PEPFAR.gov, for more information on how the American people are working in partnership with the people of the world to fight global HIV/AIDS.

Marty, from St. Peters Missouri writes:

What has President Bush done in the last seven years to help stop the spread of AIDS?

Mark R. Dybul

In 2003, with bipartisan Congressional support, President Bush announced the Emergency Plan – a five-year, $15-billion, comprehensive approach to combating

HIV/AIDS around the world. The program is the largest commitment ever by a single nation toward an international public health initiative. The United States now leads the world in its level of support for the fight against HIV/AIDS.

Through the Emergency Plan, the U.S. Government is working with international, national and local leaders worldwide to support integrated prevention, treatment and care programs. PEPFAR employs the most diverse prevention, treatment and care strategy in the world, with an emphasis on transparency and accountability for results. The goals of the Emergency Plan include support for treatment for 2 million HIV infected people, support for prevention of 7 million new infections, and support for care for 10 million people infected or affected by HIV/AIDS.

The Success of the Emergency Plan is firmly rooted in partnerships,

in the American people working hand in hand with the people of the world to build systems and to empower individuals, communities and nations to tackle HIV/AIDS. And in just three and one-half years, it is working. As I mentioned, PEPFAR is supporting antiretroviral treatment for 1.45 million people. Through September 30 of this year, PEPFAR has also supported prevention of mother-to-child HIV transmission services for women during more than 10 million pregnancies; antiretroviral prophylaxis for women during 800,000 pregnancies;

prevention of an estimated 152,000 infant infections; care for nearly 6.7 million, including care for more than 2.7 million orphans and vulnerable children; and over 30 million counseling and testing sessions for men, women and children.

Hwang, from South Korea writes:
How Much Bush administration spends in fighting AIDS or HIV? And where is t he most needed place in the world?

Mark R. Dybul

Through 2008, the Bush Administration expects to provide approximately

$18.3 billion to fight HIV/AIDS abroad. The American people will have committed $48.3 billion over 10 years to fight HIV/AIDS internationally if Congress continues to support the President's plan, including his proposal to provide $30 billion over the next five years. For more information on U.S. Government support for the fight against global HIV/AIDS, see our Funding fact sheet at <http://www.pepfar.gov/press/80064.htm>.

The majority of this funding goes to support programs in 15 “focus countries” that are, together, home to approximately half of the people living with HIV/AIDS worldwide. Twelve of these focus countries are located in sub-Saharan Africa, which, with 22.5 million people living with HIV/AIDS, is the hardest-hit region in the world.

China, from KCMO writes:

Ambassador Dybul; what is the purpose of World AIDS Day?

Mark R. Dybul

World AIDS Day is an opportunity to remember the more than 20 million people who have died from approximately 33 million people who are currently living with HIV.

It is also a time to recommit ourselves to compassionate action and the power of partnerships that are creating new hope. The U.S. Government theme for World AIDS Day this year is “The Power of Partnerships” to highlight the successes and future promise of partnerships in the fight against HIV/AIDS. Working together through partnerships, the American people and the people of the world can and will achieve much more in the fight against HIV/AIDS. The international theme for World AIDS Day this year is "Stop AIDS: Keep the Promise," and the United States is doing just that.

Carrie, from Austin, TX writes:
PEPFAR seems to have made a big difference in Africa, but there seems to be so much more work to do. How do you prioritize your treatment efforts?
Thank you for your service to our country

Regards, Carrie

Mark R. Dybul

As I've said, sub-Saharan Africa is the hardest hit region in the world,

with 68 percent of the people living with HIV/AIDS and 76 percent of AIDS deaths occurring in the region.

The U.S. has therefore focused its efforts there, because that's where they're most needed. But the U.S. is also working in other regions; two of the focus countries, Haiti and Guyana, are located in the Caribbean, and a third, Vietnam, is located in Asia.

Along with the focus countries, we also have other bilateral programs all around the world, which have received approximately 12 percent of PEPFAR funds. Here you can find out more about the countries where we are privileged to work in support of host countries and national HIV/AIDS strategies.

And, finally, the U.S. is the largest contributor to the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis and Malaria, having contributed more than $2.5 billion to support its worldwide programming. The Fund plays a critical role in our strategy and provides other nations with a vehicle to sharply increase their contributions to the fight, as the American people have done.

Ricky, from Boston writes:

Dear Ambassador

Dybyl, My high school history class has just finished studying the AIDS Epidemic and its history. At one point during the lesson, we discussed the idea (because my teacher saw an article about it) that the AIDS Epidemic has reached its peak and is slowly beginning to fall. Do you agree with this idea? Thanks for taking the time to answer my question.

Mark R. Dybul

UNAIDS and the World Health

Organization recently released a report in which they revised the number of people living with HIV/AIDS worldwide

million to 33.2

million. The reduction was due primarily to changes in the way they calculate the estimates,

but they also reported that, over the past few years, the number of people becoming newly infected with HIV and the number of people dying of AIDS has dropped slightly. This is certainly good news, but there is still a lot of work to be done. With 6,800 new infections and 5,700 deaths due to AIDS every day, we must continue to expand our efforts in the fight against HIV/AIDS. For further thoughts on the report, please see <http://www.pepfar.gov/press/95461.htm>.

REMBER SATANIST REVESE EVERYTHING FROM THE NORM. READ THE ABOVE AND FIGURE IT OUT!

Stefany, from Washington, DC writes:
What types of programs does PEPFAR support with the private sectors in the local communities?

Mark R. Dybul

HIV/AIDS. We use public-private partnerships (PPPs) to bring HIV/AIDS interventions to scale, enhance the effectiveness of programs, and fully integrate the gains that PEPFAR is supporting into the future health and development plans of partner countries.

For example, the Mututa Memorial Center in Zambia that Mrs. Bush visited in June has benefited from a public-private partnership that has distributed approximately 500,000

long-lasting insecticide-treated nets that provide protection against malaria. You can read Mrs. Bush's remarks at Mututa at <http://www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/2007/06/20070628-5.html>.

The founder of the Mututa Center, Mrs. Chilufya, was kind enough to travel from Zambia to join the President and Mrs. Bush at this morning's event in Maryland.

Our website has an entire section dedicated to public-private partnerships: <http://www.pepfar.gov/c19654.htm>.

Sally, from Baltimore, MD writes:
What is the status with regard to Bush's plan to provide PEPFAR with another $30 million dollars? Is that enough money to tackle this problem?

Mark R. Dybul

On May 30, 2007, President Bush proposed an additional $30 billion to fight global HIV/AIDS over the next five years, a doubling of the initial U.S. commitment. Along with this he proposed setting new goals – increasing the number of infections prevented from 7 to 12 million, those supported on treatment from 2 to 2.5 million, and those supported on care from 10 to 12 million, including 5 million orphans and vulnerable children.

Here is more information on what the President proposed:

<http://www.whitehouse.gov/news/releases/2007/05/20070530-5.html>.

President Bush challenged the G-8 leaders to respond to the U.S. commitment, and in June, the G-8 committed $ 60 billion dollars to support HIV/AIDS, tuberculosis and malaria programs over the next few years. For the first time, the other G-8 leaders agreed to join America in supporting country-owned, national programs to meet specific,

numerical goals: support treatment for 5 million people, prevent 24 million

new infections, and care for 24 million people, including 10 million orphans and vulnerable children.

As you can see, with the $30 billion commitment the U.S. will be supporting half of the total G-8 commitment, reaffirming the United States' historic leadership in the global fight against HIV/AIDS. The American people's generosity and compassion remain strong.

Lucy, from Los Angeles writes:

Ambassador

Dybul: How close are we to finding a cure for HIV and AIDS?

Mark R. Dybul

Many dedicated people, including researchers at the National Institutes of Health (I used to be one), are working hard to advance science to allow us to cure HIV/AIDS. NIH is making a massive investment in finding both a vaccine that can prevent HIV infection and a cure for those infected.

Unfortunately, we are not yet close to finding either a vaccine or a cure for HIV/AIDS. For now, we must talk about HIV as a chronic disease, requiring lifelong treatment and care. Like many chronic diseases we're not able to cure – diabetes, hypertension – HIV is a chronic infectious disease which we can treat, not cure. And most importantly, we must make the best possible use of the prevention approaches we currently have available – and PEPFAR is leading in this area with the world's most diverse range of prevention activities.

Carole, from NYC writes:

I would like to get more involved in the fight against HIV/AIDS, what can my family and I do? Sincerely, Carole

Mark R. Dybul

I always like it when I get questions like this – and I get a lot of them – because it shows the tremendous compassion and generosity of the American people.

There are a couple of things you can do right now. You can look on our website for all of the organizations that we fund

(<http://www.pepfar.gov/partners/>). Many of these organizations, as well as many others, are doing great work on HIV/AIDS and rely on contributions from private citizens, and you might consider supporting them.

In terms of contributing, we also encourage people to support the Global Fund to Fight AIDS, Tuberculosis, and Malaria. The United States is the largest contributor to the Global Fund, and I represent the U.S. on its Board. But the Global Fund is also a great way for private citizens to contribute.

Mark R. Dybul

Thank you very much for your questions!
World AIDS Day is an opportunity to remember the more than 20 million people who have died from AIDS and support the approximately 33 million people who are currently living with HIV. It is also a time to recommit ourselves to compassionate action and the power of partnerships that are creating new hope.

The Role of Color Coding in Medication Error Reduction

Note: This report represents information on this subject as of June 2004.

At the 2003 Annual Meeting of the American Medical Association's (AMA) House of

of 1992 and 1993 House Policies," recommended that AMA Policy H-115.976 (AMA Policy Database) be rescinded. Policy H-115.976 states:

The AMA encourages the pharmaceutical industry to adopt standards developed by the American Society of Anesthesiology and endorsed by the American Society for Testing and Materials for the color coding of all vials and ampules in hospital operating suites.

The CSA recommended that this policy be rescinded because experts in the field of medication errors do not believe color

coding – with a few exceptions – is the correct approach to reduce medication errors and that bar coding will likely be the better approach. Furthermore, the CSA believed Policy H-115.976 was actually a "directive" that is now more than ten years old.

The House of Delegates referred this matter back to the CSA for an evaluation of the merits of color coding in reducing medication errors. The purpose of the current report is to determine the role of color coding in medication error reduction.

Methods

Literature searches were conducted in the MEDLINE database for English-language articles published between 1966 and January 2004 using the search terms color, olour or color coding, in combination with medication or medication errors, drug [and injectable], anesthesia or anaesthesia, ophthalmic or ophthalmology or eye, and injectable or ampule. A total of 696 citations were identified; 530 of these were unrelated to the issue of color coding and medication errors, leaving 136 citations for further analysis.

Literature searches also were conducted in the International Pharmaceutical Abstracts database for English-language articles published between 1970 and January 2004 using the search terms color or coding or code, in combination with drug or medication or injectable. A total of 744 citations were identified; 721 of these were unrelated to the issue of color coding and medication errors, leaving 23 citations for further analysis.

Additional references were identified from the bibliographies of articles obtained via the above literature searches.

In addition to literature searches, information on the role of color coding in medication error reduction was obtained by direct communication with experts in the field at the Institute for Safe Medication Practices (ISMP), the American Society of Health-System Pharmacists (ASHP), the United States Pharmacopeia (USP), and the Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

Results

Terminology. Color has been used in three distinct ways to reduce errors in medicine. Color matching is used to match one item to another. For example, a medical device may have a blue plug that inserts into a blue receptacle, a yellow plug that inserts into a yellow receptacle, and so forth. Color matching is rarely used to match pharmaceutical products and there is no evidence to prove its value for this purpose.¹ Color matching will not be considered further in this report.

Color differentiation involves the use of color to distinguish one product from another. For example, color differentiation has been used on drug product labels to prevent confusion among products within a manufacturer's product line (e.g., so pharmacists can efficiently find and select medications from storage areas). Color differentiation also is used to draw attention to specific portions of a drug product label (e.g., to highlight a warning or the concentration of a drug). While color differentiation has not been scientifically proven to prevent medication errors, there are a number of anecdotal examples where this has been used successfully to reduce medication errors.² Color differentiation will not be considered further in this report.

Color coding is the systematic, standard application of a color system to aid in the classification and identification of drug products. A color coding system allows people to memorize a color and match it to its function.^{1,2} for pharmaceutical products that are intended to reduce medication errors.

Perhaps the simplest and most widely known color coding system is the USP's black-cap packaging requirements for Potassium Chloride for Injection

Concentrate. In response to reports of deaths due to accidental injection of concentrated potassium chloride injections, in 1993 the USP mandated that the cap of the container vial and the overseal be colored in black and bear the words, "Must be Diluted." Product containers also must carry the following boxed warning: CONCENTRATE MUST BE DILUTED BEFORE USE. The use of a black closure system on a vial is prohibited, except for Potassium Chloride for Injection Concentrate.³

Aluvia to Treat HIV Positive Children

Jane Nafula

Released : Thursday, December 06, 2007 6:11 AM

Dec 06, 2007 (The Monitor/All Africa Global Media via COMTEX) -- Uganda is the first African country to use the Aluvia paediatric drug that improves the health of children whose bodies are resistant to the first line of ARVs treatment.

8-year-old Tim (not real name) was born with HIV/Aids. He survived on Antiretroviral Drugs for six years after which the virus became resistant to the drugs. And for the last two years, Tim's life has been hanging in balance because there was no alternative drug that would reduce the viral load (the level of the virus in the blood).

"We have been giving him septrin tablets to treat the opportunistic infections like cough but his health has been deteriorating every other day. I really don't know why he became resistant to ARVs," said Tim's mother who prefers to be identified as Namubiru.

As Tim's parents were still searching for a way to prolong their son's life, the government through the Joint Clinical Research Centre (JCRC) contacted Abbott Laboratories in the United States to supply Uganda with Aluvia, a paediatric Aids drug that improves the health of children whose bodies are resistant to the first line of ARVs treatment.

The World Health Organisation recommends use of Aluvia (lopinavir/ritonavir) as options for the treatment of children who no longer respond to the first line of HIV medicines. The US department of Health and Human Medicine also recommends the same medicine for initial treatment of children with HIV.

Abbott is a global health care company involved in the discovery, development, manufacture and marketing of pharmaceuticals and medical products.

Uganda is the first African country to use the Aluvia paediatric drug and Tim was privileged to be the first child living with Aids in Africa to receive the drug.

President Yoweri Museveni handed over a packet of Aluvia to Tim after launching it at JCRC on December 1.

Parents thronged to JCRC on World Aids day to register their children for this medication. About 60 children will be the first people to benefit and there after, the drug will be distributed countrywide. More than 2 million children living with HIV in the endemic countries stand to benefit from the drug.

Better option

The Director of JCRC, Dr Peter Mugenyi said the introduction of the second line treatment for children living with HIV/Aids will help restore hope for millions of parents and children who would otherwise face a bleak future, adding that the new drug will enforce compliance because it is easy to swallow, doesn't need to be refrigerated, and one doesn't have to take a meal before taking it as is the case with other medicines.

"Adherence to ARVs has been difficult especially among children because of lack of paediatric formulation," he said.

According to him, JCRC will get a grant of $1m (about Shs1.8b) from President Bush's Emergency Plan for Aids Relief (PEPFA) to restock all their branches with life saving drugs and also establish new ones to reach out to more people.

The Regional Director of Abbott International, Mr Angelo Kondes said Abbott's effort to provide for African children is part of its five point global strategy to expand access to HIV treatment around the world.

"We developed Aluvia with distinct needs of children in the developing world in mind," Kondes said, explaining that nine of every 10 children with HIV live in Sub-Saharan Africa where Uganda falls.

According to the Joint United Nations Programme on HIV/Aids (UNAIDS) and the World Health Organisation (WHO), in 2006, an estimated 2.5 million children under the age of 15 were living with HIV/Aids worldwide.

Last year alone, an estimated 530,000 children were infected with HIV, and 380,000 others died of Aids.

Kondes also said that HIV/Aids is a global problem that demands shared commitment and responsibility, adding that Abbott and Abbott Fund are investing more than $100m (about Shs180b) in developing countries through their global Aids care programmes focusing on strengthening health care systems, helping children affected by HIV/Aids, preventing mother to child transmission of HIV, and expanding access to counselling and testing.

According to Mr Dirk Van Eeden, The director of HIV/Aids communication and policy at Abbott international, it took them seven years to develop this drug, which is being supplied to Uganda at a cheaper price. "The government will spend about $250 per child per year. Aluvia is cheaper than any other generics. We are giving a bigger discount to African countries than to Europe," he added.

Statistics indicate that about 110,000 children who are less than 15 years in Uganda are living with HIV/Aids and of these, 47,000 have advanced Aids and are in need of antiretroviral therapy.

Only 9,500 children were accessing treatment by the end of September 2007.

President Museveni said children who are well treated can live a pain free life, grow normally, and become responsible adults.

"Children should not lose hope. We are going to protect them so they can grow up, study and exploit their talents."

He believes poor adherence to antiretroviral drugs is one of the factors responsible for drug resistance.

Health experts say patients are not adhering to treatment due to stigma associated with the disease, drug exhaustion and lack of defined formulations especially for children.

Mr Museveni also says the management of paediatric Aids in Uganda has lagged behind that of the adults and that it should be given the necessary attention, adding that prevention of mother to child transmission of HIV/Aids is an important intervention in preventing the spread of the virus among children.

"We should stop children from contracting the disease than waiting for them to get infected to seek treatment. Supposing all

Ugandans become infected

, will we manage the burden of treating them?"

Mother to child transmission of Aids is the second largest mode of transmitting the virus and it accounts for about 21 percent of the new infections while sexual transmission accounts for 76 percent and the 3 percent is through other modes including blood transfusion. Every year, about 250,000 children are born with HIV in Uganda.

A mother who is HIV positive can transmit the virus to her baby during pregnancy, labour and delivery, or breastfeeding.

Women who have reached the advanced stages of the disease require a combination of ARVs for their own health.

Doctors say ARVs reduce the risk of mother-to-child transmission by 50- 60 percent. The Director General of Uganda Aids Commission, Dr Kihumuro Apuuli says currently, mothers are being encouraged to test for HIV whenever they go for routine antenatal care at health centres and that those found with HIV are given treatment to improve their health and also avoid passing on the virus to their unborn babies.

The First Lady, Ms Janet Museveni said Ugandans have become complacent due to availability of ARVs, cautioning that these drugs are not a cure but they simply reduce the viral load and that preventive strategies should be re-activated instead of relying on the drugs.

"Relying of treatment alone is negligence. These drugs simply treat opportunistic infections but they don't cure Aids," she said, adding that although more children get the virus from their mothers, very few HIV-positive pregnant women have access to drugs that reduce the risk of mother to child infection like Neverapin.

"We need to do more even if Uganda has been applauded as a success story in the fight against HIV/Aids. "The prevalence rate that has stagnated at 6.4 percent is bad enough and we should not allow this to continue," she advised.

MULTIPLE PERSONALITY SERIAL KILLER BOYDEN GRAY

AS: Marc Maurer, President

President, National Federation of the blind.

Maurer was honored with the Maryland Black Caucus's Leadership Award in 1985, the United States

Presidential Medal for Leadership in 1990, the 1990 Heritage Award from the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, and the Baltimore Business Journal's 1999 Innovation Award for Excellence in Workplace Technology. Recent honors include the 2002 VME Robert Dole Award and the Daily Record's 2002 Innovator of the Year award. He joined President George W. Bush in the Oval Office in July of 2001 to celebrate the success of the NFB Everest Expedition and once again when President Bush signed into law the Help America Vote Act of 2002. He received honorary degrees from California's Menlo College in 1998 and the University of Louisville in 1999. In 1987 he delivered an address at the Kennedy School of Government at Harvard University, and in 2000 he was invited to deliver addresses on civil rights at Oxford University and Birmingham University in the United Kingdom. He is now editor of the NFB's Kernel Book series of optimistic paperbacks written by blind people about blindness.

Dear Move On member,

Jamie Leigh Jones was a 20-year-old woman working in Iraq for a subsidiary of Halliburton when she was drugged and brutally gang-raped by several co-workers.

The next day, Halliburton told her that if she left Iraq to get medical treatment, she could lose her job.¹ Jamie's story gets even more horrific: For the last two years, she's been asking the US government to hold the perpetrators accountable. But the men who raped her may never be brought to justice because

Halliburton and other contractors in Iraq aren't subject to US or Iraqi laws. They can't be tried for a crime in any court.² This is one of the most disturbing stories we have come across in a while. We're calling on Congress to investigate Jamie's case, hold those involved accountable, and bring US contractors under the jurisdiction of US law so this can't happen again. If hundreds of thousands of us speak out against this outrageous story, we can force Congress to take action.

Can you sign the petition? The text is in the blue box at the right. Clicking below will add your name.

http://pol.moveon.org/contractors_accountable/o.pl?id=11800-7699947-qNjWlg&t=3

After you sign, please forward this email to friends, family and colleagues—we all need to speak out together.

When you get an email from us, it doesn't usually include a graphic description of a brutal attack. But when we heard this story, we knew we had to do something about it.

Here's how Jamie described what happened after the attack:

I awoke the next morning in the barracks to find my naked body battered and bruised. I was still groggy from whatever had been put in my drink. I was bleeding... After getting to the clinic and having a rape kit performed...I was locked in a container with no food, no way to call my parents, and was placed under armed guard by Halliburton.³

Jamie's attackers aren't the only ones exploiting a legal loophole to get away with their violent crimes. Another female employee of Halliburton says she was raped by her co-workers in Iraq.⁴ Employees of Blackwater, another private contracting firm in Iraq, were accused of killing innocent Iraqi civilians, and that incident turned into an international scandal. Worst of all, they may never be punished.⁵

Private contractors in Iraq are making massive amounts of money, operating above the law and are accountable to no one. This has to stop.

Congress needs to act now to bring these contractors under the rule of law. If they don't, nothing will prevent a case like Jamie's from happening again. No man or woman working in Iraq should have to fear that they can be attacked without consequences.

Please sign on to the petition: "Congress must investigate the rape of Jamie Leigh Jones and others, hold those involved accountable, and bring US contractors under the jurisdiction of US law." Clicking below adds your name:

Emergency Medicine's links with rural Alberta strong and multi-faceted

The University's Department of Emergency Medicine has a long and cooperative relationship with rural Alberta, says the Chief of Emergency Medicine at the University of Alberta Hospital, Brian Holroyd.

"Our Department supports emergency medicine skills upgrading for rural MDs through a Rural Physician Action Plan-supported program, coordinated by Rob Daloise, one of our clinical faculty," he explains. "This allows rural MDs to do several months of clinical work in a Capital Health emergency department working with EM faculty to improve their EM assessment and procedural skills."

In addition, emergency medicine faculty members have participated in a Rural EM Update Conference in Jasper, explains Dr. Holroyd. This was co-sponsored by the Department and Roche up to this past year. Then, Roche assumed entire responsibility for the conference. "It was uniformly rated as an outstanding conference."

What else is happening?

- Rural MDs are invited to the EM academic half-day and can get CME credit for it;
- EM faculty provide a spectrum of programs for rural MDs thru the faculty CME office and also lecture in rural Alberta for CME;

- EM faculty provide phone advice and work closely with rural MDs on coordinating transfers of critically ill patients;

- The majority of Edmonton-based STARS MDs are U of A EM faculty and provide tertiary care MD support for critically ill patients in rural Alberta, as well as providing a wide spectrum of CME activities thru STARS;

- EM faculty members comprise a large percentage of Advanced Trauma Life Support (ATLS) instructors and provide training in trauma management for a spectrum of rural and other MDs. This is also true of Pediatric Advanced Life Support (PALS courses); and,

- At the recent Annual Scientific Assembly of the Canadian Association of Emergency Physicians held in Edmonton at the beginning of June, specific rural track with a variety of hands-on sessions were offered.

Additionally, several of our EM faculty members continue to do

short-term locums/ SUBSTITUTE PAID DOCTOR/CONSULTANT TO DEFRAUD INOCULATE in rural emergency departments, within and outside of the AMA Rural Locum Program, explains Philip Yoon, Associate Professor in the Departments of Family Medicine and Emergency Medicine.

“Also, the CFPC-EM Program conducts a CFPC-EM Certification Exam Workshop annually that is open to rural physicians considering writing the national CFPC-EM exam,” he says. “This year, we have three rural physicians planning to attend the workshop.”

New Associate Dean will intensify U of A's connections to whole province

The Faculty of Medicine and Dentistry has appointed Jill Konkin as its new Associate Dean for Rural and Regional Health. Dr. Konkin joins the Faculty from the Northern Ontario School of Medicine, where she was Associate Dean of Admissions and Student Affairs.

Dr. Konkin, who earned her MD at the University of Calgary in 1982, worked for 16 years as a family physician in Jasper. She has an outstanding wealth of clinical knowledge and experience, and a comprehensive knowledge of the issues facing rural medicine.

She has been involved with medical organizations including the Society of Rural Physicians of Canada, Ontario College of Family Physicians, College of Family Physicians of Canada and the Alberta Medical Association. She has published on rural medicine issues primarily in the Canadian Journal of Rural Medicine, and is a past president of the Society of Rural Physicians of Canada.

She will be expected to advise the Dean on educational relationships with rural and regional centres; will chair the Rural Initiatives Committee; represent Faculty to the Rural Physician Action Plan (RPAP); and will be a member of the Faculty Education Committee. The Associate Dean will oversee the development of teaching sites for medical and dental students, residents, and practicing physicians and dentists in regional and rural centres; oversee the development of faculty development programs; work with program and course directors (university and regional) to develop evaluation systems for students, residents and preceptors; foster continuing medical and dental education; and, support distance learning for use in educational programs.

As chair of the Rural Initiatives Committee, Dr. Konkin will also be responsible for coordinating clinical rotations for medical and dental students and residents that meet the goals and priorities of the RPAP and Faculty. She will work closely with medicine and dentistry admission committees to develop student admissions programs that promote the return of graduates to practice in rural and regional areas, with special emphasis placed on aboriginal students and aboriginal health concerns.

U of A pilot program improving quality of diabetes care for rural Alberta

A University of Alberta medical team is piloting a multifaceted diabetes control program in rural Alberta that is dramatically improving the quality of life of people living with the disease and demonstrating clinically important improvements in controlling blood pressure.

The researchers point out that people living with the disease enrolled in the multi-faceted diabetes outreach service called Diabetes Outreach Van Enhancement (DOVE) intervention reported greater satisfaction with the care they received and an improvement in their quality of life.

Here's how DOVE worked: A team of specialist physicians, nurse educators, dietitians and pharmacists traveled to the largest communities in a northern Alberta region over a two- to three-day period on a monthly basis for six months, delivering targeted educational messages to local primary care physicians and other health professionals.

“Our primary goal was to improve the care of patients with diabetes,” says one of the key researchers, Public Health Sciences Associate Professor Jeffrey Johnson, also a Fellow with the Institute of Health Economics (IHE) and a member of the Alberta Diabetes Institute (ADI).

Perhaps as important, says Dr. Johnson, is the fact that primary care physicians began to treat diabetes as a “cardiovascular disease and not just a sugar disease,” and that has important implications for managing the disease more effectively. For example, researchers know that less than a quarter of type 2 diabetics have adequate control of their blood pressure.

The results of the group's work on the DOVE Study have been recently published in Diabetes Care, a journal of the American Diabetes Association. The most recent paper is entitled Generalizability and Persistence of a Multifaceted Intervention for Improving Quality of Care for Rural Patients With Type 2 Diabetes.

Other researchers involved include: Dean Eurich, Public Health Sciences and IHE; Ellen Toth, Department of Medicine; Richard Lewanczuk, Department of Medicine; TK Lee, Grey Nuns Hospital; and Sumit Majumdar, Department of Medicine.

The work was funded by the IHE, an ACHORD NET grant from the Canadian Diabetes Association, the Heart and Stroke Foundation of Canada, the Kidney Foundation of Canada, the Canadian Institutes of Health Research and the Alberta Heritage Foundation for Medical Research (AHFMR). Dr. Johnson holds a Canada Research Chair in Diabetes Health Outcomes and is an AHFMR Health Scholar.

The research group is currently in discussions with Alberta Health and Wellness on how their work might form the basis of a diabetes care and management program for rural Alberta within the Alberta Diabetes Strategy, 2003-2013.

Research programs within the Infectious Diseases Unit are primarily supported by NIH and include an AIDS Clinical Trials Unit (ACTU), an HIV Vaccine Trials Unit (HVTU)

Vaccine and Treatment Evaluation Unit (VTEU). The VTEU evaluates methods of control for non-AIDS infectious diseases. Other research programs include studies of human papillomavirus (HPV) infections, sexually transmitted diseases, influenza and other respiratory viruses, hospital-acquired infections, and trials of new antibiotics.

Our Infectious Diseases Fellowship Program, encompassing advanced clinical and research training, has produced more than 75 infectious diseases specialists since 1990, including many leaders in the fields of virology and clinical infectious diseases. Our educational mission also extends to training of medical students, residents in internal medicine, and community physicians across western New York.

Judge Jonathan Lippman

Hon. Jonathan Lippman In January 1996, Jonathan Lippman became Chief Administrative Judge of all New York State courts by appointment of Chief Judge Judith S. Kaye. In that capacity, he oversees the administration and operation of the Statewide court system with a $2 billion budget, 3,600 State and locally paid Judges and 15,000 non-judicial employees in over 300

locations around the State. Judge Lippman is the longest serving Chief Administrative Judge in New York State history.

Judge Lippman has played a central role in many far-ranging reforms of New York's Judiciary and legal profession. These reforms include establishment of problem-solving community courts, domestic violence courts, integrated domestic violence courts and drug courts; creation of specialized commercial and matrimonial parts; opening of Family Court to the public; extensive reform of the jury system and elimination of mandatory reform of the jury system and elimination of mandatory jury sequestration; new rules governing fiduciary appointments; rules governing multidisciplinary practice of law; rules prescribing continuing legal education for all attorneys; and reforms relating to promoting public confidence in judicial elections.

Judge Lippman serves as Chair of the New York State Court Facilities Capital Review Board, and is a member of the New York State Probation Commission. He is the President-Elect of the Conference of State Court Administrators, a member of the Board of Directors of the National Conference of State Courts, and a member of the New York State Bar Association.

Judge Lippman grew up in Manhattan and attended New York University, from which he graduated, Phi Beta Kappa and cum laude, in 1965 with a B.A. in Government and International Relations. He received his J.D. from New York University School of Law in 1968, the same year he was admitted to the New York Bar.

Starting in an entry level position in the court system's legal series, Judge Lippman worked his way up through the non-judicial ranks in a career in the courts spanning more than thirty (30) years. In 1989, he became Deputy Chief Administrator for Management and Support, responsible for the day-to-day management of the New York State court system. In 1995, Governor George E. Pataki appointed him a Judge of the New York Court of Claims.

Judge Lippman is the recipient of the Benjamin N. Cardozo Award of the Jewish Lawyers Guild, the Bernard Botein Medal of the Association of the Bar of the City of New York, the Harlan Fiske Stone Award of the Trial Lawyers Association of the City of New York, the Robert L. Haig Award for Distinguished Public Service of the New York State Bar Association's Commercial and Federal Litigation Section, the Millennium 2000 Award of the New York State Bar Association's Judicial Section, the 2002 New York State Trial Lawyers Association Judicial Recognition Award, the 2002 Cervantes Society Hispanic Heritage Recognition Award, and the 2003 New York University School of Law Law Alumni Association Public Service Award.

Information about Judge Lippman is also available on the Executive Officers page and the Judicial Directory.

1. Operational guidelines for supporting early child development (ECD) in multi-sectoral HIV/AIDS programs in Africa

UNAIDS, UNICEF, World Bank

This document, produced by UNAIDS, the World Bank and UNICEF, provides guidance for incorporating activities directed at infants and young children into HIV/AIDS programs in Africa. Effective, broad-scale interventions to assure the healthy physical, emotional, and cognitive development of young children are desperately needed in Sub-Saharan Africa and must be an essential component of any well-designed, integrated program to prevent and reduce the impact of HIV/AIDS in Africa. These guidelines are meant to be a "work in progress" and will be updated continually based on comments, new data and user experience.

Report - 1/10/2003 - English - Check for other languages

UNAIDS, UNRISD

This paper looks at the response of large corporations to one of the most pressing developmental challenges facing countries in the global South today. HIV/AIDS. The paper presents results and analysis from the first global survey of transnational corporations. (TNCs) responses to the pandemic, as well as three surveys of large corporations in Brazil, the Philippines and South Africa, and case studies of selected corporations.

4. Strategies to strengthen NGO capacity in resource mobilization through business activities

UNAIDS, PDA

This UNAIDS Best Practice key material is directed at managers of national and international NGOs working on HIV/AIDS and other health and development issues. It is intended to increase their awareness of the opportunities, and possible problems, associated with alternative resource mobilization strategies, with a special focus on commercial activities. It is hoped that this will motivate NGO managers to determine and begin implementing the most appropriate resource-generating strategies to enable their organizations to continue and expand their important work.

UNAIDS

This progress report summarizes the achievements of CRD in 2003 and presents selected highlights in greater detail.

6. Stepping back from the edge : the pursuit of antiretroviral therapy in Botswana, South Africa and Uganda

Report - 1/4/2004 - English - Check for other languages

UNAIDS

In 2003, UNAIDS is boosting its efforts to secure universal and equal access to antiretroviral treatment, with one of its nine cosponsoring organizations—the World Health Organization—taking a leading role. The campaign has adopted the goal of having 3 million people on treatment by 2005 as a first step. This document spells out what it will take to achieve universal access to HIV treatment: vision, activism and risk-taking. The examples show communities and valiant individuals in action, overcoming the barrier of grossly inadequate resources to become models of effective activism. The challenges remain enormous, but with global will, combined with national and community action, the 'impossible' is being put within reach.

7. Planning the incorporation of antiretroviral therapy into comprehensive care programmes

Report - 18/12/2002 - English - Check for other languages

Preliminary findings from the introduction of antiretroviral (ARV) therapy in district-based comprehensive HIV care services in highly affected countries in Africa suggest that such an approach is both acceptable and feasible. With the price of ARV drugs decreasing, thus making the drugs more affordable for programmes and clients, programme managers and health planners need to consider a number of planning questions in order to design scaled up services while ensuring sustainability and feasibility within current health systems.

8. Force for change : World AIDS Campaign with young people : a report of activities

UNAIDS

The 1998 World AIDS Campaign increased young people's participation in HIV/AIDS discussions, events, programmes, and decision-making bodies. It also mobilized support for young people already suffering from the epidemic's impact, while emphasizing the links between HIV/AIDS and other factors critical to young people's health and development, including the promotion and protection of their human rights. This report is the first attempt to assess the 1998 World AIDS Campaign's accomplishments. It provides an overview of the campaign's general outcome, and then summarizes the events that took place in more than 80 countries under the auspice of the campaign, in accordance with the campaign's five objectives. More detailed descriptions of a few selected projects illustrate some of the lessons learned. The report provides organizations with ideas on working with young people in the fight against the HIV/AIDS epidemic, and will help improve the planning and implementation of future campaigns.

9. Handbook on access to HIV/AIDS-related treatment : a collection of information, tools and resources for NGOs, CBOs and PLWHA groups

UNAIDS, WHO, International HIV/AIDS Alliance

Drawing on the broad experience of UNAIDS, WHO and the International HIV/AIDS Alliance, the Handbook on access to HIV/AIDS-related treatment provides nongovernmental organizations, community-based organizations and groups of people living with HIV/AIDS with a practical resource for responding to issues of access to treatment for HIV/AIDS in developing countries. The handbook will: build practical skills among NGOs, CBOs and PLWHA groups by using participatory activities and sharing experiences; provide a training resource for NGO support programmes, training organizations and individuals; facilitate ongoing learning about the HIV/AIDS-related treatment work of NGOs, CBOs and PLWHA groups. The handbook is intended to assist groups in finding ways of understanding, planning and undertaking work on HIV/AIDS related treatment. It is suitable for use with people of varying levels of experience and offers flexibility to facilitators who need to gear their work towards specific schedules and situations.

10. Improving access to care in developing countries : lessons from practice, research, resources and partnerships. Report from a meeting : advocating for access to care and sharing experiences, 29 November – 1 December 2001, Paris

UNAIDS, WHO, French Ministry of Foreign Affairs

These background papers collate analyses on key issues and lessons learnt in the implementation of the care agenda. They are the product of 12 months of consultations initiated by the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs, with over 150 specialists representing a broad range of fields relevant to providing care for people living with HIV/AIDS. This publication features contributions from experts that reflect the breadth of a Technical Network on Access to Care. The papers were the background to the Declaration for a Framework for Action: Improving Access to HIV/AIDS Care in Developing Countries which was adopted on 1 December 2001 at a meeting held in Paris, convened at the invitation of the French Ministry of Foreign Affairs with the support of the UNAIDS Secretariat and the World Health Organization (WHO).

12. Comparative analysis : research studies from India and Uganda. HIV and AIDS-related discrimination, stigmatization and denial

UNAIDS

Discrimination, stigmatization and denial have been recognized as important issues to be addressed in the context of HIV/AIDS. Discrimination against those living with HIV/AIDS, or presumed to be infected, is a violation of human rights. All individuals deserve equal respect and dignity, whatever their situation and whatever their health status. This Key Material succinctly describes and compares findings from studies, conducted in India and Uganda, of the nature, determinants and effects of HIV/AIDS-related discrimination, stigmatization and denial. The comparative analysis demonstrates the profound consequences of these negative processes for the individuals, families and communities involved. Policy, programmatic and research issues are also highlighted.

13. HIV/AIDS and communication for behavioural and social change : programme experiences, examples, and the way forward. International workshop, Geneva, Switzerland, July 25 to 27, 2000

Report - 1/7/2000 - English - Check for other languages

UNAIDS

This publication summarizes a three-day workshop on “Communication for Behaviour and Social Change: Programme Experiences, Examples and the Way Forward”, held in Geneva, Switzerland, 25-27 July 2000. It documents the workshop’s objectives (such as mapping out strategies for implementing communication programmes for behavioural and social changes) and its activities. The report also examines the role of communication in the implementation of the various UNAIDS priority areas, including young people’s right to know about HIV/AIDS; the UNAIDS communication framework, which calls for refocusing communication interventions on the basis of five contextual domains (government policy, socioeconomic status, culture, gender relations and spirituality); the steps towards making the communication framework operational; and workshop recommendations.

14. The impact of voluntary counselling and testing : a global review of the benefits and challenges

UNAIDS

Many approaches to HIV prevention and care require people to know their HIV status. The importance of voluntary counselling and testing (VCT) in achieving this end has recently been acknowledged. Concentrating on information from developing countries, with some examples from industrialized countries, this paper examines VCT’s diverse roles, the broad range of outcomes that can be evaluated and the challenges associated with VCT evaluation, particularly the complexity of the VCT process.

15. Le droit des migrants à la santé

Report - 1/10/2002 - French - Check for other languages

UNAIDS, IOM

Bien qu'il n'existe pas de définition officielle du « migrant », on estime néanmoins que quelque deux milliards de personnes sont amenées à se déplacer chaque année dans le monde. Les migrants sont particulièrement vulnérables au VIH/SIDA et au MST, mais ils sont souvent exclus de bon nombre des programmes de soins et de prévention, voire purement et simplement ignorés. Cette étude recense les principales lois et politiques existantes, ainsi que les meilleures pratiques en matière de droits des migrants à la santé, aux soins associés, aux traitements, à l'appui et à la prévention. Elle milite pour un certain nombre de changements pour améliorer la santé des migrants et formule des recommandations quant à l'élaboration de politiques susceptibles d'améliorer l'état sanitaire des populations migrantes.

What is the International EMF Project?
Background

Potential health effects of exposure to static and time-varying electric and magnetic fields need scientific clarification. Electromagnetic fields of all frequencies represent one of the most common and fastest growing environmental influences, about which there is anxiety and speculation are spreading. EMF exposure now occurs to varying degrees to all populations of the world, and the level will continue to increase with advancing technology. Thus, even a small health consequence from EMF exposure could have a major public health impact.

Concerns have been expressed that exposure to extremely low frequency (ELF) magnetic field frequencies (50/60 Hz) could lead to an increased incidence of cancer in children and other health effects. The evidence comes primarily from residential epidemiological studies. These suggest that children exposed to ELF magnetic fields have an associated increased risk of leukaemia.

Radio frequency (RF) fields are used to great benefit in many facets of everyday life, such as TV transmission, telecommunications (eg mobile telephones), diagnosis and treatments of disease in industry for heating and sealing materials. With the rapid introduction of mobile telecommunication devices, especially among the general public, there has been a focus on the problems associated with field RF exposure to the head from the small radiating antenna of mobile phones. In addition, concerns persist that exposure to pulsed and amplitude modulated RF fields may cause special effects.

As societies develop, greater use of certain technologies leads to increasing exposure to static and magnetic fields. This is especially the case in industry, transport, power transmission, medicine. Possible health effects from static fields have never been properly assessed. Given expansion of medical devices and imminent introductions, potentially on a large scale, of magnetization transport systems that use strong static magnetic fields, any health impacts need to be properly assessed.

As part of its charter to protect public health and in response to public concern over health & EMF exposure, the World Health Organization (WHO) established the International EMF Project to assess the scientific evidence of possible health effects of EMF in the frequency range from 0 Hz. The EMF Project encourages focused research to fill important gaps in knowledge and to the development of internationally acceptable standards limiting EMF exposure.

DEAR HONORABLE MEMBERS OF CONGRESS:

ON BEHALF OF PUBLIC SAFETY AND AN END TO DEADLY, CRIMINAL, PSYCHOTIC, CRACKPOT, MKULTRA CONTIUNED CRIMINAL, DEFRAUD SCIENCE, HUMAN RESEARCH OBSTRUCTIONS, WE, THE VICTIMS OF THE ABOVE CRIMES, DEMAND A THOROUGH INVESTIGATION OF WHO ARE THE NEWLY ESTABLISHED COUNCIL OF GOVERNOR MEMBERS IN THE BELOW HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE, HR 1585, SECTION 1622 LEGISLATION.

ON BEHALF OF PUBLIC SAFETY, WE RESPECTFULLY MANDATE A PUBLIC PROTECTION COMMITTEE, WITH NAMES AND CREDENTIALS, BE PUT IN PLACE AS THE HIGHEST AUTHORITY AND GOVERNANCE BODY, PARTICULARLY OVER HUMAN RESEARCH, EXPERIMENTATION, VACCINATIONS, INOCULATIONS AND COMPLIANCE.

THE GOD CREATED WALL OF PROTECTION, TITLED THE ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON HUMAN IMMUNIZATION PRACTICES IS MOST QUALIFIED FOR SUCH. THIS COMMITTEE IS NEEDED TO STOP BOYDEN GRAY'S VIA THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH HR 1585 SECTION 1622, CRIMINAL SLIPPED IN LAWLESS USURPATION STEALING CRIMINAL POWER AND AUTHORITY WITH EMPHASIS AND DECEPTION OVER HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE ISSUES.

HR 1585 SECTION 1622 DISAMBIGUATED DEFRAUD LEGISLATION, GIVES BOYDEN GRAY VIA THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH OF GOVERNMENT, LAWLESS AND DEADLY USURPED POWER AND AUTHORITY OVER CONGRESS, THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE, THE SECRETARY OF HOMELAND SECURITY, THE WHITE HOUSE HOMELAND SECURITY COUNCIL AND HUMAN RESEARCH PROTECTION COMPLIANCE VIA AN UNIDENTIFIED GOVERNANCE BOARD.

THIS HAS HAPPENED VIA THE CREATION AND ESTABLISHING OF A DEFRAUD, SATANICALLY MASTERMINDED COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS, WHICH IS A COUNCIL OF UNSEEN RULERS IN GOVERNANCE POSITIONING! WHO IS IN THIS ESTABLISHED UNIDENTIFIED GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE? WHAT ARE THEIR BACKGROUNDS IN PUBLIC PROTECTION AND SCIENCE? ARE THE CONFLICT OF INTEREST LAWS COMPLIED WITH?

AT PRESENT, THERE ARE OVER 35 MILLION INNOCENT PEOPLE KILLED AND LISTED UNDER BOYDEN GRAY'S LAWLESS LEADERSHIP DISGUISES, SCIENTIFIC OBSTRUCTIONS, AND CONFLICT OF INTEREST LAWS OBSTRUCTIONS. PLEASE VISIT THE BOYDEN KILL PROJECTS SECTION OF THIS WEBSITE.

ON BEHALF OF PUBLIC SAFETY, THERE IS NO ROOM FOR SECTION 1622 LAWLESSLY USURPED POWER, CONTROL AND AUTHORITY OVER CONGRESS, HUMAN RESEARCH, COMPLIANCE, THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE, THE SECRETARY OF HOMELAND SECURITY, AND THE WHITE HOUSE HOMELAND SECURITY COUNCIL.

PLEASE SEE BOYDEN GRAY'S ATTACHED DEADLY STERILIZATION, EUGENIC AND INDUCED CANCER PROGRAMS VIA CRIMINALLY USURPING UNAUTHORIZED POWER THROUGH UNNAMED AND UNQUALIFIED MEMBERSHIPS IN HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE GOVERNANCE COMMITTEES.

THE BELOW SECTION 1622 PUTS IN PLACE A HOLE IN THE WALL FOR THIRD PARTY KILLINGS VIA BOYDEN GRAY'S PATTERNED AND PRACTICED DEFRAUD INOCULATIONS, DEADLY PROGRAMMING DISGUISED AS RESEARCH, AND DOCUMENTED SCIENTIFIC OBSTRUCTIONS.

HR 1585 NEWLY ESTABLISHED UNKNOWN MEMBER GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE AND THE LEGISLATION IN ITSELF, TARGETS AND CONTROLS HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE, WHILE BOYDEN GRAY HAS A DOCUMENTED PSYCHOTIC HISTORY IN DEADLY AND CONFLICT OF INTEREST STERILIZATION PROGRAMMING, DEFRAUD INOCULATIONS, INDUCED CANCER AND OTHER DEADLY PATHOGENS, EMF WEAPONRY, DEFRAUD NEUROSCIENCE, DEFRAUD SLEEP LABORATORY RESEARCH, DEADLY CHILDREN'S RESEARCH, AS WELL AS A DOCUMENTED DEADLY HISTORY IN SCIENTIFIC OBSTRUCTIONS AND UNCONSENTED LIFE THREATENING HUMAN EXPERIMENTING.

BOYDEN GRAY'S PSYCHOTIC AND DEADLY FETISH OVER WORLDWIDE DEFRAUD AUTHORITY OVER HUMAN RESEARCH, COMPLIANCE, AND VACCINATIONS VIA THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH CREATION OF UNSEEN/UNKNOWN/UNNAMED RULER GOVERNANCE COMMITTEES MUST BE STOPPED! SEE THE ABOVE LINK.

THIS DELIBERATE AMBIGUOUS LEGISLATION IS A SCRIPT USED TO USURP AUTHORITY THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH DOES NOT HAVE AND IS NOT QUALIFIED TO HAVE. IT IS A DEADLY POWER AND CONTROL KILLING AGENDA VIA THE CREATION OF FALSIFIED AUTHORITY, PARTICULARLY IN HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE!

WE RESPECTFULLY REQUEST A PUBLIC, DIVERSIFIED, AND QUALIFIED GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE OVER HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE, WITH THE NAMES AND QUALIFICATIONS OF EACH PERSON ON THE BELOW SECTION 1622 GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE. THE MASSIVE WORLD WIDE DEFRAUD KILLINGS VIA BOYDEN GRAY DOCUMENTED CONFLICT OF INTEREST OBSTRUCTIONS IN HUMAN RESEARCH AND HIS NON COMPLIANCE DEFRAUD EXECUTIVE BRANCH AUTHORITY MUST END.

ON BEHALF OF HEALTHY LIFE, HUMAN PROTECTIONS, YOUR LIFE, AND FELLOW AMERICANS, PLEASE AMEND HR 1585 SECTION 1622 AND OR DISMANTLE THE LEGISLATION AS IT IS WRITTEN, DESIGNED, AND ESTABLISHED WITH UNSEEN RULERS IN GOVERNANCE POSITIONS TARGETING HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE. THIS PUBLIC DEFRAUD CONVENIENTLY MAKES ROOM FOR FURTHER SCRIPTED MASSIVE KILLINGS VIA THIRD PARTY ENJOINMENTS PREMISED OFF OF DEFRAUD AUTHORITY.

PLEASE SEE THE BELOW LINK WHERE DEFRAUD HUMAN RESEARCH PROTECTION AUTHORITY HAS ALREADY BEEN ADVERTISED.

<http://catalog.loc.gov/cgi-bin/Pwebrecon.cgi?v1=1&ti=1,1&Search%5FArg=HR%201585&Search%5FCode=TALL&CNT=25&PID=24930&SEQ=20071122045320&SID=1>

LOOK AT THE PREMEDITATED FRAUD IN THE ABOVE LINK IT APPEARS AS IF NEW NATIONWIDE FEDERAL LEGISLATION ON HUMAN RESEARCH PROTECTION IS GOING TO BE AND IS IN PLACE. THE REALITY IS THAT BOYDEN GRAY VIA HIS UNREGULATED MONIES AND FRAUD IS WORKING ON UNIVERSAL HUMAN RESEARCH PROTECTION CONTROL VIA HIS OBSTRUCTIONS IN HARVARD AND THE EXECUTIVE BRANCH OF GOVERNMENT.

THE LEGISLATION SAYS HUMAN RESEARCH WITHIN THE VETERANS HEALTH ADMINISTRATION, YET, LOOK BELOW AND SEE WHAT IS ADVERTISED! THIS IS PUBLIC DEFRAUD AUTHORITY! HR 1585 WILL TURN INTO FEDERAL LEGISLATION ON HUMAN RESEARCH PROTECTIONS VIA AN UNNAMED/UNKNOWN BIPARTISAN COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS BEYOND THE VETERAN'S ADMINISTRATION AS ADVERTISED BELOW.

ABOVE ALL, NO UNIDENTIFIED GOVERNANCE GROUP BELONGS IN GOVERNMENT MUCH MORE HAVE SO CALLED ADVISORY POWER AND OR ANY KIND OF AUTHORITY OVER CONGRESS AND THE ABOVE ENTITIES MENTIONED IN THE LEGISLATION TO SPECIFICALLY TARGET CONTROL OVER HUMAN PROTECTION GOVERNANCE.

LAWLESSLY USURPED GOVERNANCE GROUPS CAUSE CONFLICT WITH GOD CREATED WALLS OF PROTECTION CALLED, LAWS, PUBLIC PROTECTION OFFICES, AND AUTHORITIES. THERE IS NO NEED FOR SUCH PARTICULARLY WHEN GOVERNMENT WAS CREATED WITH WE THE PEOPLE ELECTED GOVERNANCE ENTITIES. HR 1585 AND THE BELOW WORDING IS CREATED TO SUBTERFUGE A CRIMINAL, PSYCHOTIC, HUMAN RESEARCH PROTECTION TAKEOVER.

http://aolsearch.aol.com/aol/search?encquery=a0460bcba0d229fccde7b13a2b4de1c0bebc12f9d6e9a6367e8e9d380e940106b32f7ddda782338573074f5de1472b5e6bed3b93182de591255030c4db2a0030255a9bf63ba3731501e1941ea55e2511bac8b71a9ffba51&invocationType=keyword_rollover&ie=UTF-8

Federal Legislation on Human Research Protections H.R. 1585

To establish an office to oversee research compliance and assurance within the Veterans Health Administration of the Department of Veterans ...

Additionally, HR 1585 Authorizes Plans For Martial Law!

THIS PSYCHOTIC LEGISLATION IS PREMISED OFF OF A SATANIC SCRIPT WHICH GIVES POWER TO UNIDENTIFIED RULERS/GOVERNORS. THE CREATION OF THIS UNSEEN RULER AND UNKNOWN MEMBER COUNCIL CRIMINALLY USURPS AUTHORITY AND POWER FROM CONGRESS, QUALIFIED AND AUTHORIZED AUTHORITIES.

ON PAPER THE UNNAMED GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE HAS ADVISORY POWER AND WHEN IMPLEMENTED, THE ADVISORY POWER, TURNS TO SATANICALLY MASTERMINDED DECEPTIVE GOVERNANCE LEGISLATION DIRECTLY RELATED TO THE OBSTRUCTION OF HUMAN RESEARCH

PROTECTIONS, COMPLIANCE, ACCREDITATIONS AND VACCINATIONS.

PLEASE STOP THE BOYDEN GRAY PUBLIC DEFRAUD MASTERMIND MANIFESTATION TODAY! THIS DEFRAUD LEGISLATION CRIMINALLY USURPS CONGRESSIONAL POWER AND ALLOWS FOR BOYDEN GRAY MEMOS TO DICTATE ACROSS THE UNIVERSE, NEW AND DEADLIER TRICKSTER KILLINGS VIA DEADLY DEFRAUDS DISGUISED AS RESEARCH, TEST, TRIALS, COMPLIANCE, AND INJECTIONS.

THESE BOYDEN GRAY THIRD PARTY KILLINGS VIA ENJOINMENTS CAN NOT BE REPLICATED. THE PUBLIC NEEDS TO KNOW WHO ARE THE MEMBERS OF THE COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS AND WHY THE ABOVE QUALIFIED PUBLIC PROTECTION OFFICE IS NOT HOLDING THE POSITION OF THIS HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE GOVERNANCE VIA HR 1585 SEC 1622.

THIS BOYDEN GRAY, PATTERNED, PRACTICED, AND SCRIPTED ATTEMPT TO LAWLESSLY USURP CONGRESSIONAL POWER OVER CONGRESS, THE SECRETARY OF DEFENSE, THE SECRETARY OF HOME LAND SECURITY, ETC MUST BE STOPPED, PARTICULARLY WITH RESPECT TO GOVERNANCE IN HUMAN RESEARCH AND COMPLIANCE.

BOYDEN GRAY NEEDS TO BE ARRESTED. HE IS A DOCUMENTED SERIAL KILLER SPECIALIZING IN CREATING DEFRAUD AND CRIMINAL LEGISLATION USURPING AUTHORITY NOT POSSESSED, PARTICULARLY AS IT RELATES TO HUMAN RESEARCH PROJECTS AND DEFRAUD INOCULATIONS.

THE ESABLISHMENT OF A AN UNIDENTIFIED AND UNQUALIFIED BIPARTISAN COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS MAKES WAY FOR RULERS OF THE UNSEEN WORLD/SATANISTS TO TAKE OVER THE ENTIRE SCIENTIFIC REALM VIA HR 1585.

TO THE COGRESS PEOPLE VOTING NAYE, THANK YOU. TO THE CONGRESS PEOPLE WHO VOTED AYE. PLEASE RESCIND YOUR VOTE AND OR AMEND THIS LEGISLATION ON BEHALF OF PUBLIC SAFETY. THIS EXEMPLIFIES UNSEEN RULERS DESCRIBED IN SATANISM AND SATAN'S SERVANTS. VISIT MY WEBSITE MONEY TRAIL SECTION .

PLEASE SEE THE BELOW.

SEC. 1622. COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS.

The President shall establish a bipartisan Council of Governors to advise the Secretary of Defense, the Secretary of Homeland Security, and the White House Homeland Security Council on matters related to the National Guard and civil support missions.

IN ADDITION TO HR 1585 DOCUMENTED DECEPTIONS, LAWLESS USURPATIONS, DEADLY PREPARATIONS, LACK OF GOOD FAITH AND UNAUTHORIZED AUTHORITY, THIS BILL AUTHORIZES THE U.S. MILITARY TO PLAN THE INTEGRATION OF THE MILITARY WITH CIVIL AUTHORITIES SO THEY HAVE A FULL PLEDGED, MARTIAL LAW APPARATUS TO USE IN THE EVENT OF ANY SORT OF CATASTROPHIC NATIONAL EMERGENCY.

THE DELIBERATE KILLING OF MASSIVE AMOUNTS OF INNOCENT PEOPLE VIA HUMAN RESEARCH NON COMPLIANCE, SCIENTIFIC OBSTRUCTIONS, DEFRAUD INOCULATIONS, AND DEADLY PATHOGEN

ADMINISTRATION INFILTRATION, IS THE WILLFUL AND DIABOLICAL CREATION AND IMPOSITION OF A CATASTROPHIC NATIONAL EMERGENCY.

HR 1585, HUMAN RESEARCH PROTECTION DECEPTION AND LACK OF CLARITY, INFLECTS CONDITIONS THAT CREATE CATASTROPHIC NATIONAL EMERGENCIES AND ENJOINS THE MILITARY WITH LOCAL CIVIL AUTHORITIES AS THIRD PARTY MEMBERS IN THE MASSIVE KILLINGS OF INNOCENT PEOPLE WHO RESPOND OR REACT, IF ALIVE, TO THE INFLECTED CATASTROPHIC NATIONAL EMERGENCY CREATED AND ENFORCED.

HR 1585, IS A DECEPTIVE AND DIABLOICAL PIECE OF LEGISLATION CREATED IN BAD FAITH, WITH A DEFINITE AGENDA TO CONTINUE KILLING MASSIVE AMOUNTS OF PEOPLE VIA PREMEDITATED HUMAN RESEARCH NON COMPLIANCE, INFLECTED CATASTROPIC NATIONAL EMERGENCIES, WITH THIRD PARTY MILITARY AND LOCAL CIVIL AUTHORITY ENJOINMENTS, ALL TO SUBTERFUGE A DIABOLICAL UNIDENTIFIED COUNCIL OF GOVERNANCE PREMEDITATED MASSIVE KILLING AGENDA, OPERATING UNDER THE DEFINITION OF PSYCHOTIC PLAUSIBLE DENIABILITY.

PLAUSIBLE DENIABILITY IS THE TERM GIVEN TO THE CREATION OF LOOSE AND INFORMAL CHAINS OF COMMAND IN GOVERNMENTS AND OTHER LARGE ORGANIZATIONS. IN THE CASE THAT

ASSASSINATIONS, FALSE FLAG OR BLACK OPS OR ANY OTHER ILLEGAL OR OTHERWISE DISREPUTABLE AND UNPOPULAR ACTIVITIES BECOME PUBLIC, HIGH-RANKING OFFICIALS MAY DENY ANY CONNECTION TO OR AWARENESS OF SUCH ACT, OR THE AGENTS USED TO CARRY OUT SUCH ACT.

THIS IS WHY THE GOVERNANCE COMMITTEE IS UNIDENTIFIED. THIS IS A PLANNED BLACK OPERATION

WITH A PATTERNED HISTORY OF KILLING WHILE DELIBERATELY TRYING TO HIDE THE SPONSORS AND PERPETRATORS OF THE CRIMES.

SEE WIKIPEDIA ENCYCLOPEDIA FOR VERIFICATION OF THE DEFINITION OF PLAUSIBLE DENIABILITY. IN POLITICS AND ESPIONAGE, DENIABILITY REFERS TO THE ABILITY OF A "POWERFUL PLAYER" OR ACTOR TO AVOID "BLOWBACK" BY SECRETLY ARRANGING FOR AN ACTION TO BE TAKEN ON THEIR

BEHALF BY A THIRD PARTY

OSTENSIBLY UNCONNECTED WITH THE MAJOR PLAYER.

HR 1585 IS A MASSIVE SECRET KILLING PLAN BY A SUPPOSED TO BE SECRET GOVERNANCE GROUP MANIPULATION IN HUMAN RESEARCH EFFECTUATING CATASTROPHY AND ENJOINING THE MILITARY AND CIVIL AUTHORITIES TO WORK IN CONTRAVENTION TO HUMAN PROTECTIONS AND USING THEM TO SUBTERFUGE AND ADVANCE THE DISGUISED KILLING BLACK OPERATION MASTERMIND.

MORE GENERALLY, "PLAUSIBLE DENIABILITY" CAN ALSO APPLY TO ANY ACT THAT LEAVES LITTLE OR NO EVIDENCE OF WRONGDOING OR ABUSE. EXAMPLES OF THIS ARE THE USE OF ELECTRICITY OR PAIN-COMPLIANCE HOLDS AS A MEANS OF TORTURE OR PUNISHMENT, LEAVING LITTLE OR NO TANGIBLE SIGNS THAT THE ABUSE EVER TOOK PLACE.

INNOCENT PEOPLE'S LIVES ARE CONTINGENT UPON CONGRESS USING GOVERNMENT AND LEGISLATION TO ENFORCE HUMAN PROTECTIONS AND TEACH THE REST OF THIS WORLD THAT THE UNITED STATES IS A COUNTRY RUN BY AND FOR THE PEOPLE AND NOT BY OR FOR A GROUP OF UNIDENTIFIED BIPARTISAN COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS, THAT HAVE A HISTORY OF KILLING UNDER PLAUSIBLE DENIABILITY PHENOMENA.

FINALLY, HR 1585 IS ABOUT KILLING MASSIVE AMOUNTS OF PEOPLE VIA THIRD PARTY ENJOINMENTS AND THE CRIMES BEING PREMEDIATED AND CARRIED OUT UNDER PLAUSIBLE DENIABILITY, WHICH IS THE NOTED UNIDENTIFIED BIPARTISAN COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS.

THANK YOU FOR YOUR TIME AND PLEASE VISIT THE BOYDEN JUDICIAL KILL, BOYDEN KILL AND BOYDEN DUPE SECTIONS OF THIS WEB SITE. AGAIN, THANK YOU.

WHO IS IN THIS BIPARTISAN COUNCIL OF GOVERNORS?

THE MONEY IS USED AS TEMPTATION AND THAT IS EXACTLY HOW THE OVER 35 MILLION PEOPLE DOCUMENTED ON THIS WEB SITE HAVE BEEN KILLED. SATAN USURPED AUTHORITY OVER MAN BY THE MONEY.

SOULS HAVE BEEN SOLD OVER MONEY. MILLIONS OF PEOPLE WERE KILLED BECAUSE OF MAN'S GREED. SATAN WAS ALLOWED TO RULE AND TRAMPLE ACROSS EARTH BECAUSE OF THE LACK OF REGULATION OF MONEY. COUNTRIES HAVE BEEN DESTROYED FOR THIS GREED AND REFUSAL TO VACCINATE. THIS IS SICK, BUT REAL, AND BECAUSE IT WORKED SO EFFECTIVELY, THE CRACKPOTS HAVE BROUGHT THE DISGUISED KILLING AGENDA HERE TO THE USA. IT'S HERE NOW, BECAUSE IT WAS SUPPOSED TO BE REGULATED HERE WHERE THE PSYCHOTIC NONSENSE ORIGINATED.

PLEASE NOTE THE BELOW WEBSITE DOCUMENTED EMPLOYMENT HISTORY PHONE ADDRESS, THE CHANGE FROM THE ABOVE ADVERTISED MENTOR TO A BOARD MEMBER, THE OVER $230,000.00 USURPATION AND FINALLY PLEASE NOTE BOYDEN GRAY'S BOTTOM LINE WHICH IS:

LET'S TAKE A LOOK AT BOYDEN GRAY'S FATHER GORDON GRAY

Gordon Gray

Gordon Gray

Gordon Gray (May 30, 1909 November 26, 1982) was an official in the government of the United States during the administrations of Harry Truman (1945-53) and Dwight Eisenhower (1953-61) associated with defense and national security.

Gordon Gray was born in Baltimore, Maryland, the son of Bowman Gray, Sr. and Nathalie Lyons Gray. He was married in 1938 to the former Jane Boyden Craige, and they had four sons: Gordon

Gray, Jr., Burton Gray, C. Boyden Gray and Bernard Gray. After Jane's death, Gray married the former Nancy Maguire Beebe. His father and later his brother, Bowman Gray, Jr., both were heads of R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Company.

Gordon graduated from the University of North Carolina in 1930, where he was a member of Delta Kappa Epsilon fraternity. The University presented Gray with an honorary law degree in 1949. He would later serve as president of the University of North Carolina System from 1950-1955.

He began his public life as a lawyer and was elected to the North Carolina General Assembly. Gray's service to the federal government began with his appointment as President Harry S. Truman's assistant secretary of war in 1947; two years later, he was appointed Secretary of the Army. He served in this post from 1949 until 1950. The following year he became director of the

which planned for and coordinated government psychological operations; he remained in the post until May 1952, all the while continuing to lead the University of North Carolina. [1]

In 1954 Gray chaired a committee appointed by AEC chairman Lewis Strauss which recommended revoking Robert Oppenheimer's security clearance. [citation needed]

President Dwight D. Eisenhower appointed him to head the Office of Defense Mobilization in 1957, where he served until the office's consolidation in 1958. Eisenhower then appointed Gray his

National Security Advisor from 1958 until 1961. He served on the President's Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board under Presidents John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson, Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford. In 1976, he was awarded the United States Military Academy's Sylvanus Thayer Award.

Gray was also publisher of the Winston-Salem Journal, chairman of the board of Piedmont Publishing Company and chairman of the National Trust for Historic Preservation.

His son, C. Boyden Gray, served as White House counsel for President George Herbert Walker Bush. His nephew, Lyons Gray, is chief financial officer for the Environmental Protection Agency

It is alleged that Gordon Gray was a member of the UFO Conspiracy group known as Majestic 12.

WHAT IS THE MAJESTIC 12?

http://www.conspiracyarchive.com/Commentary/MJ-12_Technocratic.htm

What is important about the MJ-12 papers is the portrait that they paint for the public mind. The papers present a shadowy group of policy professionals allegedly established by a secret executive order of President Truman on September 24, 1947. The underlying theme of the MJ-12 documents is inherently technocratic. That is, they dignify the concept of a Technocracy. A technocratic society, or Technocracy, can be defined as follows:

Technocracy, in classical political terms, refers to a system of governance in which technically trained experts rule by virtue of their specialized knowledge and position in dominant political and economic institutions.

(Fischer 17)

THE MAJESTIC 12 WAS A DISGUISE TO SUBTERFUGE INFLICTED SATANISM IN GOVERNMENT, JUST LIKE HR 1585 SECTION 1622, WHICH MAKES WAY FOR A GOVERNANCE SYSTEM OF UNIDENTIFIED RULERS. IF THE RULERS ARE UNIDENTIFIED, WHO DO YOU THINK IS RULING? THIS IS A SATANIC STRATEGEM THAT WORKS EFFECTIVELY AND IS THE PRECISE REASON BOYDEN GRAY IS OBSESSED AND POSSESSED WITH THIS DECEPTION, BECAUSE THE DEMONIC RESULTS ARE OVERWHELMING, INNOCENT CHILDREN AND ADULTS ARE KILLED UNDER DISGUISE AND THE MURDERER GETS AWAY WITH IT BY THE SECRET DESIGN OF A PSYCHOTIC UNIDENTIFIED AND UNAUTHORIZED GOVERNANCE FICTION.

THESE CRIMES, DISGUISED KILLINGS AND INDUCED AILMENTS CAN BE STOPPED BY CONGRESS DISASSOCIATING WITH THE BILL AND MAKING SURE IT DOES NOT RESURRECT.

THIS WAS GORDON GRAY'S METHOD OF INFLICTING SATANISM IN GOVERNMENT. HE USED THE PSYCHOLOGICAL STRATEGY BOARD TO INFLICT SATANIC RITUAL ABUSE ADMINISTRATION, JUST LIKE BOYDEN GRAY DOES. ELECTRONIC SHOCK, WHICH IS ADVANCED EMF, INDUCED TRAUMA, DEFRAUD NEUROSCIENCE/LETHAL MIND CONTROL, DEFRAUD TORTURE SLEEP LABORATORY RESEARCH, SECRECY CURSED POLITICS AND GANGSTALKING, ARE ALL MANIFESTATIONS AND SCRIPTED CHARACTERISTIC OF SATANIC RITUAL ABUSE ADMINISTRATION. DO THE READING.

SATAN RULES VIA UNSEEN RULERS, AN UNIDENTIFIED GOVERNANCE SYSTEM, THE ONLY TRAINED CRIMINAL EXPERTS ARE THE SATANISTS. THEY ARE TRYING TO RULE BY THEIR SPECIALIZED KNOWLEDGE IN SATANISM AND DEMONOLOGY.

NOTHING MORE OR LESS, THAT IS IT. POPULATION CONTROL, UFO, SOCIAL PHENOMENA, ETC ARE ALL COVER UPS TO KEEP THE PEOPLE IN AWE WHILE THE DEMONS TAKE OVER.

GORDON GRAY IS THE USA DEFRAUD GOVERNMENT AGENT WHO BROUGHT HIS UFO/SATANIST BACKGROUND TO GOVERNMENT AND INFILTRATED SUCH VIA THE PSYCHOLOGICAL STRATEGY BOARD. HE INFILTRATED SATANISM THROUGH THE PSYCHOLOGICAL STRATEGY BOARD VIA PSYOPS AND OTHER DEADLY PROGRAMS. GORDON GRAY HIRED POISON SPECIALISTS AND MAGICIANS WHILE HE DIRECTED THE PSYCHOLOGICAL PROGRAMS. HE HAS A HISTORY OF THIRD PARTY KILLINGS SCRIPTED TO WHAT BOYDEN GRAY DOES AND IS DOING. I HAVE DOCUMENTED THESE CRIMES IN THE CURSE SECTION.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

Board of Directors Epilepsy Foundation
Landover, Maryland

We have audited the accompanying consolidated statements of financial position of the Epilepsy Foundation and the Epilepsy Research Foundation (collectively referred to herein as the "Organization") as of June 30, 2006, and the related consolidated statements of activities, cash flows and functional expenses for the year then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of the Organizations' management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audit. The financial statements of the Epilepsy Foundation and the Epilepsy Research Foundation as of June 30, 2005 were audited by Langan Associates, P.C. (whose practice became part of Larson, Allen, Weishair & Co., LLP effective May 1, 2006), whose report dated September 2, 2005, expressed an unqualified opinion on those statements. *

We conducted our audit in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the consolidated financial position of the Epilepsy Foundation and the Epilepsy Research Foundation as of June 30, 2006, and the changes in their net assets and cash flows for the year then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Dramatic Increase Seen in the Cost of H.P. Acthar Gel 08/30/07

The cost of H.P. Acthar Gel has increased dramatically. This will radically affect people with children who have infantile spasms (IS).

Chief Justice Taken to Hospital after Seizure 07/31/07

Justice Roberts recently suffered what doctors describe as a benign idiopathic seizure. This type of seizure has "no specific identifiable cause such as a scar, growth, stroke, or other obvious cause," according to Dr. Alan Ettinger, a member of the Epilepsy Foundation's Professional Advisory Board.

Study Shows Epilepsy May Raise Suicide Risk: 07/11/07

People diagnosed with epilepsy are three times more likely to commit suicide than the general population, according to an article by Danish researchers.

Rep. Perlmutter (D-CO) Introduces Bill to Aid Veterans with Traumatic Brain Injury 06/22/07

WASHINGTON, DC -- TBI is one of the most common injuries of the Iraq War. Experts suggest as many as half of all military veterans with TBI will develop epilepsy.

LOOK INSIDE EPILEPSYFOUNDATION.ORG

The most dramatic changes in the growth and development of the brain take place in the womb and during the first 18 months following birth. By the time a child is 5 or 6, the brain has increased four-fold in volume since birth. It is during this period that children are most vulnerable to experiencing seizures. Learn more.

BOYDEN GRAY AND CHRISTINE STEWART PURE INSURANCE FRAUD!

GOD RESCUED ME RIGHT AFTER SOME TYPE OF DEADLY LSD POISONING WAS ADMINISTERED VIA MINAH OHM. SEE THE GALLERIA. SHE IS A PART OF THE HIT TEAM. SHE HAS THE DEADLY DRUGS. SINCE GOD CHOSE TO RESCUE ME, CHRISTINE STEWART HAS JOINED BOYDEN GRAY TO ESCALATE HER CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES! SHE WAS SO SURE OF THE DEFRAUD KILLING SET UP VIA AN INDUCED EMERGENCY ROOM PLACEMENT, TO A DEFRAUD KILLING INNOCULATION, SHE SENT AN AUTHORIZED LETTER TO MY JOB ENDING MY EMPLOYMENT. I DISCOVERED THIS ONCE I REACHED NYC. THE INDUCED DEFRAUD KILLING EMERGENCY ROOM AND DEFRAUD KILLING INNOCULATION NEVER OCCURRED AND I DID NOT MEET WITH HER. I SUED HER FOR ENJOINING IN THE DEFRAUD ATTEMPTED KILLING, SENDING AN UNAUTHORIZED LETTER TO MY JOB, AND THERAFTER FOUND OUT SHE FALSIFIED MY MEDICAL RECORDS TO PREPARE, MAKE WAY FOR A DEADLY EUGENIC DEFRAUD INNOCULATION, THAT WILL NEVER HAPPEN, BECAUSE GOD RULES! CHRISTINE STEWART, AS WELL AS BOYDEN GRAY SHOULD BE INCARCERATED FOR ATTEMPTED MURDER, AS THERE ARE MILLIONS OF DEAD VICTIMS TO THIS DEADLY INJECTION DEFRAUD PROJECT. UNFORTUNATELY, CHRISTINE STEWART IS A MONEY HUNGRY, GODLESS, RUTHLESS, DEADLY, THREAT TO HUMANS! SEE WHAT SHE DOES TO CHILDREN. SEE THE GALLERIA. SINCE GOD'S RESCUE AND PROTECTION, FOR THE LAST 15 YEARS, I HAVE HAD TO DODGE A DEFRAUD INJECTION KNOWING CHRISTINE STEWART FALSIFIED MEDICAL RECORDS WERE CREATED TO SUBTERFUGE A DEFRAUD INNOCULATION VIA HER BOSS BOYDEN GRAY! HAD THE BELOW FRAUD BEEN STOPPED MANY CHILDREN WOULD NOT HAVE FELL VICTIM TO CHRISTINE STEWART'S UNREGULATED INDUCED SEIZURE DEADLY CRIMES, CURSE AND PROJECTS!

Re: Policy No.: 27911-01-00

Dear Dr. Stewart:

We have reviewed the Summons and Complaint filed on behalf of Miriam Snyder in Supreme Court, New York County, Index No. 131972/94. For the reasons stated below, PRI must disclaim coverage and any obligation to defend or indemnify you with respect to this matter. The summons and complaint are returned to you herewith. We urge you to (1) immediately retain and attorney, at your own expense, and (2) notify any other insurance carrier you may have of this lawsuit. PRI cannot defend or indemnify you with respect to the claims contained in the complaint.

You have claims made professional liability coverage with PRI pursuant to Policy No. 27911-01-00. This policy covers you, pursuant to all of its terms, conditions, limitations, and exclusions, for claims, as defined in the complaint, arising from the rendering or failure to render of professional services, as defined in the complaint.

Your policy defines a claim as follows:

- CLAIM means the following:
 - a. written notice, demand, cross claim or lawsuit (including an arbitration proceeding) first reported to the Exchange during the policy period which alleges disability, sickness, disease or death to a patient arising from your rendering or failing to render PROFESSIONAL SERVICES during the policy period.

Congresswoman Carson missed dozens of House votes in 2004 because of illness and spent the weekend before the 2004 election in the hospital for what she said was a flu shot reaction — but still won re-election by 10 percentage points.

She had not been in Washington since September, when she was hospitalized with a leg infection.

Carson's death came three weeks after she announced she had been diagnosed with terminal lung

Judge Rick McIntyre (1956-2007)

Normally, I might write a valedictory piece following the death of person of importance to Fort Wayne, someone who exemplified special character, or someone of statewide importance that my readers ought to know about.

However, I am too numb right now to do that. I have just been told that Lawrence Circuit Court Judge Rick McIntyre was found dead in his home in Bedford, Indiana, at age 51

The custom of lawyers living together during terms of court, dating back as far as Magna Carta (1215), gave rise to the unique English institution of the Inns of Court. The first, the Honorable Society of Lincoln's Inn, was given a home in the reign of Edward I (1272-1307). Its preserved records date from 1422. Sometime later, Inner Temple, Middle Temple, and Gray's Inn were established. At more than a dozen of these Inns, lawyers and students lived and were taught the tradition and learning of the common law. The Inns were subject to supervision by the judges and were associated with the Inns of Chancery.

Because the Inns also taught things such as music and dancing, it was not uncommon to find members who did not intend to enter the legal profession. Those who did, however, had a long and arduous training. The entering student, after two years of instruction in elementary law as a member of an Inn of Chancery, was admitted to the Inn of Court to which it was attached. For the next four or five years he was trained first in answering legal questions and second in arguing moot cases. At that point, he became an inner barrister and could look forward to another eight years of training. Only then was he called to the bar as an utter (or outer) barrister and permitted to practice before King's Bench

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Serial_killer

- THEY FOLLOW THEIR CRIMES IN THE MEDIA CAREFULLY AND OFTEN TAKE PRIDE IN THEIR ACTIONS, AS IF IT WERE A GRAND PROJECT.
- ARGUABLY THE MEDICAL PROFESSION HAS PRODUCED THE MOST SERIAL KILLERS, PRIMARILY AS DOCTORS BUT CLOSELY FOLLOWED BY NURSES.
- AS THEIR KILLINGS CONTINUE. THEY WILL CARRY OUT CAREFUL AND METHODOLOGICAL MURDERS AT THE START, BUT BECOME CARELESS AND IMPULSIVE AS THEIR COMPULSION TAKES OVER THEIR LIVES.
- THEY KILL AND COMMIT CRIMES FOR LARGELY PSYCHOLOGICAL GRATIFICATION
- THE KNOWLEDGE THAT THEIR ACTIONS TERRIFY ENTIRE COMMUNITIES AND OFTEN BAFFLE POLICE ADDS TO THIS SENSE OF POWER.
- THEY APPEAR TO BE QUITE NORMAL AND OFTEN EVEN CHARMING.
- THEY WEAR A MASK OF SANITY.
- THERE IS SOMETIMES A SEXUAL ELEMENT TO THE CRIMES AND MURDERS..
- SERIAL KILLERS ARE SPECIFICALLY MOTIVATED BY A VARIETY OF PSYCHOLOGICAL URGES, PRIMARILY POWER AND SEXUAL COMPULSION.
- USUALLY THERE IS A STRONG SEXUAL ASPECT TO THE CRIMES, EVEN IF IT MAY NOT BE IMMEDIATELY OBVIOUS.
- MOST SERIAL KILLERS MAIN OBJECTIVE FOR KILLING IS TO GAIN AND EXERT POWER OVER THEIR VICTIM. SUCH KILLERS ARE SOMETIMES ABUSED AS CHILDREN, LEAVING THEM WITH FEELINGS OF POWERLESSNESS AND INADEQUACY AS ADULTS
- SOME SERIAL KILLERS GO TO LENGTHS TO MAKE THEIR CRIMES DIFFICULT TO DISCOVER, SUCH AS FALSIFYING SUICIDE NOTES, SETTING UP OTHERS TO TAKE THE BLAME FOR THEIR CRIMES, AND FAKING GANG WARFARE
- ALL SERIAL KILLERS SUFFER FROM SOME FORM OF ANTISOCIAL PERSONALITY DISORDER.
- THEY OFTEN HAVE FEELINGS OF INADEQUACY AND WORTHLESSNESS, SOMETIMES OWING TO HUMILIATION, BULLYING, AND ABUSE IN CHILDHOOD,
- THEIR CRIMES COMPENSATE FOR THIS AND PROVIDE A SENSE OF POTENCY AND OFTEN REVENGE, BY GIVING THEM A FEELING OF POWER, BOTH AT THE TIME OF THE CRIME INFLECTION, ACTUAL KILLING AND AFTERWARDS.
- SOME SERIAL KILLERS ARE KNOWN AS BODY SNATCHERS.

- SOME SERIAL KILLERS ARE NOT A RESULT OF SEXUAL ABUSE, INADEQUACY, OR SOCIOECONOMIC STATUS, BUT ARE RATHER THE RESULT OF RETARDED EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT.
- THE LOW LEVEL OF EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT, ARGUABLY, CAUSES SERIAL KILLERS TO HAVE FRACTURED OR DISPARATE PERSONALITIES - THAT IS THEY ARE MISSING COMPONENTS THAT ARE USUALLY PRESENT. LOW EMOTIONAL DEVELOPMENT ALSO EXPLAINS SOME COMMON TRAITS AMONG SERIAL KILLERS SUCH AS CUTTING HOLES IN WOMEN'S PANTIES BECAUSE OF THE MATERIAL'S SOFTNESS.
- A SERIAL KILLER HAS NOT DEVELOPED BASIC LEVELS OF EMOTIONAL CONTROL AND THAT, AS A RESULT, A SERIAL KILLER HAS "FEELINGS OF INADEQUACY AND WORTHLESSNESS, SOMETIMES OWING TO HUMILIATION AND ABUSE" WHICH DRAW THEM TO KILLING;
- RATHER, THE ACT OF KILLING IS ACTUALLY A KIND OF EXPERIMENTATION, WHICH IS UNINHIBITED DUE TO THE SUBJECT'S LOW OR NON-EXISTENT LEVEL OF SYMPATHY/EMPATHY WITH THE VICTIMS.
- SERIAL KILLERS ARE IN FACT TRYING TO UNDERSTAND THEIR OWN EXISTENCE BY INFLICTING PAIN, KILLING, AND EXPERIMENTING WITH VICTIMS.
- THE ELEMENT OF FANTASY IN A SERIAL KILLER'S DEVELOPMENT IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT. THEY OFTEN BEGIN FANTASIZING ABOUT MURDER DURING OR EVEN BEFORE ADOLESCENCE. THEIR FANTASY LIVES ARE VERY RICH AND THEY DAYDREAM COMPULSIVELY ABOUT DOMINATION, SUBMISSION, AND MURDER, USUALLY WITH VERY SPECIFIC ELEMENTS TO THE FANTASY THAT WILL EVENTUALLY BE APPARENT IN THEIR REAL CRIMES.
- ORGANIZED—NONSOCIAL OFFENDER TYPES ARE USUALLY OF HIGH INTELLIGENCE, HAVE AN ABOVE AVERAGE IQ (120+ RANGE), AND PLAN THEIR CRIMES QUITE METHODICALLY.
- THEY WILL OFTEN LURE THE VICTIMS WITH PLOYS APPEALING TO THEIR SENSE OF SYMPATHY.
- THEY MAINTAIN A HIGH DEGREE OF CONTROL OVER THE CRIME SCENE, AND USUALLY HAVE A SOLID KNOWLEDGE OF FORENSIC SCIENCE THAT ENABLES THEM TO COVER THEIR TRACKS.
- THE ORGANIZED KILLER IS USUALLY SOCIALLY ADEQUATE AND HAS FRIENDS AND LOVERS, OFTEN EVEN A SPOUSE AND CHILDREN. THEY ARE THE TYPE WHO, WHEN CAPTURED, ARE MOST LIKELY TO BE DESCRIBED BY ACQUAINTANCES AS KIND AND UNLIKELY TO HURT ANYONE.

- AN ENGLISH FAMILY DOCTOR, IS SLIGHTLY UNUSUAL IN THAT HIS SOCIAL POSITION AND OCCUPATION WAS SUCH THAT HE WAS ABLE TO PORTRAY VICTIMS AS HAVING DIED OF NATURAL CAUSES; BETWEEN 1971 AND 1998 HE KILLED AT LEAST 215, AND POSSIBLY WELL OVER 250, OF HIS OWN MOSTLY ELDERLY PATIENTS – AND UNTIL VERY NEAR THE END OF HIS KILLINGS IT WAS NOT EVEN SUSPECTED THAT ANY CRIMES HAD BEEN COMMITTED.
- DISORGANIZED—ASOCIAL OFFENDERS TYPES ARE OFTEN OF LOW INTELLIGENCE, HAVE A BELOW AVERAGE IQ (80-95), AND COMMIT THEIR CRIMES IMPULSIVELY.
- WHEREAS THE ORGANIZED KILLER WILL SPECIFICALLY SET OUT TO HUNT A VICTIM, THE DISORGANIZED WILL MURDER SOMEONE WHEN THE OPPORTUNITY ARISES, RARELY BOTHERING TO DISPOSE OF THE BODY BUT INSTEAD JUST LEAVING IT AT THE SAME PLACE IN WHICH THEY FOUND THE VICTIM. THEY USUALLY CARRY OUT "BLITZ" ATTACKS, LEAPING OUT AND ATTACKING THEIR VICTIMS WITHOUT WARNING, AND WILL TYPICALLY PERFORM WHATEVER RITUALS THEY FEEL COMPELLED TO CARRY OUT (E.G., NECROPHILIA, MUTILATION, CANNIBALISM, ETC.)
- THEY RARELY BOTHER TO COVER THEIR TRACKS BUT MAY STILL EVADE CAPTURE FOR SOME TIME BECAUSE OF A LEVEL OF CUNNING THAT COMPELS THEM TO KEEP ON THE MOVE.
- THEY ARE OFTEN SOCIALLY INADEQUATE WITH FEW FRIENDS, AND THEY MAY HAVE A HISTORY OF MENTAL PROBLEMS AND BE REGARDED BY ACQUAINTANCES AS ECCENTRIC OR EVEN "A BIT CREEPY."
- THEY HAVE LITTLE INSIGHT INTO THEIR CRIMES AND MAY EVEN BLOCK OUT MEMORIES OF COMMITTING THE MURDERS.
- CONTRARY TO POPULAR OPINION, SERIAL KILLERS ARE RARELY INSANE OR MOTIVATED BY HALLUCINATIONS AND/OR VOICES IN THEIR HEADS.
- THE SON OF SAM, CLAIMED HE WAS FORCED TO KILL BY A DEMON WHICH POSSESSED THE NEIGHBOUR'S DOG
- SO-CALLED MISSIONARY KILLERS BELIEVE THAT THEIR ACTS ARE JUSTIFIED ON THE BASIS THAT THEY ARE GETTING RID OF A CERTAIN TYPE OF PERSON (OFTEN PROSTITUTES OR MEMBERS OF A CERTAIN ETHNICITY), AND THUS DOING SOCIETY A FAVOR.
- HEDONISTIC KILLS FOR THE SHEER PLEASURE OF IT, ALTHOUGH WHAT ASPECT THEY ENJOY VARIES.
- SERIAL KILLER STATEMENT: WHEN I KILLED PEOPLE I HAD A DESIRE SEXUAL EXCITEMENT. THIS INSPIRED ME TO KILL MORE. I DON'T CARE WHETHER THEY DESERVE TO LIVE OR NOT. IT IS NONE OF MY CONCERN"

- SOME KILLERS MAY ENJOY THE ACTUAL "CHASE" OF HUNTING DOWN A VICTIM MORE THAN ANYTHING, WHILE OTHERS MAY BE PRIMARILY MOTIVATED BY THE ACT OF TORTURING AND ABUSING THE VICTIM WHILE THEY ARE ALIVE.
- SOME SERIAL KILLERS ENJOY BOTH THE HUNT AND TORTURING THEIR VICTIMS AFTER CAPTURING AND SUBDUING THEM.

OFTEN THEY INDULGE IN RITUALS THAT ARE LINKED, OFTEN VERY SPECIFICALLY, TO FORMS OF ABUSE THEY SUFFERED THEMSELVES.

have caused cancer in some.

Food and Drug Administration officials said they were notified by Seattle-based

Targeted Genetics last Friday that a patient had experienced a "serious adverse event," regulatory code for a potentially life-threatening condition. The agency immediately shut down the study pending more information. Four days later, the patient died.

The company said 127 people were enrolled in the trial at 20 U.S. research centers. Treatment involves injections of viruses engineered to produce special proteins that can suppress the inflammatory reaction that underlies arthritis.

The company had gained FDA permission last year to increase the viral dose in the study. The company's chief scientific officer, Barrie Carter, said he could not release any details about the patient.

THE BROTHERHOOD Part 6: Population Control

By Ivan Fraser and Mark Beeston (<http://www.truthcampaign.co.uk>)
<http://educate-yourself.org>

Index: Eugenics | Engineered Wars
Eugenics

One of the most alarming of the Elite's doctrines is that of eugenics controlling human

in order to reduce the number of those that the Elite perceive as inferior to create a 'master race' with 'desirable' genetic characteristics. Eugenics had its highest public profile in Nazi Germany but the policies began a long time before Hitler and are continuing to the present day.

The philosophy was pioneered by Thomas Malthus in the 18th/19th centuries who sought to

mortality

in the poor. So-called Malthusianism has since been adopted by different organisations for a variety of excuses. After various eugenics policies in the US states in the late 19th century, including the compulsory sterilisation of the mentally ill and 'undesirables' in Indiana, the Rockefellers established a eugenics research centre in New York. They were supported in this venture by the Harrimans, another family of manipulators.

The First International Congress of Eugenics was held in London in 1912 and was attended by a certain Winston Churchill. By 1917, fifteen US states had eugenics laws to sterilise epileptics, the mentally ill and regular criminals. On the agenda of the Third International Congress in 1932 was the 'problem' of African-Americans which, according to the delegates, revealed a need to sterilise to 'cut off bad stock'. At this meeting were several Nazis, including Dr Ernst Rudin, who had been enabled to attend by the Hamburg-Amerika Shipping Line, owned by the Harriman and Bush families. On returning to Germany, Rudin, who was funded by the Rockefellers, supervised the policy of sterilising those who were retarded, deaf, blind or alcoholics.

Between 1941 and 1943, at the same time as the 'master race' mentality in Hitler's Germany was being condemned by the rest of the world, 42,000 people were sterilised in the US. Five years later the

Sterilisation League/ Birthright Inc. established a eugenics centre in North Carolina which began a project to forcibly sterilise young children who were considered to have a low IQ. This was part funded by the Gray family, close friends of the Bush's. After the war, John D. Rockefeller III and John Foster Dulles campaigned against the extension of the non-white populations and in 1952 launched the Population Council. This still exists and is still advocating zero population growth in the US, family planning in the developing sector and the expansion of the Club of Rome's 'Malthusianism'. (See later for details of the Club of Rome.)

Eugenics policies are funded by the World Bank which, at the Rio summit, pledged to double the money available to population control. Birth control is now forced on the developing countries

The extent of the population control towards which the Elite are striving was revealed in the 1962/63 'Report from Iron Mountain', a secret study group into controlling population without war. It sought completely artificial procreation to supersede the 'ecological function of war'. This was to include total control of contraception via water supplies and essential food stuffs so babies could only be conceived by those to whom a carefully controlled antidote had been administered. Such a system was apparently already under development 35 years ago!

George Bush is a major voice in the eugenics movement and is

William Draper III (head of fundraising for his 1980 presidential campaign). Draper's grandfather had unsuccessfully urged eugenics policies on Eisenhower before convincing Johnson to adopt them. In 1969 Bush was involved in hearings into the 'dangers of too many black babies' and when he became ambassador to the UN in 1972 he arranged for the Association of Voluntary Surgical Contraception (formerly the Sterilisation League) to extend its policy of sterilising young children with 'low' IQ to non-white countries. This was further extended when Bush became president in 1988.

Engineered Wars

War is one of the most effective ways of culling an 'undesirable' population as Thomas

Ferguson, a member of the Office of Population Affairs, explains:

'to reduce the population quickly you have to pull all the males into the fighting and kill significant numbers of fertile, child-bearing age, females.'

From his position of 'shuttle' diplomat, Henry Kissinger has successfully engineered conflict throughout the world. In Vietnam, the war was caused by the movement of hundreds of thousands of people from the north to the south a move forced on them by the Saigon Military Mission, created by the CIA in 1954.

With no food, they resorted to theft, and by labelling the

Under the pretext that they were controlled by the Khmer Rouge, the north Vietnamese were severely bombed. According to estimates, 30-500,000 Cambodians died in the bombings,

Kissinger with US/China liaisons headed by George Bush. The Khmer

Rouge reacted, as expected, and took Cambodia, murdering 32% of the population. During the war, the CIA station in Saigon co-ordinated Operation

Phoenix which reportedly murdered 40,000 Vietnamese on 'suspicion' of working for the Viet Cong that is, they could read and write. Two of the US commanders in the conflict were Maxwell Taylor and William Westmoreland, both members of the Population Crisis Council and Draper Fund.

The Yom Kippur war and countless other 'civil wars' in Central America and Africa have been engineered by Kissinger to cull populations as even when it is not the prime aim; mass killings are perceived as a useful by-product of war.

Kissinger is a member of the Club of Rome and in 1974 supervised the production of National Security Study Memo 200 about the implications of population growth. This stated that population growth in the developing world would lead to a desire for self determination of their economies. It continued that the population must therefore be controlled, but this fact must be withheld from the country's leaders.

Amongst the countries specifically targeted were Ethiopia, Columbia, India, Nigeria, Mexico and Indonesia.

Indonesia is an horrendous example of conflict creation for the purposes of eugenics and corporate control, while public bodies and the media remain obstinately silent. General Suharto took control of Indonesia in 1965 through a CIA-backed coup and has since been responsible for 500,000 murders in his own country. However, because his administration is subservient to Western corporations, allowing them to exploit the land and the people (e.g. Reebok), this appalling tragedy goes unchallenged in the media.

In December 1975 Indonesia invaded the Portuguese colony of East Timor and, in the following years, proceeded to slaughter 200,000 people, a third of the Timorese population. This genocide (eugenics) has been carried out with arms from Britain (British Aerospace's Hawk Jets) and US, approval from the West (Kissinger and Ford were in Indonesia days before the invasion) and complete silence in the mass media. The simple reason is that oil and gas reserves had been discovered off the coast of East Timor which the multinational oil companies could exploit only if controlled by a corporate-friendly culture like Indonesia.

THE DEADLY PUERTO RICAN CANCER EXPERIMENT

http://www.democraticunderground.com/discuss/duboard.php?az=show_message&forum=104&topic_id=3312956&message_id=3327364

In 1931, Cornelius Rhoads, a North American pathologist at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Investigations in San Juan, carried out a murderous "experiment" in which 13 Puerto Ricans died after being purposely infected with cancer. In a letter to another doctor, leaked to the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party, Rhoads wrote: "the Porto Ricans are beyond doubt the dirtiest, laziest, most degenerate and thievish race of men ever inhabiting this sphere.

It makes you sick to inhabit the same island with them. What the island needs is not public health work, but a tidal wave or something to totally exterminate the population. It might then be liveable. I have done my best to further the process of extermination by killing off eight and transplanting cancer into several more. The latter has not resulted in any fatalities so far.... The matter of consideration for the patients' welfare plays no role here - in fact, all physicians take delight in the abuse and torture of the unfortunate subjects".

When the case was brought to the press by Don Pedro Albizu Campos (the Nationalist Party President), the North American Governor of Puerto Rico had a prosecutor investigate the charge. Rhoads never denied writing the letter, but despite evidence proving that 13 patients had died, eight of whom were treated by Rhoads, the prosecutor exonerated Rhoads, calling him merely "a mentally ill person or a man with few scruples."

However, this "mentally ill person" went on to direct the establishment of US Army chemical warfare laboratories in Maryland, Utah, and the Panama Canal Zone, for which he was awarded the Legion of Merit in 1945. That same year, Rhoads was appointed to the staff of the US Atomic Energy Commission. The Commission was at that time carrying out radiation experiments on unwitting prisoners, hospital patients and soldiers.

Meanwhile, a 1950 Puerto Rican Nationalist insurrection led to the arrest of hundreds of activists, including Don Pedro Albizu. The prisoners later charged they were experimented on with drugs. According to Nationalist Party leaders, Rhoads was finally getting his revenge for Albizu's earlier murder charge. Albizu was denounced by US and local colonial officials as a lunatic, but doctors eventually supported his charges. His health steadily deteriorated, and he died shortly after his release from prison in 1965. Subsequent documents have supported both his original murder charges and his allegations of radiation poisoning.

Gee. Cancer cell injections. That's what Jack Ruby said did him in.

Bet old Rockefeller liked Rhoads. So must've the Harrimans, etc. Bushes too. Wonder if Vannevar Bush did?

The Psychological Strategy Board was like the Rhodes's Secret Society inner circle "The Society of the Elect."

<http://www.geocities.com/CapitolHill/2807/wwcfrsos.html>

The Psychological Strategy Board coordinated well planned psycho-political operations scripted by Council on Foreign Relations members in the State Department. The group contributed to the psycho-political operation by maintaining close relations with key policy-making groups, attending meetings of the National Security Council, and keeping in close touch with members of the President's cabinet. Group members would influence key individuals to act to achieve the desired outcome of the planned military, economic , and diplomatic action . Group members would monitor and report problems as they emerged and help to devise and implement ways to overcome the problem.

The group would devise ways and means of manipulating the public, Congress, and Government personnel, from the President on down, to to accept the desired policy and avoid its being set back by off-the-cuff and ill-timed remarks of prominent citizens, or public disapproval.

The policy was designed to maximize profits of Council on Foreign Relations controlled medicine, media, munitions, energy, banking and food industries by maintaining the largest military industrial complex in peace time history. Policy designed to maximize the advantages of a small group of people belonging to the Council on Foreign Relations were rarely in the best interest of the American Public.

In 1953 President Eisenhower commissioned the Jackson committee. Its mission was to study psychological warfare and propaganda. The Jackson Committee worked with the Hickenlooper Committee, who ran the Overseas Information Programs. The Hickenlooper Committees staff came from the Department of State, Department of Defense, Central Intelligence Agency, Mutual Security Agency, and Office of Defense Mobilization. Council on Foreign Relations member Abbott Washburn served as Executive Secretary of the Hickenlooper Committee. Council on Foreign Relations member Gordon Gray , architect of the Psychological Strategy Board, was a member of the Jackson committee.

The Jackson committee recommended abolishing the Psychological Strategy Board, establishing the Operations Coordinating Board, and creating an information program to influence people throughout the world. President Eisenhower described the Hickenlooper/Jackson recommendations as "the reconstitution and revitalization of the National Security Council," The Jackson Committees' report explained, "In reality, there is a "psychological" aspect or implication to every diplomatic, economic, or military policy and action.

This implication should receive more careful attention, both in the planning and execution stage of policy... Every significant act of virtually every department and agency of Government has its effect, either positively or negatively, in the global struggle for freedom. The important task is to build awareness throughout the entire Government of the impact of day-to-day governmental actions and to coordinate and time such actions so as to derive from them the maximum advantages." THE MILITARIZATION OF NEUROSCIENCE

<http://thebulletin.org/columns/hugh-gusterson/20070410.html>

By Hugh Gusterson | 10 April 2007

We've seen this story before: The Pentagon takes an interest in a rapidly changing area of scientific knowledge, and the world is forever changed. And not for the better.

During World War II, the scientific field was atomic physics. Afraid that the Nazis were working on an atomic bomb, the U.S. government mounted its own crash project to get there first. The Manhattan Project was so secret that Congress did not know what it was funding and Vice President Harry S. Truman did not learn about it until FDR's death made him president. In this situation of extreme secrecy, there was almost no ethical or political debate about the Bomb before it was dropped on two cities by a bureaucratic apparatus on autopilot.

Despite J. Robert Oppenheimer's objections, a few Manhattan Project scientists organized a discussion on the implications of the "Gadget" for civilization shortly before the bomb was tested. Another handful issued the Franck Report, advising against dropping the bomb on cities without a prior demonstration and warning of the dangers of an atomic arms race. Neither initiative had any discernible effect. We ended up in a world where the United States had two incinerated cities on its conscience, and its pursuit of nuclear dominance created a world of nuclear overkill and mutually assured destruction.

This time we have a chance to do better. The science in question now is not physics, but neuroscience, and the question is whether we can control its militarization.

According to Jonathan Moreno's fascinating and frightening new book, Mind Wars: Brain Research and National Defense (Dana Press 2006), the Defense Advanced Research Projects Agency has been funding research in the following areas:

Mind-machine interfaces ("neural prosthetics") that will enable pilots and soldiers to control high-tech weapons by thought alone.

"Living robots" whose movements could be controlled via brain implants. This technology has already been tested successfully on "roborats" and could lead to animals remotely directed for mine clearance, or even to remotely controlled soldiers.

"Cognitive feedback helmets" that allow remote monitoring of soldiers' mental state.

MRI technologies ("brain fingerprinting") for use in interrogation or airport screening for terrorists. Quite apart from questions about their error rate, such technologies would raise the issue of whether involuntary brain scans violate the Fifth Amendment right against self-incrimination.

Pulse weapons or other neurodisruptors that play havoc with enemy soldiers' thought processes.

"Neuroweapons" that use biological agents to excite the release of neurotoxins. (The Biological and Toxin Weapons Convention bans the stockpiling of such weapons for offensive purposes, but not "defensive" research into their mechanisms of action.)

New drugs that would enable soldiers to go without sleep for days, to excise traumatic memories, to suppress fear, or to repress psychological inhibitions against killing.

Moreno's book is important since there has been little discussion about the ethical implications of such research, and the science is at an early enough stage that it might yet be redirected in response to public discussion.

If left on autopilot, however, it's not hard to see where all of this will lead. During the Cold War, misplaced fears of a missile gap and a mind control gap excited an overbuilding of nuclear weapons and unethical LSD experiments on involuntary human subjects. Similarly, we can anticipate future fears of a "neuroweapons" gap, and these fears will justify a headlong rush into research (quite likely to involve unethical human experiments) that will only stimulate our enemies to follow suit.

The military and scientific leaders chartering neuroweapons research will argue that the United States is a uniquely noble country that can be trusted with such technologies, while other countries (except for a few allies) cannot. They will also argue that these technologies will save lives and that U.S. ingenuity will enable the United States to dominate other countries in a neuroweapons race. When it is too late to turn back the clock, they will profess amazement that other countries caught up so quickly and that an initiative intended to ensure American dominance instead led to a world where everyone is threatened by chemicalized soldiers and robotterrorists straight out of Blade Runner.

Meanwhile, individual scientists will tell themselves that, if they don't do the research, someone else will. Research funding will be sufficiently dominated by military grant makers that it will cause some scientists to choose between accepting military funding or giving up their chosen field of research. And the very real dual-use potential of these new technologies (the same brain implant can create a robosoldier or rehabilitate a Parkinson's disease sufferer) will allow scientists to tell themselves that they are "really" working on health technologies to improve the human lot, and the funding just happens to come from the Pentagon.

Does it have to be this way? In spite of obvious problems controlling a field of research that is much less capital-intensive and susceptible to international verification regimes than nuclear weapons research, it is possible that a sustained international conversation between neuroscientists, ethicists, and security specialists could avert the dystopian future sketched out above.

Unfortunately, however, Moreno (p.163) quotes Michael Moodie, a former director of the Chemical and Biological Arms Control Institute, as saying,

"The attitudes of those working in the life sciences contrast sharply with the nuclear community. Physicists since the beginning of the nuclear age, including Albert Einstein, understood the dangers of atomic power, and the need to participate actively in managing these risks. The life sciences sectors lag in this regard. Many neglect thinking about the potential risks of their work."

Time to start talking!

BOYDEN GRAY'S AFFILIATED 1990 Experimental Measles Vaccine

http://www.democraticunderground.com/discuss/duboard.php?az=show_mesg&forum=104&topic_id=3312956&mesg_id=3322157

In June 1990, babies in Los Angeles California were used as human guinea pigs with a experimental measles vaccine called Edmonston Zagreb measles vaccine (E-Z). From 1989 to 1991, Kaiser Permanente along with the L.A. County Department of Health and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC), injected over 700 "mostly minority" babies with unlicensed experimental vaccines with fraudulently-obtained consent from the parents.

To date, it is believed that most of the families affected by this secret experiment are not aware that their child was used as a human guinea pig or, if aware, are not alerted to the long-term health risks of this particular vaccination.

One of several vaccines used in the experiment, Edmonston-Zagreb, high-titer, had already achieved a notorious reputation overseas for triggering the death of numerous babies in closely controlled trials in the Third World. In particular, use of the vaccine had been closely associated with an increased death rate among infant girls in Senegal, Guinea Bissau and Haiti" before their second birthday. At least one baby in the L.A. County experiment died within this same two year window. Reports of other immune and neurological problems are associated with the Kaiser Permanente victims.

When the final story is told, this could likely be one of the most scandalous affairs in the sordid history of human experimentation to rival or exceed that of the Nazis, the Tuskegee syphilis study or the DOE radiation exposure experiments.

If your child received a vaccine injection at one of three L.A. County Kaiser Permanente facilities between January 1990 and December 1991, you may be needed for a class action claim against Kaiser Permanente Foundation. The three hospitals at the center of the experiment were Kaiser East Los Angeles, Kaiser West Los Angeles (Cadillac) and Kaiser Inglewood.

Radiation Scandals

By Anthony and Denise Ji-Ahnte Sibert

Thanks to the persistence of reporter Eileen Wellsome of The Albuquerque Tribune, whose special report last November titled "The Plutonium Experiment" cracked open a decades long scandal of radiation experiments on unsuspecting citizens throughout the country, we are now seeing evidence of the atomic age horrors that so many in the scientific community and government knew but kept silent about. It is a collection of U.S. government sponsored guinea pig experiments. But there is also another sad fact: The experiments reveal a disturbingly large involvement of people of color, especially African-Americans.

Though it is clear that other reports of radiation tests on civilians--mainly poor, disadvantaged, or mentally impaired--during the Cold War were not limited to blacks only, they do show a continuing legacy of medical science using unsuspecting African Americans. There is little or no informed consent involved. This is nothing new as all African-Americans share a common medical/scientific history: Black lives are easily expendable. Thus it is no surprise that this bitter legacy has found renewal with the recent revelations of the Cold War radiation experiments.

E. Cooper Brown, Director of the National Committee of Radiation Victims, says, "It is my guess that all those experimented on with radiation will turn up to be at least 60 per cent people of color, with a large portion being African Americans." If this is indeed true, then African Americans will be part of yet another medical/scientific nightmare comparable to--and even surpassing--the Tuskegee experiments.

The Tuskegee experiments were a 40 year government sponsored medical study begun in 1932 that allowed 399 late stage syphilitic African American men to go untreated, even when safe and effective medical treatments were available in the 1940s. Also affected were 50 wives who were infected by their husbands and 20 children who were given the disease congenitally. When the study became public in 1972 after an expose by Jean Heller of the Associated Press, there was much public outcry with many in the black community saying the study already confirmed their suspicions of a governmental plan for genocide of black Americans. Congress held hearings to investigate the study resulting in passage of the 1974 National Research Act which implemented stricter federal guidelines on research institutions using federal money and mandating institutional review boards to oversee research using human subjects--which are currently being violated on a grand scale.

As in the Tuskegee experiments, the radiation tests also show a very benign concern by the researchers for their black patients. When we interviewed Dr. Louis A. Gottschalk, Professor Emeritus of Psychiatry and Human Behavior at the University of California, Irvine, and author of the 1969 study "Total and HalfBody Irradiation," we asked him was there follow-up on the patients to see if any were still alive during 1969 (his study looked at 16 patients, 13 of which were black). He said, "These were terminal cancer patients. I was interested in just cognitive aspects--there were no follow-ups."

Lets examine what is currently known regarding the involvement of African Americans in the Cold War radiation tests:

Injecting Newborn Babies with Radioactive Iodide in Memphis

<http://www.zmag.org/ZMag/articles/may94sibert.htm>

During 1953 and 1954, seven newborn babies--six of whom were black--were injected with radioactive iodide at the John Gaston Hospital, a now defunct public hospital in Memphis, TN. The study was conducted by Lester Van Middlesworth, now professor emeritus of physiology, biophysics and medicine at the University of Tennessee's College of Medicine. Middlesworth claims race was not a factor, telling the Albuquerque Tribune, "It [Gaston Hospital] was primarily a charity hospital and a large percentage of the charity internees were Black." Yet Middlesworth wrote in a 1954 report that the "use of radiation in the very young organisms is open to question." And in an interview with Tribune staff writer Eileen Welsome he says, "Naturally we hoped there was no damage." But he also reveals that he lost track of the babies and never did any follow-up on their health.

John Gofman, a leading scientist on the effects of low-level radiation and professor emeritus at the University of California, Berkeley put it plainly by saying the children would have an increased risk of getting cancer and "To do nothing is criminal..." To date officials have located the names of the babies involved (they would be in their late 30s now) and are in the process of contacting them, but DOE official Mike Gauldin admitted last December that his agency didn't "have any information about these specific experiments and don't know anything about them." Equally ominous is that five other similar experiments were carried out in Detroit, Michigan; Omaha, Nebraska; Little Rock, Arkansas; and Iowa City, Iowa, with a total of 235 newborns and older infants experimented on.

Creating and Cutting Blisters to inject Radioactive Mercury

For more than a decade, at least 300 African Americans, mostly female patients, were involved in 15 studies designed by researchers from Tulane University and Charity Hospital in New Orleans, Louisiana that subjected them to swallowing radioactive capsules, being injected with radioactive mercury into laboratory created blisters that were intentionally cut open, enduring 118-degree heat and intentional diarrhea. Supposedly the studies were designed to see the effect of mercury for people with congestive heart failure. But the 300 black patients did not have the disease. Officials at the hospital claim the patients volunteered.

Elmer Allen was an African-American Pullman porter who, because of a freak accident on a train, injured his leg which was diagnosed first as a fracture, then a lesion, and finally bone cancer. The treatment recommended was amputation. But on July 18, 1947, at the University of California Hospital at San Francisco, three days before his leg was amputated, Allen received an injection of plutonium 238 in the muscle of his leg. Though his injection of plutonium was a smaller dosage than the other 18 plutonium subjects, Allen's plutonium 238 dosage is considered "hotter" as it is more radioactive than plutonium 239. Further, due to Allen's amputation, approximately half of the plutonium 238 stayed in the remaining part of his leg resulting in his receiving six times the radiation for the average person. Allen was the last subject of 18 people injected with plutonium during the 1940s.

Officials who designed the study say that Allen was informed about the experiment and signed a consent form allowing them to make the plutonium injection, but a 1974 follow-up investigative study by the Atomic Energy Commission found that patients were not told plutonium was being injected into their bodies (Allen was told he was receiving a radioactive substance), relatives were not properly informed for requests to exhume bodies, and long-term survivors such as Allen, who lived decades after the injections, were not properly informed in 1973, the reason they were part of a follow-up study.

Denial of health insurance coverage on Sick Cell

During the late 1960s and early 1970s, the government sponsored genetic screening and counseling for those who had sickle cell anemia, a disease that mainly affects African Americans. The program was stopped due to the African American community's suspicions and lack of participation. Its easy to see why: Some insurance companies were requiring their African American customers to take tests for sickle cell anemia. If they refused to take the test or tested positive, insurance coverage was denied.

THE RADIATION STORY NO ONE WOULD TOUCH

by Geoffrey Sea

Sea is an Oakland-based writer, radiological health physicist, and international activist on radiation issues. He is the founder and director of In Vivo: Radiation Response and the Atomic Reclamation and Conversation Project of the Tides Foundation, and a co-founder of IRIS: International Radiation Injury Survivors.

Suddenly, at the close of 1993, the public was bombarded with "news" about the feeding of radioactive substances to pregnant women and mentally retarded students, about the unethical irradiation of workers, soldiers, medical patients, and prison inmates, and about the government's own internal fears that these experiments had "a little of the Buchenwald touch." But the story that appeared in The Albuquerque Tribune (circulation: 35,000) on November 15-17, and was then projected into the national headlines by the forthright admissions and initiatives of Secretary of Energy Hazel O'Leary, was hardly new.

By 1984, activists and researchers across the country were systematically investigating the human experimentation program and attempting to bring it to public attention. By 1986, documentation of the program was massive, solid, and publicly available.

I am among those who persistently tried to get national media coverage of this outrageous example of government wrongdoing. To say that the media were reluctant to listen would be an understatement. The fact is that, for more than a decade, documentation was ignored and facts were misrepresented.

What follows is a chronology of significant events in the strange history of this important story -- one that began to receive adequate coverage only after almost all the victims were dead and most of the perpetrators retired:

1971: The Washington Post reveals that a research team at the University of Cincinnati, under the leadership of Eugene Saenger, has been irradiating "mentally enfeebled" patients -- all of them poor and most of them black -- at dose rates known to have harmful effects. The aim of the research, funded by the Department of Defense: to discover whether and under what conditions soldiers on an atomic battlefield would be cognitively impaired.

A review panel is established at the University of Cincinnati. However, the ethical issues are subordinated to the relatively technical question of the mechanism for obtaining consent. The experiments continue. No one seems to consider the obvious ethical problem involved in extracting "informed consent" from patients selected because of their "low-educational level . . . low-functioning intelligence quotient . . . and strong evidence of cerebral organic deficit." The researchers claim that the patients "benefit" from the radiation exposure, despite the fact that the radiation far exceeds recommended therapeutic doses, that the treatments are not intended to have a therapeutic effect, and that, in Saenger's own estimation, eight patient deaths could possibly be attributed to the "treatments."

1972: The researchers quietly end their experiments when evidence of harmful effects begins to mount. After a cursory review by the American College of Radiology, no one bothers to reopen the case for public scrutiny. No attempt is made to monitor the health of the surviving experimental subjects.

1975: Following revelations of army-sponsored LSD experiments, Senator Edward Kennedy chairs hearings on human experimentation funded by the Department of Defense and the Central Intelligence Agency. Radiation experiments, however, are not mentioned either in the hearings or in media coverage.

1976: Science Trends, a newsletter published in the National Press Building in Washington, D.C., reveals an experiment carried out in San Francisco, Chicago, and Rochester, New York, as part of the Manhattan

Project, that "involved the injection of relatively massive quantities of bomb-grade plutonium into the veins of 18 men, women, and children." The article implies that the experiment was an isolated historical case, and concludes: "Whether injecting the key ingredient of the atomic bomb into unsuspecting patients can be equated with Nazi wartime experiments is a matter which is today considered moot."

1981: The case of Dwayne Sexton, irradiated as a child as part of NASA-sponsored research aimed at discovering the potential effects of radiation exposure on astronauts, gains fleeting attention when the mother of the child links the death of her son to the experiments. Mother Jones runs a cover story on the Sexton case. Albert Gore, then a young congressman from Tennessee, where the experiments had taken place, follows up with hearings on the Oak Ridge Total Body Irradiation Program. Neither the article nor the hearings links the Sexton case with the Saenger experiments or with the broader program of human experimentation with radiation.

Early-1980s: A network of activist-researchers starts to compile the full and extensive record of U.S. radiation experiments on humans.

* In Cincinnati, Ohio, Dr. David Egilman of the Greater Cincinnati Occupational Health Center and I are investigating experiments conducted on nuclear workers and following the trail of the Saenger experiments. At the time, I am employed as a health consultant by the Oil, Chemical, and Atomic Workers Union and the Fernald Atomic Trades and Labor Council. The unions are concerned about the intentional radioactive contamination of workers' skin as a means of testing external cleansing agents and about the continuing use of workers as experimental subjects in the development of chelation drugs to treat internal exposure to radioactive heavy metals.

In the course of pressing claims for worker's compensation, we discover that the AEC/DOE has secretly contracted with local hospitals and coroners for the collection of fluid and tissue samples, surgically removed organs, and autopsy specimens -- in some cases, whole cadavers of atomic workers. Some of these specimens are being taken and destroyed by the government, often without the knowledge or against the expressed wishes of the workers and/or their survivors.

We suspect that this "body-snatching" program serves a dual purpose: it helps the government accumulate data for military purposes, while at the same time it results in the destruction of physical evidence that could support compensation claims. Finally, we are concerned that Dr. Saenger has become the chief consultant and expert witness for the government in defending itself and its contractors against liability suits.

* In California, Dorothy Legarreta, who had worked on the Manhattan Project as a laboratory technician, organizes the National Association of Radiation Survivors (NARS) and starts to write a book about human experimentation. In 1982, while examining the papers of Joseph Hamilton -- the scientist in charge of radiation experiments at the University of California -- at the library of the University of California at Berkeley, she comes across a 1950 memo written to Shields Warren, then director of the Atomic Energy Commission's Division of biology and medicine. The memo advised that large primates -- chimpanzees, for example -- be substituted for humans in the planned studies on radiation's cognitive effects (the very same program of experimentation that Dr. Saenger was to execute). The use of humans, Hamilton wrote, might leave the AEC open "to considerable criticism," since the experiments as proposed had "a little of the Buchenwald touch."

After Legarreta finds the so-called Buchenwald memo, Hamilton's papers are removed from public access by University of California administrators. Soon after this, Legarreta files a Freedom of Information Act request with the Department of Energy, asking for all documents concerning experiments in which humans were intentionally exposed to radioactive materials through injection or ingestion. Later that year, NARS receives a two-foot-high carton of documents in response -- documents that, for the first time, expose the widespread human experimentation program of the U.S. government.

* In Missouri, Dotte Troxell is trying to document her own horrific experience and to demonstrate the bonds that unite all experiment survivors. In 1957, while working at the AEC's Kansas City plant, run by Bendix, she had been involved in a serious radiation accident. When the symptoms of acute radiation syndrome began appearing (hair loss, nausea, purpura, and hemorrhaging), she was sent to the Lovelace Clinic in New Mexico, a clinic established by the AEC for developing treatments for radiation injury.

Because Troxell was thought to be near death, and presumably because she had been exposed to a Cobalt-60 calibration source that allowed the dose to her organs to be precisely determined, the doctors at Lovelace did exploratory surgery on her, probably to obtain tissue biopsies from her internal organs. When she awoke from surgery and asked what had been done to her, the doctors said they could not tell her for "national security" reasons. After suffering radiogenic cataracts in both eyes and giving birth to a son with congenital diabetes, Troxell founds VOTE: Victims and Veterans Opposed to Technological Experimentation.

* In Knoxville, Tennessee, Clifford T. Honicker and Jacqueline Kittrell are investigating the human experimentation program at the DOE's nuclear complex at Oak Ridge. They locate and begin to analyze the papers of Stafford Warren, who had been medical director of the Manhattan Project and who subsequently directed the Oak Ridge medical program. Those of Warren's papers that are obtained, including classified documents and medico-legal files, provide a clear picture of the origins of the government's human experimentation program, as well as of the government's policy of denying compensation to radiation survivors. Honicker and Kittrell found the Radiation Research Project, which later becomes the American Environmental Health Studies Project.

Mid-1980s: Our network has accumulated enough documentation on the human experimentation program to go public. We do so at press conferences held in Cincinnati (November 1984), Knoxville (May 1985), Kansas City (May 1986), and Berkeley (July 1986). At each of the last three conferences, Hamilton's Buchenwald memo is released to the press, but no mainstream paper mentions it.

1985-86: In contract talks, the labor council representing workers at the DOE's Fernald, Ohio, uranium plant demands disclosure of all human studies involving uranium and plutonium, as well as information about toxic releases to the environment, use of atomic workers as experimental subjects, and the body-snatching program. Rather than release this information to the labor council, DOE officials contact the AFL-CIO leadership and threaten to close the plant if labor will not honor its "national security obligations." Frank Martino, president of the International Chemical workers Union, writes to Paul Burnsky, president of the AFL-CIO Metal Trades Department, calling for an end to "continued efforts to represent the community" -- a reference to the council's attempt to obtain information from the DOE through collective bargaining. The unions back off on their demand for information and abruptly terminate my employment. Dr. Egilman is instructed to stop all radiation-related work. He chooses instead to resign.

Dr. Egilman and I decide that now is the time to take everything we have and give it to The New York Times. Dr. Egilman gives the Buchenwald memo to Times reporter Matthew Wald, a college acquaintance. But no article appears in 1985, and there is no word from the Times. I contact Times reporter Stuart Diamond, describe the outlines of the story, arrange a meeting, assemble a stack of documents, and fly to New York. Diamond and I meet at a restaurant at La Guardia Airport. After reviewing the documents, including the Buchenwald memo, he says he will come to Ohio and look into the story.

On January 28, 1986, the date of Diamond's intended arrival, I am working at my desk with the television turned on but the sound off, as I often do. I am distracted at one point by a striking picture on the TV screen: a beautiful white plume of smoke unfurling against the azure sky. It is the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger. Within the hour Diamond calls to say that he will be investigating the Challenger disaster -- and thus won't be coming to Ohio any time soon. He tells me to wait until he's done with the Challenger story. I wait for three months.

On April 26, the number three unit at the Chernobyl nuclear energy station explodes, and melts down. Diamond leaves to cover the accident. I leave Cincinnati and head for Kansas City, where, on May 5, Dotte Troxell and I hold a press conference. We say that U.S. criticism of Soviet secrecy on Chernobyl is hypocritical and call on the U.S. government to release all data on human experimentation. In our press release we attack the credibility of Dr. Saenger -- who has quickly been hired to advise the U.S. government on Chernobyl's impact on U.S. personnel stationed in Europe and has become the media's authority on Chernobyl's health effects.

Our press release also details the U.S. human experimentation program "that has, at various times, included the exposure of prisoners, mental patients, terminal cancer patients, and paid volunteers to 'non-therapeutic' radiation doses . . ." Again, we show the Buchenwald memo to the press. The press responds with silence. A number of us start working our congressional contacts. Cliff Honicker, Dorothy Legarreta, and I all had a close working relationship with the House Subcommittee on Energy Conservation and Power when it had been under the chairmanship of Representative Richard Ottinger of New York. Near the

By 1986 chairmanship of the subcommittee has passed to Edward Markey of Massachusetts. Eager to see some result of the investigation, we press the subcommittee to go public in hearings and a report. No hearings are held -- a curious fact given the magnitude of the issue -- but in October the staff issues its report. "American Nuclear Guinea Pigs: Three Decades of Radiation Experiments on U.S. Citizens." Markey simultaneously issues a press release that states: "The purpose of several experiments was actually to cause injury to the subjects . . . American citizens thus became nuclear calibration devices for experimenters run amok."

The Markey report, which contains all the relevant facts that would be treated as major revelations seven years later, results in minor and often misleading news stories in several papers. The New York Times's Matthew Wald extracts a single strand from the ninety-five-page report -- news that some of the releases of radioactive iodine from the Hanford, Washington, nuclear facility had been intentional -- and turns it into a story that runs on page A-20. The other ninety-plus pages of the report, which deal with unethical clinical experiments, are downplayed in a small, unbylined piece headed VOLUNTEERS AROUND U.S. SUBMITTED TO RADIATION. Contrary to the Markey report and to fact, the headline and article imply that all subjects had volunteered for the experiments and that they knew they were subjected to radiation. Neither article mentions the Buchenwald memo.

Of all the papers that come to our attention, only The Daily Californian, the student newspaper at the University of California at Berkeley, points up the Buchenwald memo. In a piece titled "At Buchenwald and Berkeley," editor-in-chief Howard Levine quotes from the November 28, 1950, memo by Dr. Hamilton and incisively criticizes reporting on the Markey report by the San Francisco Chronicle and The New York Times. Both papers, he writes, "minimized the gross inhumanity of these tests by downplaying their scope and ignoring the fact that most of the experiments were conducted without the 'informed consent' demanded by the Nuremburg protocols of 1946-47."

1987: Eileen Welsome of The Albuquerque Tribune starts looking into the plutonium-injection experiment, after coming across a footnote about it in a report on animal experimentation at the Air Force Weapons Laboratory at Kirtland Air Force Base in New Mexico.

1988: Dorothy Legarreta is killed in a mysterious car crash, reminiscent of the death of Karen Silkwood. Legarreta's briefcase -- listed on the accident report as being found -- is missing. The tow-truck driver says that the solid aluminum case was discarded because it was badly damaged,, though such an action would be against the law. I was working with Legarreta just prior to her death and know that her briefcase contained a file titled "hot docs" -- formerly secret documents that she and I had culled from government papers obtained through a class action lawsuit by veterans who had been intentionally exposed to atomic blasts and radiation while in the service.

1989: On November 19, The New York Times Magazine publishes an article by Cliff Honicker titled "The Hidden Files." The subtitle reads: "In 1946, a Nuclear Accident Killed One Scientist and Injured Several Others. The Government Response to That Tragedy Established a Pattern of Secrecy That Still Exists." Based in large part on the files Honicker had discovered five years earlier, the closely focused article does not deal with the government's years-long human experimentation program and its origins.

1991: 60 Minutes airs a segment on the government's body-snatching program. In his introduction to the January 13 segment, Harry Reasoner says: "In the case of the men and women who have worked in this country's nuclear-weapons industry, the government is apparently willing to go to any lengths to defeat workers' claims that they were injured or killed by exposure to radiation -- any lengths, including falsifying records, concealing evidence, even trying to steal human remains . . ." Oddly, according to the segment's producer, one of the most powerful interviews -- with a courier who arranges for the shipment of body parts to Los Alamos and who was present at a secret autopsy at which body parts were removed without the knowledge or consent of the family -- winds up on the cutting room floor.

Meanwhile, Jackie Kittrell and Cliff Honicker have been combing the hills of Tennessee, trying to track down women who, while pregnant, had been unwitting subjects in radioisotope ingestion studies decades earlier. Since some of the initial recruitment for the experiments had been through classified ads placed in newspapers in remote Appalachian towns, Jackie and Cliff try, repeatedly, to get the same papers to run articles describing the experiments and asking the women to come forward on a confidential basis. They try to persuade the Nashville Tennessean to run such articles because one of the largest experiments, involving more than 800 pregnant women, took place at Vanderbilt University, in Nashville. At least one reporter -- Carolyn Shoulders at The Tennessean -- proposes articles about the experimentation program to her editors, but no proposal meets with approval.

1992: In May, frustrated by the feeling that we are shouting in the wind, Dotte Troxell announces that she will begin a hunger strike in July, which she says she will continue until death unless the government releases all data on the experiments and provides care for all survivors. She says she prefers death "on her own terms" to a slow, quiet death preceded by the intensifying pains of her radiation injuries and she wants to use the hunger strike to help establish a union called IRIS: International Radiation Injury Survivors. But, fatigued and under the influence of pain-killing drugs, she dies in a tractor accident in late-May.

She leaves behind the text of an intended final speech in which she asks to be cremated so that "the perpetrators of cruel and barbaric experimentation" will be denied "the knowledge they seek." She also for gives all those in the government, the public interest community, and the media who continue to "ignore our plight, for they know not -- they were not on shipboard in the nuclear Pacific tests or in the trenches in Nevada, nor are they with the veterans in VA hospitals . . ."

1993: In mid-November, The Albuquerque Tribune publishes Eileen Welsome's three-part series, "The Plutonium Experiment." In late-December, a decade after Kittrell and Honicker alerted the paper to the story -- The Tennessean finally publishes an article about the Vanderbilt experiment and its medical follow-up study.

Emma Craft, who had never known that she had been fed radioactive iron in the 1940s, reads a detailed description of the 1958 death by cancer of an unnamed eleven-year-old girl whom she recognizes as her daughter.

1994: Craft, along with a handful of other women who have learned through The Tennessean that they had been experimental subjects, files a class action lawsuit against a long list of defendants, led by Vanderbilt University. (I sign on as a radiation expert with the law firm representing the women and surviving children.)

Acting as if the recent "revelations" are news to him, John Herrington, Secretary of Energy in the Reagan administration and now vice-chairman of the California republican party, tells The Associated Press that during his tenure "there had not been enough work done to establish that there was a problem." This is reported without comment or correction.

59. Rhoads INJECTED Puerto Ricans with CANCER cells.

Rhoads really was an American NAZI all DUers should know:

In 1931, Dr. Cornelius Rhoads (sometimes spelled: "Rhode") began the Puerto Rican Cancer Experiment, under the auspices of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Investigations. Rhode infected Puerto Ricans -- human beings -- with cancer cells. He later goes on to establish the U.S. Army Biological Warfare facilities in Maryland, Utah, and Panama, and is named to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. While there, he begins a series of radiation exposure experiments on American soldiers and civilian hospital patients ...

THE PUERTO RICAN CANCER EXPERIMENT

In 1931, Cornelius Rhoads, a North American pathologist at the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Investigations in San Juan, carried out a murderous "experiment" in which 13 Puerto Ricans died after being purposely infected with cancer. In a letter to another doctor, leaked to the Puerto Rican Nationalist Party, Rhoads wrote: "the Porto Ricans are beyond doubt the dirtiest, laziest, most degenerate and thievish race of men ever inhabiting this sphere. It makes you sick to inhabit the same island with them.... What the island needs is not public health work, but a tidal wave or something to totally exterminate the population. It might then be liveable. I have done my best to further the process of extermination by killing off eight and transplanting cancer into several more. The latter has not resulted in any fatalities so far.... The matter of consideration for the patients' welfare plays no role here - in fact, all physicians take delight in the abuse and torture of the unfortunate subjects".

When the case was brought to the press by Don Pedro Albizu Campos (the Nationalist Party President), the North American Governor of Puerto Rico had a prosecutor investigate the charge. Rhoads never denied writing the letter, but despite evidence proving that 13 patients had died, eight of whom were treated by Rhoads, the prosecutor exonerated Rhoads, calling him merely "a mentally ill person or a man with few scruples."

However, this "mentally ill person" went on to direct the establishment of US Army chemical warfare laboratories in Maryland, Utah, and the Panama Canal Zone, for which he was awarded the Legion of Merit in 1945. That same year, Rhoads was appointed to the staff of the US Atomic Energy Commission. The Commission was at that time carrying out radiation experiments on unwitting prisoners, hospital patients and soldiers.

Meanwhile, a 1950 Puerto Rican Nationalist insurrection led to the arrest of hundreds of activists, including Don Pedro Albizu. The prisoners later charged they were experimented on with drugs. According to Nationalist Party leaders, Rhoads was finally getting his revenge for Albizu's earlier murder charge. Albizu was denounced by US and local colonial officials as a lunatic, but doctors eventually supported his charges. His health steadily deteriorated, and he died shortly after his release from prison in 1965. Subsequent documents have supported both his original murder charges and his allegations of radiation poisoning.

Gee. Cancer cell injections. That's what Jack Ruby said did him in.

DO NOT FORGET: THE PUERTO RICAN CANCER EXPERIMENT WAS NOT THE ONLY ONE.

A History Of US Secret Human Experimentation

<http://www.rense.com/general36/history.htm>

1931 Dr. Cornelius Rhoads, under the auspices of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Investigations, infects human subjects with cancer cells. He later goes on to establish the U.S. Army Biological Warfare facilities in Maryland, Utah, and Panama, and is named to the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission. While there, he begins a series of radiation exposure experiments on American soldiers and civilian hospital patients.

1932 The Tuskegee Syphilis Study begins. 200 black men diagnosed with syphilis are never told of their illness, are denied treatment, and instead are used as human guinea pigs in order to follow the progression and symptoms of the disease. They all subsequently die from syphilis, their families never told that they could have been treated.

1935 The Pellagra Incident. After millions of individuals die from Pellagra over a span of two decades, the U.S. Public Health Service finally acts to stem the disease. The director of the agency admits it had known for at least 20 years that Pellagra is caused by a niacin deficiency but failed to act since most of the deaths occurred within poverty-stricken black populations.

1940 Four hundred prisoners in Chicago are infected with Malaria in order to study the effects of new and experimental drugs to combat the disease. Nazi doctors later on trial at Nuremberg cite this American study to defend their own actions during the Holocaust.

1942 Chemical Warfare Services begins mustard gas experiments on approximately 4,000 servicemen. The experiments continue until 1945 and made use of Seventh Day Adventists who chose to become human guinea pigs rather than serve on active duty.

1943 In response to Japan's full-scale germ warfare program, the U.S. begins research on biological weapons at Fort Detrick, MD.

1944 U.S. Navy uses human subjects to test gas masks and clothing. Individuals were locked in a gas chamber and exposed to mustard gas and lewisite.

1945 Project Paperclip is initiated. The U.S. State Department, Army intelligence, and the CIA recruit Nazi scientists and offer them immunity and secret identities in exchange for work on top secret government projects in the United States.

1945 "Program F" is implemented by the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). This is the most extensive U.S. study of the health effects of fluoride, which was the key chemical component in atomic bomb production. One of the most toxic chemicals known to man, fluoride, it is found, causes marked adverse effects to the central nervous system but much of the information is squelched in the name of national security because of fear that lawsuits would undermine full-scale production of atomic bombs.

1946 Patients in VA hospitals are used as guinea pigs for medical experiments. In order to allay suspicions, the order is given to change the word "experiments" to "investigations" or "observations" whenever reporting a medical study performed in one of the nation's veteran's hospitals.

1947 Colonel E.E. Kirkpatrick of the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission issues a secret document (Document 07075001, January 8, 1947) stating that the agency will begin administering intravenous doses of radioactive substances to human subjects.

1947 The CIA begins its study of LSD as a potential weapon for use by American intelligence. Human subjects (both civilian and military) are used with and without their knowledge.

1950 Department of Defense begins plans to detonate nuclear weapons in desert areas and monitor downwind residents for medical problems and mortality rates.

1950 In an experiment to determine how susceptible an American city would be to biological attack, the U.S. Navy sprays a cloud of bacteria from ships over San Francisco. Monitoring devices are situated throughout the city in order to test the extent of infection. Many residents become ill with pneumonia-like symptoms.

1951 Department of Defense begins open air tests using disease-producing bacteria and viruses. Tests last through 1969 and there is concern that people in the surrounding areas have been exposed.

1953 U.S. military releases clouds of zinc cadmium sulfide gas over Winnipeg, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Fort Wayne, the Monocacy River Valley in Maryland, and Leesburg, Virginia. Their intent is to determine how efficiently they could disperse chemical agents.

1953 Joint Army-Navy-CIA experiments are conducted in which tens of thousands of people in New York and San Francisco are exposed to the airborne germs Serratia marcescens and Bacillus globigii.

1953 CIA initiates Project MKULTRA. This is an eleven year research program designed to produce and test drugs and biological agents that would be used for mind control and behavior modification. Six of the subprojects involved testing the agents on unwitting human beings.

1955 The CIA, in an experiment to test its ability to infect human populations with biological agents, releases a bacteria withdrawn from the Army's biological warfare arsenal over Tampa Bay, Fl.

1955 Army Chemical Corps continues LSD research, studying its potential use as a chemical incapacitating agent. More than 1,000 Americans participate in the tests, which continue until 1958.

1956 U.S. military releases mosquitoes infected with Yellow Fever over Savannah, Ga and Avon Park, Fl. Following each test, Army agents posing as public health officials test victims for effects.

1958 LSD is tested on 95 volunteers at the Army's Chemical Warfare Laboratories for its effect on intelligence.

1960 The Army Assistant Chief-of-Staff for Intelligence (ACSI) authorizes field testing of LSD in Europe and the Far East. Testing of the European population is code named Project THIRD CHANCE; testing of the Asian population is code named Project DERBY HAT.

1965 Project CIA and Department of Defense begin Project MKSEARCH, a program to develop a capability to manipulate human behavior through the use of mind-altering drugs.

1965 Prisoners at the Holmesburg State Prison in Philadelphia are subjected to dioxin, the highly toxic chemical component of Agent Orange used in Viet Nam. The men are later studied for development of cancer, which indicates that Agent Orange had been a suspected carcinogen all along.

1966 CIA initiates Project MKOFTEN, a program to test the toxicological effects of certain drugs on humans and animals.

1966 U.S. Army dispenses Bacillus subtilis variant niger throughout the New York City subway system. More than a million civilians are exposed when army scientists drop lightbulbs filled with the bacteria onto ventilation grates.

1967 CIA and Department of Defense implement Project MKNAOMI, successor to MKULTRA and designed to maintain, stockpile and test biological and chemical weapons.

1968 CIA experiments with the possibility of poisoning drinking water by injecting chemicals into the water supply of the FDA in Washington, D.C.

1969 Dr. Robert MacMahan of the Department of Defense requests from congress $10 million to develop, within 5 to 10 years, a synthetic biological agent to which no natural immunity exists.

1970 Funding for the synthetic biological agent is obtained under H.R. 15090. The project, under the supervision of the CIA, is carried out by the Special Operations Division at Fort Detrick, the army's top secret biological weapons facility. Speculation is raised that molecular biology techniques are used to produce AIDS-like retroviruses.

1970 United States intensifies its development of "ethnic weapons" (Military Review, Nov., 1970), designed to selectively target and eliminate specific ethnic groups who are susceptible due to genetic differences and variations in DNA.

1975 The virus section of Fort Detrick's Center for Biological Warfare Research is renamed the Fredrick Cancer Research Facilities and placed under the supervision of the National Cancer Institute (NCI) . It is here that a special virus cancer program is initiated by the U.S. Navy, purportedly to develop cancer-causing viruses. It is also here that retrovirologists isolate a virus to which no immunity exists. It is later named HTLV (Human T-cell Leukemia Virus).

1977 Senate hearings on Health and Scientific Research confirm that 239 populated areas had been contaminated with biological agents between 1949 and 1969. Some of the areas included San Francisco, Washington, D.C., Key West, Panama City, Minneapolis, and St. Louis.

1978 Experimental Hepatitis B vaccine trials, conducted by the CDC, begin in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco. Ads for research subjects specifically ask for promiscuous homosexual men.

1981 First cases of AIDS are confirmed in homosexual men in New York, Los Angeles and San Francisco, triggering speculation that AIDS may have been introduced via the Hepatitis B vaccine

1985 According to the journal Science (227:173-177), HTLV and VISNA, a fatal sheep virus, are very similar, indicating a close taxonomic and evolutionary relationship.

1986 According to the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences (83:4007-4011), HIV and VISNA are highly similar and share all structural elements, except for a small segment which is nearly identical to HTLV. This leads to speculation that HTLV and VISNA may have been linked to produce a new retrovirus to which no natural immunity exists.

1986 A report to Congress reveals that the U.S. Government's current generation of biological agents includes: modified viruses, naturally occurring toxins, and agents that are altered through genetic engineering to change immunological character and prevent treatment by all existing vaccines.

1987 Department of Defense admits that, despite a treaty banning research and development of biological agents, it continues to operate research facilities at 127 facilities and universities around the nation.

1990 More than 1500 six-month old black and hispanic babies in Los Angeles are given an "experimental" measles vaccine that had never been licensed for use in the United States. CDC later admits that parents were never informed that the vaccine being injected to their children was experimental.

1994 With a technique called "gene tracking," Dr. Garth Nicolson at the MD Anderson Cancer Center in Houston, TX discovers that many returning Desert Storm veterans are infected with an altered strain of Mycoplasma incognitus, a microbe commonly used in the production of biological weapons. Incorporated into its molecular structure is 40 percent of the HIV protein coat, indicating that it had been man-made.

1994 Senator John D. Rockefeller issues a report revealing that for at least 50 years the Department of Defense has used hundreds of thousands of military personnel in human experiments and for intentional exposure to dangerous substances. Materials included mustard and nerve gas, ionizing radiation, psychochemicals, hallucinogens, and drugs used during the Gulf War .

1995 U.S. Government admits that it had offered Japanese war criminals and scientists who had performed human medical experiments salaries and immunity from prosecution in exchange for data on biological warfare research.

1995 Dr. Garth Nicolson, uncovers evidence that the biological agents used during the Gulf War had been manufactured in Houston, TX and Boca Raton, Fl and tested on prisoners in the Texas Department of Corrections.

1997 Eighty-eight members of Congress sign a letter demanding an

The Plutonium Files:

America's Secret Medical Experiments During the Cold War

BOOK REVIEW BY: By R.C. Longworth

November-December 1999 pp. 58-61 (vol. 55, no. 06) © 1999 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists

From April 1945 to July 1947, 18 men, women, and children were injected with plutonium by doctors working with the Manhattan Project. None of the subjects was told what was being done, and none gave informed consent. They were chosen because the doctors believed them to be mortally ill, although many lived for years, even decades, with the plutonium working its damage in their bodies.

The experiments were covered up for 40 years: When they became public, the government apologized but not a single doctor or hospital was publicly blamed. The plutonium injections ended after 27 months, having achieved little.

But other experiments, for the Manhattan Project and the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC), continued into the 1970s. In Nashville, scientists at Vanderbilt University gave pregnant women radioactive cocktails. Prisoners in Oregon and Washington had their testicles radiated with neutrons. At the University of Cincinnati, nearly 200 patients were irradiated over a 15-year period. In Massachusetts, 74 boys at a Dickensian state school for unwanted or homeless boys were fed oatmeal laced with radioactive iron or calcium. The University of Chicago, one of the three sites for the plutonium injections, also fed solutions of strontium and cesium to 102 subjects with the assistance of Argonne National Laboratory. Again, no one told the victims what was going on, nor did anyone ask their consent.

The purpose of the experiments was to judge the effect of radioactivity on the human body. When they began, the Manhattan Project was close to exploding the first atomic bomb. Employees at Oak Ridge and Los Alamos worked with radioactive materials, yet no one knew the long-term effects of radiation on healthy people or on their genes and reproductive capacities. Experiments on animals were inconclusive and unsatisfactory. To protect the health of atomic workers, it was decided to begin human experiments.

In pursuit of this goal, many American doctors violated not only the Hippocratic Oath but the Nuremberg Code, American Medical Association guidelines, and U.S. government regulations. Crimes were committed and, in the end, damages paid, mostly to survivors. As late as 1985, body parts were being severed from cadavers, usually without the knowledge of the next of kin, for shipment to Los Alamos where they were analyzed for plutonium content. More than 15,000 human bodies were raided for this project, which was called Operation Sunshine. At a 1954 conference in Washington D.C., Willard Libby, winner of the Nobel Prize, lamented the shortage of bodies of persons, especially children, who had been exposed to radioactivity. "If anybody knows how to do a good job of body snatching," Libby said, "they will really be serving their country."

http://www.democraticunderground.com/discuss/duboard.php?az=show_mesg&forum=104&topic_id=3312956&mesg_id=3314455

These activities might be expected to cause serious objections from the victimized nationalities, or from U.S. taxpayers, especially if the program is somehow given widespread publicity. Quite aside from moral considerations, legal questions would naturally arise, which could be summed up: How does George Bush think he can get away with this? In this matter the President has expert advice. Mr. (Clayland) Boyden Gray has been counsel to George Bush since the 1980 election. As chief legal officer in the White House, Boyden Gray can walk the President through the dangers and complexities of waging such unusual warfare against Third World populations. Gray knows how these things are done.

When Boyden Gray was four and five years old, his father organized the pilot project for the present worldwide sterilization program, from the Gray family household in North Carolina. It started in 1946. The eugenics movement was looking for a way to begin again in America. Nazi death camps such as Auschwitz had just then seared the conscience of the world. The Sterilization League of America, which had changed its name during the war to "Birthright, Inc.," wanted to start up again. First they had to overcome public nervousness about crackpots proposing to eliminate "inferior" and "defective" people. The League tried to surface in Iowa, but had to back off because of negative publicity: A little boy had recently been sterilized there and had died from the operation.

They decided on North Carolina, where the Gray family could play the perfect host. Through British imperial contacts, Boyden Gray's grandfather, Bowman Gray, had become principal owner of the R.J. Reynolds Tobacco Co. Boyden's father, Gordon Gray, had recently founded the Bowman Gray (memorial) Medical School in Winston-Salem, using his inherited cigarette stock shares. The medical school was already a eugenics center.

As the experiment began, Gordon Gray's great aunt, Alice Shelton Gray, who had raised him from childhood, was living in his household. Aunt Alice had founded the "Human Betterment League," the North Carolina branch of the national eugenical sterilization movement. Aunt Alice was the official supervisor of the 1946-47 experiment.

Working under Miss Gray was Dr. Claude Nash Herndon, whom Gordon Gray had made assistant professor of "medical genetics" at Bowman Gray Medical School. Dr. Clarence Gamble, heir to the Proctor and Gamble soap fortune, was the sterilizers' national field operations chief. The experiment worked as follows. All children enrolled in the school district of Winston-Salem, N.C., were given a special "intelligence test." Those children who scored below a certain arbitrary low mark were then cut open and surgically sterilized.

In Winston-Salem and in Orange County, North Carolina, the field committee had participated in testing projects to identify school age children who should be considered for sterilization. The project in Orange County was conducted by the University of North Carolina and was financed by a "Mr. Hanes," a friend of Clarence Gamble and supporter of the field work project in North Carolina. The Winston-Salem project was also financed by Hanes.

Hanes " was underwear mogul James Gordon Hanes, a trustee of Bowman Gray Medical School and treasurer of Alice Gray's group>.... The first step after giving the mental tests to grade school children was to interpret and make public the results. In Orange County the results indicated that three percent of the school age children were either insane or feeble-minded.... the field committee hired a social worker to review each case ... and to present any cases in which sterilization was indicated to the State Eugenics Board, which under North Carolina law had the authority to order sterilization....

Brain Surgery on African American Children

<http://www.zmag.org/ZMag/articles/may94sibert.htm>

It was common practice in the early 1970s for Dr. O.J. Andy, a neurosurgeon in Mississippi to perform thalamotomies (a type of brain surgery that destroys part of the thalamus, an organ that analyzes sensations and governs feelings) on African American children who were termed aggressive and hyperactive. Some of the operations were performed on children as young as six.

Biomedical Control and Violence Centers in the Inner City

During the wave of urban uprisings in the 1960s the National Institute of Mental Health and the Justice Department funded research that looked into ways biomedical controls (i.e., brain surgery, genetic theories of violence prediction and control, behavior modification, to name a few) could be used to curb violence in the inner city--the black community. Moreover, according to Breggin, "Three Harvard professors...made the startling proposal that psychosurgery (brain mutilation) could be used to control not only urban rioters but some black leaders who allegedly suffered from brain damage and dysfunction." Proposals were also discussed in Congress for a "series of violence centers throughout the United States."

Dr. Frederick Goodwin and "Cities as Jungles."

In February of 1992, Dr. Frederick Goodwin, then head of the U.S. Health and Human Services Department's Alcohol, Drug Abuse and Mental Health administration, speaking at a meeting of The National Mental Health Advisory, made a series of remarks that rankles black health professionals to this day.

According to Goodwin, youth violence was his "number one priority" and went on to say that his department would be looking into areas for controlling violence such as using drugs, biological markers through brain imaging, early detection and prevention, looking at genetic detection of violence and aggression through family studies, and so on. But the clincher came when he explained that the inner city had lost "some of the civilizing evolutionary things..." therefore... "It isn't just a careless use of the word when people call certain areas of certain cities jungles. ." And, like adding salt to a wound, Goodwin then talked about "hyperaggressive monkeys who kill each other are also hypersexual..."

Though Goodwin was later "demoted" to a position heading the National Mental Institute of Health, fears multiplied as here was the nation's leading psychiatrist talking about a violence prevention project that would be part of a larger $400 million federal research program. The program has been shelved due to the controversy, and Goodwin rarely makes public appearances (he was forced to cancel a Los Angeles speech this past November because of protests), but he is still head of the NIMH and many questions regarding the direction and implementation of the various research projects under the umbrella of the Violence Initiative go unanswered.

In a January 31 Nation column Alexander Cockburn cites even more grim experiments on black people that was made public due to a Church of Scientology F.O.I.A. request during the 1970s. Cockburn describes a 1960 Army Chemical Corps experiment where mosquitoes with yellow fever and dengue fever were dispersed in Savannah, Georgia and Avon Park, Florida. According to Cockburn, "Carver Village, which was exclusively black, was the target for these experiments. Residents at the time reported fevers, bronchitis, typhoid, encephalitis, stillbirths, also mysterious deaths."

From 1953 to 1958 Dr. Harris Isbell, of the National Institute of Mental Health Addiction Research Center, ran experiments giving black patients LSD. Cockburn quotes Dr. Isbell as writing: "The degree of rapport attained so far is not as great as we expect with white subjects. In all probability this type of behavior is to be expected with patients of this type. Perhaps the drug will break down some of the barriers."

In 1951 the U.S. Army secretly contaminated the Norfolk Naval Supply Center and one ship with infectious bacteria. Cockburn again: "One of the bacteria types was chosen because blacks were more susceptible to it than whites."

The reader may sympathize with what we have presented so far and actually agree with our point regarding the racist reality African Americans have faced with medical research, yet still feel that effective safeguards are now in place so that the aforementioned atrocities can no longer happen. Moreover, one might also feel that whereas the issue of informed consent was a highly questionable practice 50,40, or even 30 years ago, surely it is not an issue now. Unfortunately this is not the case.

Space does not allow us to discuss in detail the current abuses that are making news, but a brief outline will show that racist medical research and practices thrives as much--if not more--today as it did in the past:

Last January it was learned that the federal government has launched a civil rights investigation into a drug testing program at a hospital located at the Medical University of South Carolina at Charleston. According to reports in the New York Times, hundreds of pregnant black women were tested for drugs without their consent and then threatened with jail unless agreeing to sign up for a drug treatment program.

The program was designed to force drug-addicted women who are pregnant to stop taking drugs. In a few cases documented in a human experimentation complaint sent to the National Institute of Health by the Center for Reproductive Law and Policy in Manhattan, some of the women who refused treatment were arrested, handcuffed and/or leg-shackled to their hospital beds. The Times also said the complaint documents that the ".hospital failed to get approval for the program from the institute's Institutional Review Board, a requirement for the experiments.

The hospital receives Federal financing, and in return agrees to report all experiments, and obtain approval from the review board before undertaking them. Doctors in the programs took data, set up control groups and published their results in a medical journal without getting approval from the women or from the review board "

Last November brought news of a medical study that documented black women who have hysterectomies have a far greater risk of hospitalization and of dying than white women. The study was the result at looking at over 50,000 hysterectomies in hospitals in Maryland from 1986 to 1991. After accounting for age, hysterectomy technique, severity of other medical conditions and other factors, black women still had a 40 per cent greater risk of complications of infections and unexplained fever than white women.

In a January issue of the American Journal of Public Health a study documents that pregnant black women were 20 per cent more likely than pregnant white women to report not being told by their doctors to stop smoking and 30 per cent more likely not being told to quit drinking. The study was authored by Dr. Kotelchuck and looked at racial disparities in prenatal care. Since black babies die twice as much as white babies before their first birthday, the study documents an astounding lack of good prenatal counseling given to black women, especially since drinking and smoking during pregnancy is well known to contribute to low birth weight, a definite risk factor.

In 1988 more than 200 black women were given Dilantin, a drug used to treat epilepsy, without their consent or knowledge. The doctors who gave the drug were studying its effect in women who were having cesarean section deliveries. So far no ill effects have been discovered to the pregnant women or their babies.

In 1984 researchers published a study in the Journal of Public Health documenting the lack of informed consent for Sickle Cell tests performed in Maryland. Out of 52,000 persons screened for Sickle Cell Anemia in 1980, 13,000 were screened without their consent. Sickle Cell Anemia is a disease that primarily affects African-Americans.

The end of the Cold War is proving only the beginning for the new war at home for shedding light on questionable scientific practices that, as many are now only reluctantly admitting, are as bad as anything the Nazis scientists and doctors did. Yet the Cold War radiation experiments along with all the other known and unknown experiments are just one more part of the sad history of Africans and African Americans where the medical profession forgets it's basic tenet: Do no harm; the Scientific establishment conveniently forgets informed consent; and our government funds medical and scientific research that harms and murders innocent and unsuspecting civilians in the name of "National Security."

The Cincinnati Experiments

<http://www.zmag.org/ZMag/articles/may94sibert.htm>

Records revealed last January show that 61 African Americans were guinea pigs along with 12 others in a 12 year military study at the University of Cincinnati Medical Center designed to see how exposure to full- and partial- body radiation 10 times higher than normal would effect the body. After 60 days of exposure to the radiation (250 rads in one session), 25 of the patients died.

The tests were conducted from 1960 to 1972 by Eugene L. Saenger, an eminent radiological health specialist. Saenger knew something was wrong as he wrote a report to the Defense Department stating, "one can identify eight cases in which there is a possibility of the therapy contributing to mortality." Ironically, Saenger also serves as a key governmental witness on radiation lawsuit cases brought against the Department of Energy.

Dr. David S. Egilman has been researching the Cincinnati experiments for over ten years and did not mince words when he told us, "What they did was murder those black patients. And those researchers, Gottschalk and Saenger, as dirty as Mengele." Egilman testified on January 18 before the House of Representatives Energy and Power Subcommittee regarding the experiments and further contends that the tests were conducted with no informed consent and were not ethical at the time.

The Oakridge Experiment

<http://www.zmag.org/ZMag/articles/may94sibert.htm>

On March 24, 1945, a 55-year-old black truck driver, Ebb Cade, was admitted to the U.S. Army Manhattan Engineer District Hospital in Oakridge, Tennessee for treatment of bodily injuries resulting from a car accident. The extent of his injuries were so severe that he was not expected to live. On April 10, 1945, documents show that he was injected with a significant amount of plutonium. Cade was the first patient out of 18--all of which the DOE has still not completely identified--to be injected with plutonium. He received 0.29 microcuries of plutonium 239, a dose equal to 1,030 rems or 41.2 times what the average person receives in a lifetime.

Dr. Karl Morgan, a physicist from the University of Chicago, who came to Oakridge in 1943 to work on the Manhattan Project, described in a letter to The Oakridger newspaper how Dr. Robert S. Stone--the doctor who injected the plutonium--discussed Cade's unsuspecting involvement and eventual disappearance from the hospital a few days later. Morgan writes: "Dr. Stone was particularly concerned because, as he said, this man was part of an experiment to determine the risk to man from exposure to plutonium. This poor 'expected casualty' had suddenly gotten up out of his bed at the hospital and disappeared. I was upset and concerned when I heard about this human experiment because as described to me this black man was unconscious and not expected to live when he was injected with plutonium. I was disturbed for two reasons: One, the poor man could not possibly have given his consent to be a guinea pig and two, I was afraid he was selected for this experiment in part because he was black and it was unlikely any of his family would learn of the plutonium injection... Declassified MKULTRA documents

Project MKULTRA, or MK-ULTRA, was the code name for a CIA mind-control research program that began in 1950^{[1][2]}. There is much published evidence that the project involved the use of many types of drugs to manipulate peoples' mental states and to alter brain function.^[3]

The project's intentionally oblique CIA cryptonym is made up of the digraph MK, meaning that the project was sponsored by the agency's Technical Services Division, followed by the arbitrary dictionary word ULTRA.

Project MK-ULTRA was first brought to wide public attention by the U.S. Congress (in the form of the Church Committee) and a presidential commission (known as the Rockefeller Commission) and also to the U.S. Senate.

Although the CIA insists that MKULTRA-type experiments have been abandoned, 14-year CIA veteran Victor Marchetti has stated in various interviews that the CIA routinely conducts disinformation campaigns and that CIA mind control research continued. In a 1977 interview, Marchetti specifically called the CIA claim that MKULTRA was abandoned a 'cover story.'^{[4][5]}

On the Senate floor in 1977, Senator Ted Kennedy said:

The Deputy Director of the CIA revealed that over thirty universities and institutions were involved in an 'extensive testing and experimentation' program which included covert drug tests on unwitting citizens 'at all social levels, high and low, native Americans and foreign.' Several of these tests involved the administration of LSD to 'unwitting subjects in social situations.' At least one death, that of [Dr. \[Frank\] Olson](#), resulted from these activities. The Agency itself acknowledged that these tests made little scientific sense. The agents doing the monitoring were not qualified scientific observers.^[6]

Origins

There had been a number of earlier secret U.S. governmental projects to study mind-control, interrogation, behavior modification and related topics; these earlier projects included Project

CHATTER (established 1947), Project BLUEBIRD and Project ARTICHOKE (both established 1951)

Headed by Dr. Sidney Gottlieb, MKULTRA was started on the order of CIA director Allen Dulles on April 13, 1953^[7], largely in response to alleged Soviet, Chinese, and North Korean use of mind-control techniques on U.S. prisoners of war in Korea.^[8] The CIA wanted to use similar methods on their own captives. The CIA was also interested in being able to manipulate foreign leaders with such techniques,^[9] and would later invent several schemes to drug Fidel Castro.

Experiments were often conducted without the subjects' knowledge or consent.^[10]

Covert operation

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

From The U.S. Department of Defense Dictionary of Military and Associated Terms - Joint Publication JP1-02 dated 05 January 2007:

Covert Operation: An operation that is so planned and executed as to conceal the identity of or permit plausible denial by the sponsor. A covert operation differs from a clandestine operation in that emphasis is placed on concealment of identity of sponsor rather than on concealment of the operation.

This definition is accepted by all U.S. intelligence and military groups, including the Special Operations Command. It is accepted (and in fact borrowed from) U.K. terminology, and is also recognized by all NATO allies.

Basically, a covert operation is one in which the operation may become known to the enemy or the world, but the responsible parties cannot be traced, or at worst proven.

"Covert" is often confused both within and outside the military community with the word "stealthy". Stealth and secrecy are desired characteristics of most military planning and in the approach to targets. It provides the element of surprise and reduces resistance. But stealth is not covertness, and covertness is not stealth.

A covert operation is a military or political activity, often performed in secrecy, that would break specific laws or compromise policy in another country. Covert operations are frequently illegal in the target state and are sometimes in violation of the laws of the enacting country.

Covert operations are employed in situations where openly operating against a target would be politically or diplomatically risky, or be counterproductive to the mission's purpose. In the case of enemies, there may be issues regarding violation of neutrality, concerns over military strength, the presence of treaties, laws, moral principles, or aversion to negative media attention. Operations may be directed at or conducted with allies and friends to secure their support or to influence or assist their policy against an enemy. Covert operations may assist espionage efforts, or may diverge from such efforts by attempting to influence events in another country directly.

Covert operations have been employed by many national and sub-national governments and other organizations for centuries, with or without a formal intelligence agency. They are an established and often controversial component of foreign policy throughout the world. The equivalent Soviet terminology would be "active measures".

Law enforcement agencies also use covert operations to infiltrate suspected criminal organizations.

Psychological Strategy Board

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Psychological_Strategy_Board

The Psychological Strategy Board was a committee of the United States executive formed to coordinate and plan for psychological operations. It was formed on April 4, 1951, during the Truman administration. The board was composed of the Under Secretary of State, the Deputy Secretary of Defense, and the Director of Central Intelligence, or their designated representatives.^[1] The board's first director was Gordon Gray, later National Security Advisor during the Eisenhower administration.

Under Eisenhower, the board became a purely coordinating body. It was abolished September 3, 1953 by Executive Order, with its responsibilities being transferred to Operations Coordinating Board.

Psychological operations

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Psychological_operations

Psychological Operations (PSYOP, PSYOPS) are techniques used by military and police forces to influence a target audience's emotions, motives, objective reasoning, and behavior.

Target audiences can be governments, organizations, groups, and individuals, and are used in order to induce confessions, or reinforce attitudes and behaviors favorable to the originator's objectives. These are sometimes combined with black operations or false flag tactics.

This concept has been used by military institutions throughout history, but it is only since the twentieth century that it has been accorded the organizational and professional status it enjoys now.

Black Op

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Black_operation

"Black operation" which is a type of covert operation. In this context, "black" is a term used in political, military, intelligence, and business circles to refer to activities that are either secret, or of questionable ethics and/or legality.

- "Black operator" or "black operative", the person(s) who specialise in or carry out this type of operation.

Black Ops missions often fall into the deniability category, where no government will claim responsibility for the action, or where responsibility is shifted to another actor in the case of a "false flag" operation. This type of operation is normally used by various secret services to achieve some goals while trying to operate secretly (so the connection between "black operations" and secret agents or even the country of their origin cannot be found). The methods used in black operations are also used in unconventional warfare and includes actions like assassinations, espionage, sabotages, and supporting of resistance movements.

Patrice Émery Lumumba (2 July 1925 – 17 January 1961) was an African anti-colonial leader and the first legally elected Prime Minister of the Democratic Republic of the Congo after he helped to win its independence from Belgium in June 1960. Only ten weeks later, Lumumba's government was deposed in a US CIA-sponsored coup during the Congo Crisis. He was subsequently imprisoned and assassinated under controversial circumstances.

Interestingly the same report mentions that there had previously been U.S. and Belgian plots to kill Lumumba. Obviously either they failed or they were abandoned. Among them was a CIA-sponsored attempt to poison him, which may have come on orders from U.S.

president Dwight Eisenhower.^[5] CIA chemist Sidney Gottlieb was a key person in this by devising a poison resembling toothpaste.^[6]

^{[7][8][9]} However, the plan is said to have failed because the local CIA Station Chief, Larry Devlin, had a conscience issue and did not go forward.^{[7][8][10]}

The Belgian Commission's 2001 report led to an official apology. In February of 2002, the Belgian government apologized to the Congolese people, and admitted to a "moral responsibility" and "an irrefutable portion of responsibility in the events that led to the death of Lumumba." In July of the same year documents released by the United States government revealed that while the CIA had been kept informed of Belgium's plans, it had no direct role in Lumumba's eventual death.^[7]

However, this same disclosure showed that US perception at the time was that Lumumba was a

Communist.^[11] Eisenhower's reported call, at a meeting of his national security

advisers, for Lumumba's elimination must have been brought on by this perception. Both Belgium and the United States were clearly influenced in their unfavourable stance towards Lumumba by the Cold War. He seemed to gravitate around the Soviet Union. Arguably that was because that was the only place he could find support in his country's effort to rid itself of colonial rule, and not because he was a communist^[12] (ironically, the United States was the first country Lumumba requested help from^[13]). Lumumba, for his part, not only denied being a Communist, but said he found colonialism and Communism to be equally deplorable, and professed his personal preference for neutrality between the East and West.^[14]

Sidney Gottlieb (August 3, 1918 – March 7, 1999) was an American military psychiatrist and chemist probably best-known for his involvement with the Central Intelligence Agency's mind control program MKULTRA.

Sidney was born in the Bronx under the name Joseph Schneider . He received a Ph.D. in chemistry from the California Institute of Technology. A stutterer from childhood, Gottlieb got a master's degree in speech therapy. He also had a club foot, but this did not stop him from practicing folk dancing, a lifelong passion.

In 1951, Sidney Gottlieb joined the Central Intelligence Agency. As a poison expert, he headed the chemical division of the Technical Services Staff (TSS). Sidney became known as the "Black Sorcerer" and the "Dirty Trickster". He supervised preparations of lethal poisons and experiments in mind control.

In April 1953 Sidney Gottlieb headed the secret Project MKULTRA which was activated on the order of CIA director Allen Dulles. Gottlieb was known for administration of

LSD and other psycho-active drugs to unwitting subjects and for financing psychiatric research and development of "techniques that would crush the human psyche to the point that it would admit anything." He sponsored physicians such as Ewen Cameron and Harris Isbell in controversial psychiatric research that used unwitting humans as guinea pigs. Many people suffered serious adverse affects consequent of research financed by Gottlieb and the Rockefeller Foundation.

Dr. Sidney Gottlieb approved of an MKULTRA subproject on LSD in this June 9, 1953 letter.

In March 1960, under The Cuban Project, a CIA plan approved by President Eisenhower and under the direction of CIA Directorate for Plans, Richard Bissell, Gottlieb came up with ideas to spray Fidel Castro's television studio with LSD and to saturate Castro's shoes with thallium so that the hair of his beard would fall out. Gottlieb also hatched schemes to assassinate Castro, including the use of a poisoned cigar, a poisoned wetsuit, an exploding conch shell, and a poisonous fountain pen.

He also tried to have Iraq's General Abdul Karim Qassim's handkerchief contaminated with botulinum. Less known was an operation within the CIA's Phoenix Program in Vietnam where a team of CIA psychologists performed mind control experiments on NLF suspects being detained at Bien Hoa Prison outside of Saigon.

Gottlieb is said to have played a role in funding investigation into paranormal phenomena, including remote viewing.

Larry Devlin is a retired Central Intelligence Agency (CIA) field officer. Stationed for many years in Africa, he was Station Chief in the Democratic Republic of the Congo when Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba was assassinated on 17 January 1961.

Devlin was raised in California and joined the U.S. Army during World War II, rising to the rank of captain.

He entered service with the CIA in 1949, having been recruited out of college by McGeorge Bundy.

Devlin became Chief of Station in Congo in July 1960, a mere 10 days after the country's independence from Belgium and shortly before Prime Minister Patrice Lumumba's two month term in office, dismissal from power and ultimate execution. In his memoir, Devlin reveals that late in 1960, he received instructions from an agent ("Joe from Paris") who was relaying instructions from CIA headquarters that he (Devlin) was to effect the assassination of Lumumba. Various poisons, including one secreted in a tube of toothpaste, were proffered. The directive had come from the CIA Deputy Chief of Plans Dick Bissell, but Devlin wanted to know if it had originated at a higher level and if so, how high. "Joe" had been given to understand that it had come from President Eisenhower, but Devlin to this day does not know for sure. Devlin writes (and has recently said in public speaking engagements) that he felt an assassination would have been "morally wrong" and likely to backfire and work against U.S. interests. In the event, he temporized, neglecting to act, and Lumumba was ultimately murdered by his enemies in Katanga, with Belgian government participation. U.S. intelligence was kept apprised.

He currently divides his time between Virginia and Provence, France.

- Devlin's book Chief of Station, Congo: A Memoir of 1960 to 1967 is his account of his firsthand experiences and observations in the Congo during the Cold War. It was published by Perseus Books Group in March 2007.
- Seth Greenland's satirical 1997 play Jungle Rot appears to be loosely based on Devlin's tenure in the Congo.

Lumumba appealed to local UN troops to save him. The UN refused on orders from headquarters in New York, reasoning that he had escaped from UN protection. He was flown first to Leopoldville, where he appeared beaten and humiliated before journalists and diplomats.

Further humiliation followed at Mobutu's villa, where soldiers beat the elected prime minister in full view of television cameras. Lumumba was dispatched first to Thysville military barracks, one hundred miles from Leopoldville.

After the military personnel of Thysville mutinied, a more secure place was sought. It is established that Belgium wanted Lumumba taken to Katanga, which was under the rule of an enemy of Lumumba, Moise Tshombe. The Belgian Commission investigating the assassination of Lumumba reached the conclusions that (1) Belgium wanted Lumumba arrested, (2) Belgium was not particularly concerned with Lumumba's physical well being, and (3) although informed of the danger to Lumumba's life Belgium did not take any action to avert his death.

Plausible deniability

(Redirected from Deniability)

Jump to: navigation, search

Plausible deniability is the term given to the creation of loose and informal chains of command in governments and other large organizations. In the case that assassinations, false flag or black ops or any other illegal or otherwise disreputable and unpopular activities become public, high-ranking officials may deny any connection to or awareness of such act, or the agents used to carry out such act.

In politics and espionage, deniability refers to the ability of a "powerful player" or actor to avoid "blowback" by secretly arranging for an action to be taken on their behalf by a third party—ostensibly unconnected with the major player.

More generally, "plausible deniability" can also apply to any act which leaves little or no evidence of wrongdoing or abuse.

Examples of this are the use of electricity or pain-compliance holds as a means of torture or punishment, leaving little or no tangible signs that the abuse ever took place.

Alfred Kissinger - Pimp Diplomacy

Henry Kissinger is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. In 1952 Kissinger became a consultant to the director of the Psychological Strategy board, Gordon Gray. In 1955 Kissinger became a consultant to the Operations Coordinating Board - a renamed Psychological Strategy board. From 55-60 Kissinger worked on the Weapons System Evaluation group. From 61-68 Kissinger was with the US Arms Control and Disarmament Society.

From 65-69 Kissinger was Assistant to the President for National Security affairs. From 73-77 Kissinger was Secretary of State. Henry Kissinger is the paid political advisor to the Rockefeller family. During the Viet Nam War Kissinger's diplomacy included taking South Vietnamese intransigent Hoang Duc Nha aside, pulling out a little black book with the names and addresses of some American movie starlets and offering to introduce Nha to some of the choicest ones.

Should a man with the lack of character exhibited by Kissinger be advising Presidents and helping to shape world affairs? Has Kissinger been instrumental in developing and applying psychological strategy and warfare techniques that have been used to manipulate the average American Citizen?

4 The Psychological Strategy Board is Born

On 20 June 1951 Harry S. Truman signed a directive establishing the Psychological Strategy Board. The directive read, "Directive to: the Secretary of State, The Secretary of Defense, The Director of Central Intelligence: It is the purpose of this directive to authorize and provide for the more effective planning, coordination and conduct, within the framework of approved national policies, of psychological operations. There is hereby established a Psychological Strategy Board responsible, within the purposes and terms of this directive, for the formulation and promulgation, as guidance to the departments and agencies responsible for psychological operations, of over-all national psychological objectives, policies and programs, and for the coordination and evaluation of the national psychological effort.

The Board will report to the National Security Council on the Board's activities and on its evaluation of the national psychological operations, including implementation of approved objectives, policies, and programs by the departments and agencies concerned. The Board shall be composed of: a. The Undersecretary of State, the Deputy Secretary of Defense, and the Director of Central Intelligence, or, in their absence, their appropriate designees; b. An appropriate representative of the head of each such other department or agency of the Government as may, from time to time, be determined by the Board. The Board shall designate one of its members as Chairman. A representative of the Joint Chiefs of Staff shall sit with the Board as its principal military adviser in order that the Board may ensure that its objectives, policies and programs shall be related to approved plans for military operations..."

5 Gordon Gray Media Expert & Spy

The director and architect of the Psychological Strategy Board was a man named Gordon Gray. Gordon Gray's consultant was Henry Kissinger. Henry Kissinger was also the paid political consultant to Rockefeller family. Gordon Gray was member of the Council on Foreign Relations. Gordon Gray served in the administrations of Truman, Eisenhower, Kennedy, Johnson, Nixon, and Ford. Gordon Gray was heir to the R. J. Reynolds tobacco fortune.

Gray sat on many advisory boards. In 1954 one of these boards recommended that Dr. Robert Oppenheimer, the nuclear scientist be denied reinstatement as a government consultant on atomic energy. Oppenheimer was instrumental in building the first nuclear bomb. Oppenheimer was an opponent of nuclear generating plants and dared to point out their deadly but invisible production of nuclear pollution. The boards action in revoking Oppenheimer's clearance damaged his credibility as a nuclear expert and helped to rob the American citizen of an alternative view of the dangers of nuclear proliferation. Instead the Eisenhower administration sought its advice from Dr. Edward Teller, a hawkish champion of Nuclear power.

Gray was a broadcast and publication media specialist. Gray was instrumental in keeping the uniformed electorate uninformed by design.

6 The Psychological Strategy Board? What Psychological Strategy Board?

In 1951 Truman told the press the Psychological Strategy board was a permanent board and part of the Central Intelligence Agency. In 1953 Eisenhower commissioned the Jackson committee. Its mission was to study psychological warfare and propaganda. Gordon Gray was a member of this committee. The Jackson Committee worked with the Hickenlooper Committee, who ran the Overseas Information Programs. Hickenlooper staff were drawn from the Dept. of State, Dept. of Defense, the CIA, the Mutual Security Agency and the Office of Defense.

The Jackson committee issued a Top Secret report. It accused the Soviet union of trying to isolate the United States "as its first step toward its domination" of the world. It accused the soviets of using political warfare methods and propaganda to do this.

The report then did to the Russians what it accused the Russians of doing to the United States; isolated them by suggesting them to be a danger to the rest of the western allies; advocated a build up of weapons by the allies to intimidate them; and, advocated the use of propaganda, psychological warfare, and a need for secrecy.

When an uneasy press questioned the US government "the official spokesman explained that this was part of the cold war strategy and had to be classified." What the Gray boards were doing was to put into motion a plan to create a massive cold war. The plan silenced men like Robert Oppenheimer, who advocated peace; identified and isolated a new enemy - the Russians; and gave the Russians time to develop a nuclear capability by encouraging world wide nuclear proliferation.

7 The Operations Coordinating Board AKA The Psychological Strategy Board

Three Jackson committee recommendations were; the establishment of an Operations Coordinating Board; the abolition of the Psychological Strategy Board; and an information program to influence people throughout the world.

On September 3, 1953 Presidential Executive Order 10483 established the Operations Coordinating Board and abolished the Psychological Strategy Board. The Executive order stated, ..."the Operations Coordinating Board shall (1) Whenever the President shall hereafter so direct, advise the agencies concerned as to ... the execution of each security action or project so that it shall make its full contribution to the attainment of national security objective views and to the particular climate of opinion the United States is seeking to achieve in the world, and (2) initiate new proposals for action within the framework of national security policies in response to opportunity and changes in the situation..."

The Operations Coordinating Board was a re-named Psychological Strategy Board. Both boards had the same members, the same mission, and would use psychological strategy, propaganda, and mass media to manipulate huge groups of individuals. The American public was one of the groups. Gordon Gray architected both boards, sat on both boards, sat on the Jackson committee, and was a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. Henry Kissinger was Gordon Gray's consultant. People would be made to accept the beliefs of a small group of men driven by greed and personal gain; men who controlled the banks, industry, the media and the military; men who could profit from war more easily then they could profit from peace.

8 The Jackson Committee's Views On US Information Activities

A psychological strategy used repeatedly by the Operation Coordination Board - was to lie. The Jackson Report tells us, "... The International Information Administration should be authorized to release domestically ... information concerning its programs...In the Committee's view, the American people do not yet grasp the import of the President's recent words that we live in an age, not an instant, of peril. A greater effort is needed to inform our citizens of the dangers that confront them...This should include information concerning the growth of the Soviet atomic capability, as well as data on the steady development of the Soviet economy....The Committee recommends... security regulations not be allowed to restrict the flow of information to the public except in those cases where the need for security is clearly demonstrable... "The same year, Gordon Gray and members of the agencies issuing this report would revoke J. Robert Oppenheimer's security clearance, effectively silencing him.

In Carole Gallagher's recent book American Ground Zero, we learn, forty years latter, about information withheld from the American people regarding above ground nuclear tests during the 1950s. Soldiers were sent into "hot" areas shortly after detonation to retrieve equipment. Civilians came to watch the blasts and the strange, pink ash that killed sheep by the thousand. Since then local residents have had abnormally high incidents of cancer, reproductive problems, and birth defects. In one of the most shameful episodes of the Cold War - many men recall seeing cages near ground zero that held chained animals and humans.

Were the Gray Boards intent on promoting worldwide nuclear proliferation and blaming it on the Russians?

9 Changing America's Trinity of Inalienable Rights

The Jackson report states "The United States has important advantages in the world conflict which should receive greater attention in its information programs. As a people, we share fundamental beliefs and values with millions of other men and women we are attempting to win to our side. These include belief in God, belief in individual and national freedom, belief in the right to ownership of property and a decent standard of living, belief in the common humanity of all men and in the vision of a peaceful world with nations comprising their differences and cooperating in the United Nations." The words reveal an unsettling change in the Trinity of inalienable rights, a substitution of ownership of property for the pursuit of happiness .

The Declaration of Independence was designed to influence public opinion, at home and abroad. Jefferson's language and the structure of his argument most closely parallel the natural-rights theories of John Locke. Locke argued all "just" governments are founded on consent and are designed solely to protect people in their inherent rights to life, liberty, and property.

In one key respect Jefferson used Natural Law instead of Natural-rights Theory, substituting "the pursuit of happiness" for "property" in the Trinity of inalienable rights. This change emphasized public duty rather than personal choice, for, Natural Law theory is that happiness is attainable only by diligent cultivation of civic virtue. Did a group of aggressive ruthless men seize power and orchestrate a propaganda campaign to change the belief's of a nation and turn a social philosophy based on public good into a dollar philosophy based on greed?

10 The Policy Makers Take Control of The American Government

The Gray "boards" had a plan for globalization resulting in one world order. The Jackson report tells us the U.S. would, "... give powerful assistance in the creation of a peaceful world order. Of fundamental importance, however, the program should speak in terms of the deeper spiritual values uniting this nation with the rest of the world."

Information would be delivered through a propaganda program aimed at foreign countries by specialized country teams: "...effective technical control of the information program is needed at the country level. This can best be accomplished by the chief of mission, with the aid and advice of a "country team"...conducting information programs...Information guidance emanating from Washington should normally be confined to global or regional themes...

The Government information service certainly must not aid in the distribution of subversive books or Communist propaganda. On the other hand, pursuant to the direction of Congress "to promote a better understanding of the United States in other countries," it should not hesitate to distribute books and publications just because they contain criticism of American life, institutions, and officials. In fact, if it does not reflect this criticism, it is not presenting a true picture of America."

If the Jackson Committee, and the Hickenlooper committee, and "Gray" Boards, were sincere about this recommendation why did the same men discredit and silence American citizens like Robert Oppenheimer, who advocated peace and were against nuclear proliferation? If viewpoints that were contrary to peace and detrimental to nuclear proliferation were being silenced in America, would this group allow these views to be aired in foreign countries?

11 Coordinated Nuclear Proliferation

In 1946 the atomic energy program was transferred from the Army to the Atomic Energy Commission (AEC). A joint committee of nine members from each house of Congress was formed to oversee the AEC. One member was Senator Bourke Hickenlooper. For three years tension between the Republican-controlled Congress and the Truman appointed commissioners limited the committees ability to supervise the AEC.

In 1949 this changed when the Soviet Union tested its first atomic bomb and the fear of communism came to dominate the general political environment. Hickenlooper investigated uncovering AEC mistakes. The AEC lost four grams of U-235 to thieves and sent isotopes to Norway despite a law prohibiting export of radioactive material. The scientists who advised the AEC were discredited. The AEC's guidance shifted from the scientists to Congress. The AEC's orientation became less military and more civilian. The

Was the above scenario part of a Nuclear proliferation plan coordinated by men who ran the NSC, CIA, and Operations Coordinating Board? Men who were members of the Council on Foreign Relations. Was the plan; to have the Government build bombs and the industrialists control Nuclear electrical power generation; to maintain the most powerful military establishment in peace time history; and to establish a new world order controlled by Council on Foreign Relations members.

12 Happy Birthday - The National Security Act 10 Years Old

On September 23, 1957, on the Tenth Anniversary of the National Security Act, Eisenhower told the press:

...The National Security Act provided .. a comprehensive program for the security of the United States through unified direction of our military services and through coordination at the national level of national security policies, foreign intelligence, and defense mobilization

...A basic purpose of the National Security Act was to provide "authoritative coordination and unified direction under civilian control of the Secretary of Defense" of the military departments. Under this Constitutional concept of a single civilian head, the United States is effectively maintaining the most powerful military establishment in our peacetime history...

The National Security Act also created the National Security Council ... a mechanism to advise the President ... in the integration of domestic, foreign, and military factors in national security policies. The Council's subordinate units, such as the Planning Board, the Operations Coordinating Board ... enable responsible Executive departments and agencies to cooperate effectively in developing and executing national security policies....The Act further provided that the Director of Central Intelligence ... should bring to the attention of the President and Council intelligence information concerning developments abroad affecting our national security.

13 The Psychological Warfare Board Redux?

On 2 April 1958 a St. Louis Post-Dispatch reporter caught President Eisenhower by surprise when he asked, "Mr. President, has any thought been given to the re-establishment of the psychological warfare board which would give you more flexibility than the National Security Council?" Five years after an uneasy public and press questioned their leaders about the psychological warfare board a member of the press called for its re-establishment.

On 19 February 1961, President John F. Kennedy issued a Statement abolishing the Operations Coordinating Board. "I am today ... abolishing the Operations Coordinating Board ... we will center responsibility for much of the Board's work in the Secretary of State. He expects to rely particularly on the Assistant Secretaries in charge of regional bureaus, and they in turn will consult closely with other departments and agencies. This will be our ordinary rule of continuing coordination of our work in relation to a country or area." Up to 1961 every Secretary of State except Cordell Hull, and James Byrnes, were members of the Council on Foreign Relations.

The undersecretaries, almost to a man, were also Council on Foreign Relations members."... I expect the senior... members of the Operations Coordinating Board will still keep in ... touch with each other Mr. Bromley Smith, ... the Executive Officer of the Operations Coordinating Board, will ... work with my Special Assistant, Mr. McGeorge Bundy [Bundy was a member of the Council on Foreign Relations],...on White House decisions in the area of national security. In these varied ways we intend that the net result shall be a strengthening of the process by which our policies are effectively coordinated and carried out, throughout the Executive Branch."
